WANTED—ONE DONKEY.

The Music Festival Association, and the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be supremely grateful to anyone in Atlanta who can furnish, or tell them where they can find, one donkey. As everybody knows, a small donkey is absolutely essential for "I Pagliacci." It draws the troupers' wagon on stage.

And, up to a late hour Friday night, a suitable donkey had not been found in Atlanta. The property man is threatening to use a Shetland pony and stick a couple of false ears on the animal, to meet the emergency, but that wouldn't be the real thing at all. So, for the sake of art, if you happen to know a small donkey, phone the Music Festival Association at Walnut 1041 and save the situation!

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Atlanta forgot everything save her ability to utterly enjoy one of the grand old favorites on Friday night, and fairly reveled in the lovely melodies, dramatic thrills and flamboyant orchestration of "Il Trovatore." It was a great occasion, one of those nights that make opera history. The auditorium was filled even nearer capacity than on Thursday night and the audience, responsive to the uttermost degree, figuratively stood up and cheered the singers, the orchestra, the chorus and the entire production.

Every member of the great cast, from greatest star and world-famous conductor to humblest member of the ensemble, caught the infectious spirit and gave a performance that always will rank among the finest Atlanta has ever enjoyed in her 20 years of operatic enjoyment.

Season Closes Today.

Today brings Atlanta's 1930 opera season to a close, with two performances, three famous operas, and three of the greatest possible casts to assure the desired blaze of glory for the wind-up. "La Boheme," the perennially lovely Puccini masterpiece, with Bori and Gigli leading a tremendous cast, will be given at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"Cavalleria Rusticana," with the new American soprano, Leonora Corona, singing Santuzza, will be the first offering of a Saturday night double bill. "I Pagliacci" will wind up

Bold Robbery Staged On Whitehall Street

A daylight robbery was staged shortly after 1 o'clock Friday afternoon when a middle-aged unmasked white bandit entered the Atlanta Supply Company at 383 Whitehall street and after binding S. C. Greinoman, manager, took $10 in cash from his person and a diamond ring valued at $50.

According to a police report by Call Officers W. A. Goode and Claude Carroll who investigated, the bandit forced Greinoman to the rear of the store at the point of a pistol where he bound his hands and feet, and after robbing him, effected his escape.

:: ACTION STARTED TO CONFISCATE FARMS IN ILLINOIS ::

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP)—Legal proceedings for the forfeiture of two Illinois farms on the ground that their owners permitted violations of the federal prohibition act on the premises were begun today in federal court at Peoria, Ill., it was announced by District Prohibition Administrator E. J. Yellowley.

Yellowley said his agents last Wednesday seized a $40,000 still on the Englehaupt 520-acre farm and in another raid yesterday confiscated a distilling plant worth between $20,000 and $25,000 in operation on Flaherty's farm.

Flaherty's farm is a 208-acre tract.

The forfeiture proceedings were in charge of United States District Attorney Walter M. Provine at Peoria.

DEKALB COUNTY SHOWS BIG GAIN

Population of 70,000, in Preliminary Reports Is Increase of 50 Per Cent.

Pyramiding the gains recorded in its phenomenal increase in population, the Atlanta area Friday added to its roster an increase of more than 25,000 in DeKalb county.

Preliminary reports complete except for four census districts indicate that DeKalb county this year will show a population of 70,000, a figure more than 50 per cent greater than the population of 44,051 given in 1920.

With the four districts excepted, the county's population, as shown by preliminary reports already turned in at the office of Dr. Elizabeth Broach, local census director, stands at 65,793.

The four unreported districts—Phillips, with 527 in 1920, Pantersville, with 1,708; McWilliams, with 644, and a new district off of Briarcliff road, with 808—had a 1920 population of 3,687. Unless the four districts have shown a loss, an event thought to be highly unlikely, the DeKalb county population will be in excess of 69,480.

Although official figures were lacking, it was estimated Friday that increases in the population of Atlanta which have carried the total to above 353,000, would place the city in the ranks of the 25 largest cities of the country. No official returns on the other large cities are available yet, but the opinion was expressed that it would rank with New Orleans, Kansas City, Seattle, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Jersey City, Columbus, Ohio, and Oakland, Cal.

Remarkable growth was shown in the preliminary reports of DeKalb county. The borough of Decatur more than doubled in size in the past 10 years, increasing from 6,150 in 1920 to 13,616 at the present count.

That part of the borough of Atlanta lying within DeKalb county shows a substantial, though not so large a proportionate increase. In 1920 its population was given at 11,975, and this year at 22,668.

All figures given with reference to the DeKalb population, Dr. Elizabeth Broach, census director, pointed out, are subject to upward revision in the final count.

Atlanta (in DeKalb county)	22,688
Shallowford	627
Avondale Estates	531
Decatur borough	13,616
Balance of Decatur district	8,676

Woman Takes Her Life On Eve of Wedding

NEW YORK, May 2.—(UN)—Rose Scrocco, 15, took poison and died today, on the eve of her wedding. She had been melancholy for a fortnight, and carried a white pill about with her.

"Dare me to take it," she challenged Frank Cerasini, her fiance, this afternoon. Cerasini jumped to take it away from her, but she swallowed it. He tried to jump from a fifth floor window when a doctor pronounced the girl dead.

Will Go to Supreme Court If Congress Authorizes Appropriation for Boulder Dam.

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 2.—(AP)—Arizona served formal notice today that a suit challenging the construction of Boulder Dam will be filed with the supreme court of the United States if congress grants President Hoover's request for a $10,660,000 appropriation to start work on the great reclamation and power project.

The state's intentions were contained in a statement issued by Charles B. Ward, chairman of the Arizona-Colorado river commission, and State Attorney General K. Berry Peterson.

Hope was expressed that congress would not approve the requested appropriation. The statement said every effort would be made through the Arizona delegation in Washington to defeat it.

A suit has been under preparation by the attorney general's office for several months in anticipation that the government might attempt to go ahead with building of the dam despite the fact that Arizona feels her water and power rights have not been settled fairly.

The general contention is that the Swing-Johnson bill by which legislation for the dam was obtained, is unconstitutional.

HOOVER REQUESTS DAM APPROPRIATION.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—The initial outlay for construction work on the $165,000,000 Boulder Canyon dam undertaking on the Colorado river was requested of congress today in a supplemental estimate of $10,660,000 submitted by President Hoover.

In order that work may begin on the project probably in the early fall, the house appropriations committee prepared to include the item in the second deficiency bill to be formulated late this month.

Secretary Wilbur has advised President Hoover that he has negotiated contracts for the disposal of power and water which he believes will provide revenue adequate to reimburse the government within 50 years for its investment as required by the act authorizing the construction.

Commissioner Elwood Mead, of the reclamation bureau, who will be in charge of the construction, expects preliminary work to begin on the dam, power plant and the All-American canal under the project, within a few weeks after the appropriation is provided.

The action of the president today is another important step in the 10-year contest in congress over Boulder dam. Representative Swing, republican, California, co-author of the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon dam act, said he would resist any attemnt to eliminate the item from the deficiency bill. On the other hand, Representative Douglas, democrat, Arizona, a bitter opponent in the contest, said he would do everything he could to strike it from the measure.

HOUSE ACCEPTS LOW SUGAR RATE

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—The long controversy over a higher sugar tariff was terminated today as the house, on a rate-slashing rampage, climaxed an eight-hour session by voting to accept the lower senate levy of 2 cents a pound on Cuban raws. The present rates is 1.76 cents.

The 2-cent duty was approved by a roll call vote of 229 to 160 after it had been rejected on a division by 204 to 196. The record vote definitely fixed 2 cents as the duty to be carried in the measure to be sent to President Hoover for approval.

The house measure originally provided a rate of 2.40 cents, and had the senate levy been rejected, the high sugar tariff advocates were prepared to offer 2.20 as a compromise. This never came to a vote.

Ninety republicans, mostly from the east, joined 138 democrats and the one farmer-labor member, Kvale, of Minnesota, for the senate rate. Fourteen democrats, chiefly from Louisiana, Florida and Colorado, combined with 146 republicans against the lower duty.

Given an opportunity to vote on individual rates for the first time, the house also rejected the senate silver duty and eliminated virtually all duties carried in either bill on logs, lumber and shingles.

This completed action on all rates unsettled by the senate and house conferees and reserved for separate votes in the house. Tomorrow the house will remain in session to complete action on the measure by voting on the senate's export debenture provision and the modified flexible tariff clause which restores to congress the power now vested in the president to make emergency rate changes after investigation by the tariff commission.

TOLL OF TORNADO INCREASES TO 23 IN NINE STATES

Property Damage Runs Into Seven Figures as Buildings and Crops Are Destroyed.

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP)—Scenes of desolation today marked the paths of tornadoes and storms which curved over nine states of the middle west Thursday, leaving 23 persons dead and scores injured and homeless.

The whirring black funnel of the tornado dipped to four widely separated places—Tekamah, Neb.; Westby, Wis.; Norborne, Mo., and Russell, Iowa—and cyclonic winds dealt death elsewhere in the affected area.

Property damage, it was estimated, ran into seven figures.

Tekamah, Neb., had 4 dead; Norborne, Mo., 5; Russell, Iowa, 1; Westby, Wis., 1; Lake City, Minn., 3; Duluth, Minn., 2; Kickapoo, Kan., 2; Lawton, N. D., 1; Rockford, Ill., 1; Galesburg, Ill., 1; Chicago 1, and Antioch, Ill., 1.

Nine of the dead were women.

Livestock was lost, crops were damaged and few villages in the area escaped. Nebraska, Minnesota, northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri were hardest hit by the erratic storms, but high winds, driving rain and lightning, distributed destruction also over Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and the Dakotas.

The Tekamah tornado cut a wide path through the city to kill four and leave the streets choked with debris. Darkness followed with the failure of the electric light plant. Physicians and rescue workers toiled by candle light and flashlights. Jackson and Homer, Neb., also were struck by the tornado.

The death at Lawton, N. D., was that of a farmer struck by lightning. A cloudburst, sending a wall of water down a ravine in which an auto was stalled, caused the drowning of two women and a child at Lake City, Minn. At Duluth an auto carrying two women skidded in the storm and they were killed.

A boy ran before the tornado at Westby, Wis., was overtaken by it and buried as it leveled a nearby building. The wind blew down a tree at Rockford, Ill., and crushed a man in a parked auto. At Kickapoo, Kan., a farmer and his wife were carried a mile from their home by the tornado. Their bodies were found buried in soft earth. A woman was killed in the Russell, Iowa, tornado.

All four tornadoes left injured in their paths. At Russell all the members of a family of seven were injured severely.

Two of the Illinois deaths were considered aftermaths of the storm. Michael Keaty, an electrician, fell 40 feet to his death while repairing a power wire in Cicero, a suburb of Chicago. Charles W. Barnett, 34, a truck driver of Des Moines, Iowa, drove into a blown-down power wire near Galesburg and was electrocuted. Richard Shannon, 20, was crushed beneath his lake cottage near Antioch, Ill. He died shortly after he was taken to a hospital.

RED CROSS SPEEDS WORK.

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—(AP)—The American Red Cross, through its mid-western area headquarters here, moved today to speed relief work in communities hit by yesterday's tornadoes in nine middle western states.

Three disaster-relief workers were dispatched into the field last night to direct relief work and early reports from them today indicate, officials said, that local Red Cross chapters will be able to cope with situations in the individual communities.

Suit Seeks Ban On Bible in School

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—A suit to restrain the city board of education from permitting the reading of the Bible and the singing of hymns in the public schools was filed today in supreme court by Joseph Lewis, as a taxpayer. Among his counsel are Arthur Garfield Hays and Clarence Darrow.

The complaint alleges that a section of the city charter which permits the Bible to be read violates the state constitution.

Lewis said the Bible used in the schools is the King James version, which he said is distinctly protestant, as are the hymn books used, and therefore repugnant to children of other denominations and to those without religious affiliations.

$10,000 IS ASKED FOR POLICE RADIO

Citizens Will Be Urged To Add Sum to Council Fund.

Probability that Atlanta will join other progressive cities of the nation in a scientific fight against increased crime loomed Friday following sanction of a $10,000 fund by the finance committee of council with which to purhase additional police cars on which to mount radio receiving sets.

Immediately after that action Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the police committee, announced the police committee would appeal to citizens of Atlanta to augment the council fund by $10,000 with which to establish a police radio system here.

The plan is to purchase new automobiles, and to mount radio receiving sets in them. The receivers would be tuned in with the master broadcasting station operated by the police department and devoted entirely to the work of apprehending lawbreakers.

Chief of Police Beavers; O. H. Pendley, secretary of the police department, who made a special survey of the radio system now in use in Detroit; Alderman Murphy, Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, Councilman Frank H. Reynolds, Councilman James T. Ozburn; Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee of council, who also inspected the Detroit system; Charles Hohenstein, secretary of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association, and others urged the finance committee to take the necessary steps to provide the equipment for Atlanta.

The finance committee was unable, it held, to provide $20,000, but agreed to set up $10,000 for new police cars, and the police committee announced immediately afterwards that interest-

French Aviatrix Breaks Record For Solo Flight

Girl Pilot Stays Aloft Over 35 Hours To Beat All Marks.

LE BOURGET, May 2.—(AP)—A French girl flyer, Mlle. Lena Bernstein, today hung up a new endurance flight mark for women. She remained in the air 35 hours 46 minutes 55 seconds.

She beat by almost 10 hours the women's record recognized here—that of Mlle. Maryse Bastie, who flew for 26 hours 46 minutes 30 seconds last July.

By almost the same margin she exceeded the American women's endurance record achieved a year ago by Miss Elinor Smith at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., a mark of 26 hours 21 minutes 32 seconds.

Mlle. Bernstein took off at 7:18 o'clock yesterday morning and landed here at a fraction after 7:04 p. m tonight. She is an experienced flier and last July made a non-stop flight from Marseilles to Sidi Barrani, in Egypt.

The aviatrix landed only after her fuel was entirely gone. She was tired but radiant as she accepted the congratulations of representatives of the Aero Club of France, and later was delighted by the action of officers of the Thirty-fourth aviation regiment, who staged an impromtu reception at the Le Bourget buffet to drink her health.

It was announced that her flight constituted a world record for airplanes of all categories having only one pilot, male or female.

CRISP SUGGESTED FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Strong Overtures Said To Have Been Made by Friends.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—With the list of Georgia gubernatorial candidates, either announced or prospective, already assuming large proportions, the name of Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Americus, today was brought forward in a manner to suggest the possibility of his entering the race.

It was learned on unquestioned authority by The Constitution Washington bureau that strong overtures are being made on the Georgia congressman to permit the use of his name in the forthcoming state democratic primaries. On more than one occasion emissaries from the state, it can be said, have discussed the subject with him, and although Mr. Crisp has declined to give proper encouragement to the enterprise, it is known that efforts have continued on the part of his backers to persuade him to run.

Whether he can be prevailed upon to make the race is doubtful, as it has been from the start, but it can be said authoritatively that pressure will continue to be brought on him until the closing date of entries for the primaries arrives.

The fact that Representative Crisp recently announced his candidacy for re-election from the third district, which he has served for some 15 years, does not necessarily preclude the possibility of his entering the gubernatorial campaign although it is signifi-

MENTALLY MOIST, POLITICALLY DRY, DECLARES LETTER

STAYTON STICKS TO HIS GUNS

Refuses To Divulge Name of Candidate for Whom Wet Party Was Staged, But Retracts Nothing.

BY HERBERT LITTLE,
United News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Political fire and brimstone was hurled over the republican party today in the senate lobby committee.

One of the most vehement denunciations of a president that ever found its way into an official record was disclosed, saying Mr. Hoover was a "dry" for political purposes, while Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, demanded in a question of W. H. Stayton, founder of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, if liquor purchases listed in the organization's files were not for a dinner held for presidential candidates prior to June 20, 1928. The democratic nomination was not made until afterward. Stayton's reply was noncommittal.

The denunciation of Mr. Hoover was found in a letter written by Arthur W. Machen, Jr., of Baltimore, last January 20, in resigning from leadership of one of the anti-prohibition organization's subdivisions. The letter said in part:

"To be sure, little significance can be attached to his professions, for he has always been ready to change them for the sake of what he conceives to be his personal advantage. Once ready to accept a nomination as a democrat, he now poses as a republican; once an advocate of that truly 'noble experiment,' the League of Nations, he has now repudiated that profession; still nominally a member of the Society of Friends . . . (describing the Quaker pacifist beliefs) . . . he pe nits the guns of the coast guard to be used to massacre his fellow-citizens;

"Doing lip-service to the importance of an able, upright and impartial judiciary, he makes for political reasons political appointments so unworthy that even his own dry attorney-general gags at indorsing them.

"To cap the climax he has further degraded the bench by dragging it into politics through appointing three federal judges on a commission to deal with the livest political issue of the day—prohibition. He has further insulted the intelligence of the American people by packing the commission and by placing on its membership not one single outspoken representative of that large body of its

PEIPING TO BECOME PEKING ONCE AGAIN

PEIPING, China, May 2.—(AP)—Peiping, so named by its Nanking conquerors who divested it of its centuries old glory, will once again be called Peking, this time by its new and northern conquerors, who established themselves there recently without shedding a drop of blood.

Dr. Tchou Gao Hsiang, commissioner of foreign affairs for Yen Shi Shan, sometimes known as the "model" governor of Shansi province, announced the change today in Yen's behalf, and said that Peking, Peiping, or Peping, as it now is variously known, will resume as capital of United China.

Yen has called a "people's congress" which will meet here within the month to establish a new government, which Yen will head, and which will have, it was announced, Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang as commander of the military. Wang Chin Wei, leader of the left wing of the kuomintang, or people's party, of the Nanking government, will arrive here from the south within a week to become head of the political party which will sponsor the new government.

The new regime will have the name "nationalist government of China," which, oddly enough, is the name usually applied to the government at Nanking which Chiang Kai Shek heads. Tchou, in making his announcement, made it plain that Yen considered Chiang's government entirely illegal.

Delegates for Yen's congress are already arriving in Peiping, or Peking. Tchou explained that probably only 14 provinces—including Mongolia and Tibet there are 22 Chinese provinces—would be represented. Soon after the congress, it was said, Yen will issue a manifesto to the world explaining the purpose of his move and asking recognition of foreign powers.

The nationalist government, which had established itself at Nanking and represented essentially a movement growing out of Nanking and Canton, southern cities, changed the name of Peking to Peiping after their conquest of the city in 1928, when the war lord, the late Chang Tso Lin, was forced to flee to Manchuria, where he met death when his train was bombed.

Nanking was retained as capital, and Peiping lost its official status. Foreign nations, however, in practically every case kept their legations at Peiping, although recognizing the Nanking government as both de facto and de jure regime.

TOMAH, Wis., May 2.—(AP)—The trout season opened yesterday, so the Tomah High school closed. Tired of too many unexplained absences on May 1 of each year, school officials decided to dismiss students for the day.

Pickford May Appear In Trial of Mystic

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(AP)—The possibility that Mary Pickford will be called as a witness in the trial of Swami Pantappa Raw, who claims to be a Hindu mystic and fortune teller, was indicated today by the district attorney's office. Raw is held under $25,000 bonds for a preliminary hearing next Thursday on five counts of grand theft and three of statutory offenses.

Mrs. Adele Banks Allerhand, who signed the complaints against the Hindu mystic, declared that Raw named the film actress as one of his clients.

Denial of the claim was made by Miss Pickford, who declared she never had heard of the swami. The district attorney's office indicated she would be subpoenaed to make this denial in court.

Officers alleged the Hindu had used Mary Pickford's name in his advertising, representing the movie actress as a client. She probably will be questioned to see if she had readings, it was said.

With their removal all marines will be out of the Puerto Cabezas area.

Recipes for Spring Days

BY JESSIE MARIE DeBOTH

As the days grow milder we take little interest in hot griddle cakes, but do relish crisp muffins or tender biscuit at the morning meal. If the family is small it pays to make muffins enough for two meals, reserving part to split and toast the next morning. These muffins should be of fair size, to make agreeable portions, and can be quickly browned on the inner side, then generously buttered and set in the oven (with heat turned off) while the breakfast fruit is eaten. Either corn, graham or white muffins are good this way, especially with marmalade or honey.

Scones are excellent made with sweet or sour cream or mixed with mashed potato for tenderness. A plain biscuit dough calls for two cups of the flour mixture and a cup of riced potato, made into a fairly stiff dough, as the potato softens it. Or the prepared flour may be moistened with heavy cream and shortening omitted. A beaten egg, or just the yolk, improves the cream scone; with sour milk we add half a teaspoon of soda for a cup of cream, and use one teaspoon less of baking powder. Roll the dough into a round shape, then with a floured knife cut it across into four or six sections. Brush each lightly with milk or a little of the beaten egg, diluted with milk or water. Bake in a hot oven. If preferred, these may be cooked on an oiled griddle, omitting the moist topping, and browning each side lightly. Serve very hot, for lunch or breakfast. These make satisfactory shortcakes too. Some folks split them and pour over a savory white sauce containing meat stock or flavored with a bouillon cube or with bits of cooked meat, such as summer sausage, crisp bacon or shreds of dried beef. Serve plain buttered scones with fresh asparagus, or if you must cut this vegetable up, make a thin cream sauce, using the liquid from the asparagus and a beaten egg yolk with the delicate vegetable, and pour all over the tender scones.

Liked by Many.

This is more economical when asparagus is expensive, and many people like it served in this manner. At its best, however, the plain hot vegetable is served whole with plenty of butter, after careful draining. It is good with some lemon juice squeezed over it, and extra fine with a mound of chopped hard cooked egg, heated in butter. Asparagus vinaigrette is a popular salad, the chilled vegetable drenched with French dressing that is thick with minced pickle, parsley and mild onion. For a simple imitation of the rich and delicious Hollandaise sauce, try adding a third or half its bulk of mayonnaise to smooth white sauce. Stir it in gently over the fire and add one or two beaten egg yolks. Be sure it is all hot and well seasoned, then pour into a warmed sauce boat and serve with asparagus. This is also a delicious sauce with poached eggs on slices of ham and is especially suitable for artichokes. This vegetable is usually expensive when in the market, but now we can buy the artichoke hearts in cans—not too expensive and with no waste.

While tomatoes are high we like to get the flavor through our lettuce salad by cutting the tomato into bits, draining off the juice and mixing well with minced onion and parsley. Then blend with one part mayonnaise to two of French dressing and mix lightly with, or pour over, the crisp dry lettuce. One tomato will flavor and color four portions of salad. A single cucumber, chopped fine, with some chives, adds 100 per cent to the French dressing for sliced or quartered tomatoes. If time does not permit of natural drying of lettuce leaves after washing, lay each wet leaf on soft cloth and when all are spread out roll up lightly to absorb the moisture. A few minutes in the freezing compartment of the electric refrigerator completes the crisping. Wet lettuce ruins any salad, so it pays to insure its dryness.

Hominy for Potatoes.

Do you ever substitute fine hominy (or grits) for potato? In the south they are relished with steak, chops or ham, the meat juices or gravy adding succulence and richness. They are so easily cooked that the hurried housewife should prepare them occasionally, just for variety. In a double boiler it takes about an hour, but they will cook in half the time in a flat bottomed aluminum kettle over the fire. Use three or four times as much boiling water as washed grits, and the slowest possible fire after the mass is bubbling. Any left over can be sliced, floured and fried like mush, or mashed smooth and used in spoon bread, of most delectable creamy texture and golden brown crust. Children enjoy hot grits for lunch if sprinkled with brown sugar or covered with flavorsome syrup, either maple or the cheaper home-made variety.

A pleasing sweet to make at this time calls for four cups of thinly sliced rhubarb (washed but not peeled) the juice of two, and grated rind of one orange, a small can of crushed pineapple and a pound of sugar. Boil the rhubarb and orange 20 minutes, add the pineapple, sugar and speck of salt and cook until thick, or when a little of the syrup, quickly chilled, does not run.

For a luscious tart, spread this jam over crisp pastry shells, and top with a cooked cream filling blended with a little whipped cream. With the pastry and fillings in readiness, these may be put together quickly, just before serving time. Long standing ruins their delicacy.

Strawberry cream tarts, using fresh sweetened berries instead of this jam, are especially good if the fruit is spread over the filling. For a smoother finish make a heavy syrup with a scant cup of sugar and half a cup of strained berry juice, then pour this when cool over choice halved strawberries. Spread on the cooked filling.

Fruit Frosting.

A simple fruit frosting for little cup cakes consists of one-fourth cup of strained berry juice, a tablespoon of melted butter and confectioner's sugar stirred in until thick enough to spread. It becomes firm quickly, cuts smoothly, has a lovely color, and is very good on sponge cake or to cover split lady fingers.

Delicate sponge cake or golden sunshine cake makes a fine foundation for quick desserts. Home-made cake is desirable, but many bake shops turn out creditable egg cakes. Somehow these are often more successful than the butter cakes, and more suitable for such desserts as the ice cream cake, and other combinations of fruit and cream.

For this cake use brick or bulk vanilla ice cream. Cut the loaf in thick even layers, and place on each an equally thick slice of ice cream. Cover generously with crushed sweetened berries and slice at the table. If plates are chilled and berries prepared this dessert can be put together quickly so that the cream does not melt before it is served. For a white loaf use angel food cake and this is particularly pleasing with red raspberries. When not obtainable, preserved berries or cherries are delightful.

More Delay Expected In Cruiser Building

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—Further delays will occur in the laying down of three cruisers whose construction was ordered postponed by President Hoover at the beginning of recent naval reduction discussions.

The latest delay was ascribed to contemplated changes in design and to be in no way connected with the result of the London conference.

These ships were assigned for construction last summer and were included in the first five to be built under the latest navy construction program. The other two of this group are now under way in private yards, while these three are to be built by the navy.

They are 10,000-ton ships carrying 8-inch guns. The navy has just received the first ships of the type, which were authoribed in 1924, and the changes were understood to be a result of the trials undergone by these vessels. Improvement in the hull design is planned. Another month or two may elapse, it was indicated, before the keels are laid.

ZOO LOSES BALLOON, OFFER REPTILE REWARD

BERLIN, May 2.—(AP)—This city's famous zoo lost a balloon today and is willing to reward its finder with the gift of a pet alligator. The balloon was sent aloft to announce arrival of 1,000 alligators from Florida. It rose 15,000 feet, escaped its cable and vanished westward.

The reward for its return will be paid in money in case the finder does not care for a reptile.

LOUISIANA TRIUMPHS IN BOUNDARY DISPUTE

Supreme Court Special Master Rules Against Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—Louisiana today won its boundary dispute with Mississippi under the ruling of a supreme court special master.

The report filed by Special Master Thomas G. Haight in the supreme court recommended that the boundary line between the two states opposite Willow Point, La., should be the middle of the navigable channel of the Mississippi river in 1912-1913 before its new channel was formed.

The report stated that the fill-in at Willow Point from 1823 up to 1912-1913 was gradual by accretions, with the boundary line following the middle of the channel of the river as it moved eastward, and that the change in 1912-1913 was caused by a vulsion, leaving the boundary line at the middle of the old navigable channel before the river started to build up a new channel to the west.

WASHINGTON DELUGED WITH CENSUS RETURNS

200 Cities of 10,000 Class Have Been Announced.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—With the population counts of one-quarter of the cities of the country already announced, the 1930 census has struck its stride and the returns have begun to pour into headquarters at Washington for compilation and analysis.

Although only one of the larger cities of the half-million population class has thus far reported, rapid announcements for the remaining large and small cities are expected to be made very rapidly from now on. Buffalo reported 572,217 with an increase of 12.9 per cent.

More than 200 cities of 10,000 or more population have been announced by supervisors. The returns show the cities as a whole have not had the growth they did in the decade ending with 1920. For the 200 cities thus far reported the percentage of increase has been only 19.5 per cent over 1920. The cities in that category increased 31.3 per cent from 1910 to 1920.

The larger cities, those of 50,000 or more, that have reported thus far show a smaller percentage of gain than those below that population, their increase having been only 17.9 per cent.

The total population of these 200 cities is but a small percentage of the total population of the country but the number of cities is sufficient to show the trend of population growth in the ten years. The aggregate population of these cities is 5,881,212 as compared with 4,920,879 in the 1920 census. Cities in that category accounted for 42.4 per cent of the country's total population in 1920, and the total of the first 200 cities this year is about one-sixth of the 34,031,512 people in them that year.

The ranking of the 50 largest cities of the country will not be possible until the population of all has been reported, but New York, Chicago and Philadelphia are expected to retain their rank as first, second and third largest cities.

From that point down in the half-million class there is much uncertainty. Only four cities in that category have reported. They are Buffalo, Atlanta with 347,991 and an increase of 73.4 per cent resulting partially from the incorporation of new territory in the city; Nashville with 147,348 and an increase of 24.2, and Scranton with 143,428 and an increase of 4.8 per cent. Whether these latter two will rank among the 50 largest cities remains to be determined.

The cities of the 100,000 or more category, of which there were 68 in 1920, undoubtedly will show an increase in number this year. In addition to those mentioned there have been reported thus far only Camden, N. J., with 117,172 and an increase of 0.07 per cent; Fall River with 114,348 and a decrease of 5.3 per cent; San Juan, P. R., with 114,585 and an increase of 60.3 per cent; New Bedford with 112,804 and a decrease of 6.9 per cent; Somerville, Mass., with 103,604 and an increase of 11.3 per cent; El Paso, Texas, with 101,575 and an increase of 31.5 per cent, and Lowell, Mass., with 100,500 and a decrease of 11.3 per cent.

While there have been decreases in some of the cities of this class, there have been a number of large increases in the smaller cities below them. Cities which have increased more than 100 per cent include:

WOMEN VOTERS FAVOR GENERAL CUT IN ARMS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2.—(AP)—From a bitter convention floor battle on blanket support of naval disarmament, the League of Women Voters tonight turned to gaiety, pageantry and birthday candle lighting—a fete to the 19 national honor roll pioneers present to celebrate ten years of suffrage.

Care-free, they came to the convention hall ballroom without their brown portfolios crammed with legislative problems which were threshed out today or left open for settlement at tomorrow's final convention session.

Hardest fought of the problems was a measure making direct link for the first time between an international disarmament program and national disarmament measures in their support.

By a vote of 115 to 79 the measure won through in face of determined opposition, committing the league, as a working organization, to support "international reduction of expenditures for war, and national measures related to such international reduction treaties."

This would cover cruiser bills, as well as the London disarmament treaties, for which a "hearty support" resolution will be considered on the floor tomorrow.

Miss Katherine Ludington, of Lyme, Conn., first vice president of the league, led the strong opposition, contending that the convention should no put the league "into the vanguard" unless they are willing to pay the cost of so "highly specific" a measure which should, she said, have further "thinking through."

Supporting her, Mrs. Richard Edwards, of Peru, Ind., asked if the league knew all the ramifications of the cruiser question.

Florida Power Co. Declared 'Padded'

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—A "write-up" of the fixed capital of the Florida Power and Light Company of $30,232,000, or 102 per cent, was testified to before the federal trade commission today as it continued its congressionally authorized investigation into public utilities.

Arthur E. Lundvall, an accountant of the commission, testifying on the financial structure of American Power and Light Company subsidiaries, said the earnings of the Florida company turned over to American Power and Light in 1927 constituted 42.5 per cent of the American Power and Light total earnings, or nearly one-half the total receipts of that corporation, the interests of which spread into many sections of the United States.

Lundvall computed that the actual investment by the American Power and Light Company in the Florida company was only $4,277,924, although it owned all of the latter's common stock.

TEACHER IS FREED OF WHIPPING CHARGE

ELYRIA, Ohio, May 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Myrta Bradley, 22, teacher in a district school near here, was acquitted by a jury here today of a charge of assault and battery which was filed against her because she whipped six-year-old Mary Gerhartinger with a wooden paddle.

Girl's Alleged Modernism

Parts Townspeople in Twain

ROLLA, Mo., May 2.—(UN)—Modernism, the kind concerned with the smoking of cigarets and the drinking of cocktails by women, struck this quaint little Ozark town tonight with some very disconcerting results.

A jury of farmers, in the first place, failed to agree whether a pretty school teacher had been libeled when a crusading young evangelist charged her with smoking and drinking. The jurors, who had taken the case of Miss Olive Warren against the Rev. Paul Bennett yesterday and wrangled throughout the night, were good friends and neighbors when they went into the jury room.

When they came out today to report to the judge that they couldn't agree, seven of them wouldn't speak to the other five.

To top the enmity caused by this modern business of cigarets and cocktails, the disgruntled jurymen were greeted by the hisses of citizens who had flocked to court in the hope of seeing the vexing question settled once and for all.

The case was started last winter when young Rev. Bennett had printed some handbills which accused Miss Warren of smoking and helping a man drink a bottle of whisky.

Some of the citizens took sides with the Rev. Bennett. Others supported the pretty school teacher. Almost the whole town was drawn up in two warring camps.

Then came the trial and attorneys for the Rev. Bennett put up unique defense that it is impossible to libel a woman of 1930 merely by saying that she drinks and smokes.

"Smoking and drinking by modern women is an established custom," the chief defense counsel told the jurors. "It therefore is not libel to say a woman does something which custom makes perfectly proper for her to do."

Miss Warren and her attorneys next had their say. Miss Warren said that she didn't drink and that she didn't smoke and that she didn't think nice women did such things, either, and anybody who would accuse a nice woman of drinking and smoking, said Miss Warren, certainly was guilty of libel.

Judge J. H. Bowren gave the case to the puzzled jurors yesterday. It was a foregone conclusion, said court attaches, that the Rev. Warren would be found guilty. But when the jurors continued to wrangle and argue in such heated terms that they could be heard outside their room, the prognosticating attaches admitted that maybe some of them had 1930 ideas after all.

Announcement finally that they could reach no agreement, after 24 hours of discussion, proved conclusively that some of them agreed with the new fangled theories on freedom of women to do what they please.

After the audience finished booing and hissing the jurors, Judge Bowron wearily set the case for retrial in the September term of court.

Former Mayor Key Improves Rapidly

Former Mayor James L. Key, who has been confined at Georgia Baptist hospital since Wednesday when he underwent an operation for a glandular infection, was reported to be improving Friday night. It was stated that his recovery has been so rapid that he may be allowed to return to his home by the first of next week.

Court Rules Drinking Beer Is Reckless Act

EVANSTON, Ill., May 2.—(AP)—The beer out here is very potent, said Magistrate Barber to Miss Helen Lynch yesterday.

"Why," she said, "I had only one small glass of beer."

"You mean to say," interrupted Prosecutor Stolle, "that you consumed a glass—an entire glass of beer? Why, that makes a complete case against you. A whole glass of beer—an automobile—reckless driving. It's an inevitable combination."

"That is correct," said the court, fining Miss Lynch $100. "Any person who drinks as much as a teaspoonful of the beer now in circulation hereabouts is reckless, very, very reckless."

Mrs. French Taken To Doctor's Office

Mrs. Peggy French, who will go on trial Tuesday on a charge of murder, is being treated by a physician for an abscessed ear, it was learned Friday. Mrs. French was carried to the physician's office from Fulton tower Friday by Deputy Sheriffs Whadley and Jordan under an order signed by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court. She is charged with slaying John S. Garmon, railroad dispatcher, at her Ninth street home on February 11. She will be defended by the law firm of Branch and Howard.

Officer Finds Call For Aid From Wife

Early Friday morning a frantic call to police headquarters by a woman informed them that a negro burglar was attempting to break in her home. Headquarters Patrolman Charles M. Hajos, who answers all calls on the morning watch, jotted down the number and found that it was his home address. His wife was calling for aid, and so Officer Hajos and Call Officers F. J. Norton and C. P. Wright hurried to 490 Angier avenue but the negro had escaped, taking a window screen with him.

They fit the built-in fixtures

"DELICATE MEMBRANES can be severely injured or inflamed by the use of too coarse a toilet tissue." This is the warning of 580 doctors and 223 hospital superintendents recently questioned on the subject.

Unaware of these facts, many housewives are innocently exposing themselves and their families to danger by buying harsh, inferior toilet tissue.

Jury Will End Work Today; More True Bills Expected

Failure To Obtain Cronheim's Testimony Brings Delay in Discharge of Body.

Failure to obtain the testimony of Sam P. Cronheim, real estate operator, considered essential to one of the pending indictments, Friday caused the graft investigating grand jury to delay until this morning completion of its work and appearance before Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy to make its presentments and obtain its discharge.

Cronheim has been subpoenaed to appear at 10 o'clock this morning when his testimony will be heard and a vote taken on the last indictment. The grand jury then is expected to proceed to Judge Pomeroy's courtroom, wind up its business and be discharged.

A sworn statement to Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens was presented the grand jury Friday afternoon in lieu of his testimony but this was not accepted, the grand jurors voting to delay discharge in order that his verbal testimony might be obtained.

Just how many bills have been voted by the grand jury for return today could not be ascertained Friday night but it was definitely established that one member of council, considered one of its most influential members, has been indicted on a bribery charge of two counts. Several other bills are said to have been presented but whether or not they have been voted could not be learned.

It was definitely learned Friday that the incoming grand jury which is to be sworn in and charged Monday morning by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, will not immediately resume the graft inquiry with prospects that no more witnesses in the municipal probe will be heard until after the trial of Walter C. Taylor, which now is set for May 12 before Judge Moore.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who is absent on vacation, will not return until the last of next week and on his return will devote his attention to preparation of the Taylor case.

The prosecution of Peggy French, who is to go on trial Tuesday for the murder of John S. Garmon, railway dispatcher, is to be directed by Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson. The case also is set before Judge Moore.

Grocery Manager Reports $87 Holdup

Three unmasked white men late Friday night held up and robbed H. C. Duncan, of 966 Austin avenue, of $87 belonging to a grocery store at 465 Ponce de Leon, of which he is manager, while he was en route to his home after working late.

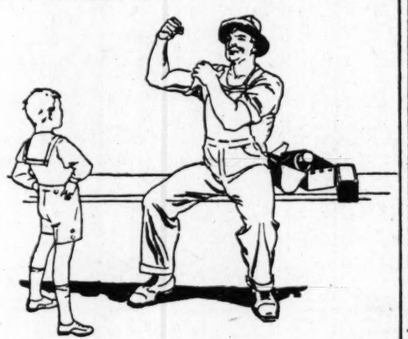

He had alighted from a street car and when he reached a point in front of a vacant house at 293 Elizabeth street, the trio approached him. Two had pistols. According to Duncan's statement to Detectives J. J. Chester and C. H. Jones who investigated, the bandits overlooked $50 of his personal money which he had in a separate pocket.

An unidentified negro jumped 20 feet to the ground through a rear window of the Harris Hardware store at 262 Edgewood avenue, without pausing to lift the window, when a burglar alarm was set off late Friday night. He had entered the store presumably through a ventilator on the roof. As he jumped to freedom he was seen but not identified by another negro who was passing.

Three Famous Operas Conclude Season Today

Atlanta's abbreviated season of Metropolitan grand opera moves to a spectacular close today with three of the most popular and greatest operas of all time to be given in the single day. "La Boheme," this afternoon, and "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" tonight, will wind up the twentieth season, which has ranked with the greatest in its artistic success. At upper left, above, is shown Giovanni Martinelli, tenor, in his famous role of Canio, in "Pagliacci." Center shows Leonora Corona, the new American soprano, who will make her Atlanta debut tonight as Santuzza in "Cavalleria Rusticana." The two at the right are Lucrezia Bori, soprano, and Beniamino Gigli, greatest lyric tenor, who sing Mimi and Rudolph in "La Boheme" this afternoon. It is Gigli's only role of the season. And, in the circle below, is the great American baritone, Lawrence Tibbett, who also makes his only appearance today, when he sings Tonio in "Pagliacci." Tibbett, already ranked at the top in opera, added new laurels to his crown of popularity this year when he starred in one of the greatest singing and talking pictures of the day, "The Rogue Song."

Three Favorites Offered Grand Opera Lovers Today

La Boheme

In "La Boheme," Puccini's opera in four acts based on Henri Murger's novel, "La Vie Boheme," the first scene is laid in an attic room in the famous Latin Quarter of Paris. This is the room of Marcel and Rudolph, two of the "four inseparables," a group of impecunious artists and musicians. Rudolph and Marcel are complaining of the cold. Marcel starts to break up a chair to make a fire when Rudolph, the poet, offers some of his own rejected manuscripts as fuel. As they burn these manuscripts Colline, the philosopher, enters and stamps his feet with cold. The three are then amazed at the entrance of the fourth friend, Schaunard, who brings food for the fire, food, wine and money.

The friends are told by Schaunard that he has been giving music lessons to an English traveler and has received his pay. The friends are eating and making merry when the landlords enters and demands his rent. They show him money and then proceed to give him wine and make him intoxicated. After the landlord becomes maudlin they throw him out of the room. A timid knock is then heard and Mimi appears. She says she lives in a room upstairs and makes artificial flowers. Rudolph is struck by the frail beauty of the girl and as his three friends depart he talks to her about her life. They soon realize that they are in love with each other. The girl begs Rudolph to take her with him to the Cafe Momus, where he has promised to rejoin his friends.

In Act II the scene is the Cafe Momus, where the friends have assembled. Rudolph and Mimi join their friends. Here, too, is Musetta, a friend of Marcel's, who is at the cafe with Alcindoro, a rich tradesman. Marcel, through jealousy, pretends not to see her and she then sings the "Musetta Waltz," a charming number. The party gets exceedingly gay, the friends take Musetta up on their shoulders while the old tradesman, Alcindoro, is left to pay the bill.

A city gate of Paris is seen at the opening of the third act. Mimi has come to Marcel to tell him that she and Rudolph have been quarrelling continually and can no longer live together. The girl is frail and beautiful, but it is evident that she is stricken with disease. Marcel then goes into an inn, where he meets Rudolph, and Rudolph tells him his side of the story. Mimi hides and listens to what Rudolph has to say. A sound of coughing discloses Mimi's hiding place and she then tells Rudolph she will leave him and sings him a farewell song. Musetta then enters and accuses Marcel of flirting. The two men and two women then sing a quartet in which they tell of their emotions and at the end Rudolph and Mimi end their love affair which began so sweetly several months before in the old attic room.

The last scene is the same as Act I. The two friends, Marcel and Rudolph are sitting in the attic without their sweethearts. Musetta has not sent any word to Marcel, while Rudolph has not heard from Mimi. Marcel is sitting before a painting, but gazes at a ribbon left by Musetta, while Rudolph sits at a table pretending to write and looks at a little bonnet left by Mimi. Schaunard and Colline enter, then Marcel and Rudolph brighten up a little. They are talking together when Musetta comes in suddenly and tells them Mimi has been deserted by a friend with whom she has been living and, racked by disease, is coming to the attic to die. Mimi comes in and the friends see that she is in desperate condition. They place her on Rudolph's bed. Marcel goes for a doctor while the other friends rush to her aid. Colline runs out to pawn his famous overcoat to get money to buy food for the girl. He bids farewell to this coat in a song. The friends then leave Mimi and Rudolph together and they sing a tender duet. The girl is seized with sudden faintness and as the friends return she expires. The curtain falls with the friends weeping and Rudolph giving vent to a despairing cry of "Mimi, Mimi!"

Pagliacci

The scene of the story is laid in Calabria at the time of the feast of the Virgin di Mezzagoato. During the prelude Tonio comes forward as in the prologues of ancient Greek tragedies and explains that the subject of the play is taken from real life.

The first act shows the meeting of two roads at the entrance of a village. At the right is a traveling theater. Villagers greet the arrival of the group of strolling players. Canio, the Punchinello and chief of the troupe, invites the crowd to attend the performance at night and then goes off with Beppo, the harlequin, and several peasants to drink at the tavern. Tonio, the clown, remains behind to care for the donkey, but takes advantage of Canio's absence to declare his love for Nedda, who is the Columbine of the troupe and Canio's wife. Upon being pressed for a kiss, she strikes Tonio with a whip and he goes off vowing to be revenged.

Then Silvio, a rich young villager, joins Nedda and tries to induce her to leave her husband and the forlorn life of a stroller, which she loathes, to run away with him. Tonio spies on the lovers and runs to fetch Canio, the husband. They return to hear Nedda's parting words to Silvio, in which she agrees to meet him at night. Canio breaks from the restraining hands of Tonio to attack Silvio, but the latter succeeds in escaping over the wall without being recognized. Canio, baffled and jealous, orders Nedda to tell the name of her lover but she refuses and Canio is about to stab her when Beppo interferes. He persuades Nedda to go to the theater to dress for her part and induces Canio to prepare for the performance. The act closes with a cry of despair from Canio, who is obliged to act comedy with death in his soul.

In the second act the peasants arrive to witness the performance. By chance, this proves to be a burlesque of all that has taken place in the first act. Tonio, who plays the part of the idiot servant, makes a declaration of love to Columbine (Nedda), which she receives with scorn. Harlequin (Beppo), in love with Columbine, then appears, but after a short interview is nearly surprised by the Pagliacci (Canio), who arrived just as Columbine is helping Harlequin to run away and hears her repeat to him the very words she had used to Silvio when she bade him meet her after the play that night.

At this, Canio loses his head, forgets his part and furiously demands the name of her lover. Nedda laughs in order to put the public off the scent and they, failing to grasp the truth, are much amused. Suddenly, however, Canio, beside himself with rage and jealousy, seizes the knife on the table and stabs Nedda to the heart, declaring that she will reveal the name of her lover with her death cry. She calls to Silvio for help and he attempts to reach her, but is attacked by Canio who stabs him also. The peasants disarm Canio who, stupefied, mumbles "The comedy is finished."

Cavalleria Rusticana

It is Easter and the peasants are keeping holiday. Turiddu, the son of Mamma Lucia, village tavernkeeper, has returned from military service. By his soldiery manner he has become the favorite of all the girls of the village, among whom Santuzza has proved the chosen one, to her own betrayal.

Before his enlistment, Turiddu has courted Lola, a pretty coquette, but on his return finds her the bride of Alfio, the village carrier. In wounded love and vanity, he turns to Santuzza but, meeting Lola afterward, he drops into the old relation and deceives Santuzza, while Lola is faithless to Alfio, her husband.

The intrigue coming to Alfio's ears on Easter morning from Santuzza, who is distracted by jealousy and remorse, he challenges Turiddu, reluctantly, and is himself slain.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know—diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Two tablespoons or one Biscuit daily—in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and bring a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in two ways—the improved krumbled cereal or the new Biscuit. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk or honey. Sprinkle the krumbled form over cereals and salads, in soups and soak in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cooked food. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ROSA PONSELLE, MARTINELLI STAR

the season, with the popular Lawrence Tibbett, Martinelli, Queena Mario and others in the cast. The night performance, as usual, will begin at 8 o'clock and for both matinee and night the ironclad rule of closed doors before the overture starts will be enforced.

Rosa Ponselle, the divine soprano with the velvet notes that thrill and charm with every breath; was never in greater form than on Friday night. Giovanni Martinelli, long one of the greatest of tenors, outdid himself. He reached heights of pure tonal delight that were never surpassed by any Manrico within the memory of the present generation.

And, always great, Julia Claussen, the Swedish contralto, made an Azucena both in voice and acting that lived and breathed the very essence of the character and that poured forth golden notes of song beyond description for their glory.

Giuseppe Danise made an excellent Count di Luna, Pavel Ludikar scored a small personal triumph as Ferrando the captain of the guard and other members of the cast shone with similar brilliance.

Serafin Conducts.

Conductor Tullio Serafin weaved the spirited enthusiasm of the performance from the tip of his baton and led orchestra and singers together into inspiration that comes only occasionally, even with such an inspiring opera as "Trovatore."

After a night like Friday's, nothing short of perfect performances before audiences that crowd the old auditorium to the rafters can possibly be expected for Saturday. It was stated, Friday night, by officials of the Music Festival Association, that the size of both Thursday and Friday crowds was greater than the largest performance of 1929.

"Atlanta has again become opera enthusiastic," one official expressed it. "After Friday's performance there can be no question as to the artistic success of the shortened season and, with the comparatively few remaining seats for Saturday sold as we expect during the forenoon, a complete financial success will be likewise recorded."

The audience Friday night compelled one encore—of the famous "Ah, I Have Sighed to Rest Me," and they tried hard to secure a repetition of "Home to Our Mountains," but the Metropolitan, while it may break a rule occasionally for Atlanta that it would never violate in New York, couldn't break the same rule twice in the same evening.

Enthusiasm of Audience.

It is hard to transcribe to paper the enthusiasm that swept in succeeding waves over Friday night's audience as the famous old score passed from glory to greater triumph with each succeeding scene. The universally known and beloved arias and duets and ensembles and chorus numbers, from the "Anvil Chorus" to the "Soldiers' Chorus," from "Tremble Ye Tyrants" to the "Miserere," thrilled and delighted as of old.

Ponselle, Martinelli, Danise, Claussen, Ludikar, Egener, Conductor Serafin, the orchestra, the chorus and that exquisite ballet, with Rita De LePorte and Jessie Rogge, deserve the deepest thanks of the entire audience, of Atlanta and her guests, for the performance they gave. The 1930 season may be shortened, but while the memory of 'Il Trovatore," of Friday night remains, it will rank with the greatest of all the 20 seasons for operatic glory.

Three operas today—"La Boheme" with Gigli and Bori this afternoon—"Cavalleria Rusticana" with the new American soprano, Corona, and "Pagliacci," with Tibbett, Martinelli, Mario, etc., tonight—and the all-too-short season is at an end.

It has served, however, to reawaken the opera enthusiasm that marked Atlanta of old and presages many more brilliant and delightful seasons to come.

$10,000 IS ASKED FOR POLICE RADIO

ed Atlantans will be requested to make contributions to the fund for the radio equipment.

Mr. Murphy explained that the system should be installed as an economy move.

"It will make the present department efficient," he declared. "We need it. At the present time, we need many new policemen, which this committee is unable to provide. Installation of the radio system will make those we have more effective."

Describes Apparatus.

Mr. Pendley explained how the apparatus works, and how the element of time aids in tracking criminals.

"Criminals have been apprehended by the Detroit department while they were still on the job," Mr. Pendley said. "The time element is cut to the minimum."

"While I was on a business trip to Detroit, I took advantage of the opportunity to ride one of the cruisers equipped with radio and found it works," Mr. Moore stated. "That is all there is to it. I had rather have 50 less policemen with the radio than 50 more without it. It is effective, cutting down the likelihood of having to go into courts on circumstantial evidence, by permittting the officers many times to make arrests while the outlaws are actually at the scene of the crime."

Councilman Carpenter declared that every member of the police committee is behind the move to push the radio station because it feels it is the most "economical investment which can be made in the interest of public safety and protection."

"Unless this committee is able to finance the equipment, we are determined to take the matter to public spirited Atlantans, asking that contributions be made to assure a local installation," Mr. Carpenter said.

Committee Sympathetic.

The finance committee voted unanimously in sympathy with the projected improvement, but regretted inability of the borough, under the present financial strain, to provide police cars and the radio equipment at the same time.

Walter B. Stewart, chairman of the police committee of the Fulton county commission, declared that Fulton county wishes to co-operate in any way possible, "but it cannot expend any large sums because of many other commitments."

"We are willing, however, to pay a rental for the service the borough might furnish in the broadcasting to our cars when they are equipped," he stated. "As you probably know about 93 per cent of the crime in Fulton county is committed within the corporate limits of boroughs."

"We are not familiar with all the details of the radio operation, but if it will assist in curbing crime, Atlanta retail merchants are interested intensely in establishing it here," Mr. Hohenstein said.

Robert Fulton Hotel Bought By Asa Candler for $800,000

15-Story, 300-Room Hostelry Passes Into Hands of Briarcliff Investment Company.

Purchase of the Robert Fulton hotel, a 15-story, 300-room structure at Luckie and Cone streets, by Asa G. Candler, Jr., in the name of the Briarcliff Investment Company, was announced Friday. Total considerations of $800,000 were involved in the trade.

The hotel was owned by the Massell Realty Company and is under lease to the Barron and Wilson Hotel Syndicate, which operates a chain of hotels throughout this section, at an annual rental of $88,000. The lease to the company expires September 30, 1944, but the ground lease on the property does not expire until 1972. M. L. Hirsch owns the land.

The Robert Fulton was built in 1922 at a cost of approximately $750,000. Of the aggregate $800,000 Mr. Candler paid for it Friday, $550,000 was said to have been paid in cash and the balance represented in the transfer the Miller Union stock yards, valued at about $250,000, to the Massell Realty Company.

Negotiations for the deal closed Friday were handled by J. H. Ewing, president of J. H. Ewing & Sons, and J. H. Taylor, of J. H. Taylor & Sons, Atlanta real estate operators.

"In buying the hotel and other properties that Mr. Candler has recently bought," Mr. Ewing said in discussing the deal, "he is purchasing wisely—just as his father before him did. I predicted at the beginning of the year that 1930 would be one of the best years in the history of the city, and I reiterate that statement now."

Decrease Is Forecast In Sales Tax Revenue

Revenues of the gross sales tax for the first quarter of 1930, now past due, probably will be slightly under the revenues for the last quarter of 1929, when $348,753.32 was collected, according to estimates made Friday at the office of R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner.

Although only $230,296.93 had been received Thursday on the quarter's tax, the estimate of a decrease in total revenues was not based on the amount collected, but on comparisons of returns in individual cases.

Individual payments are from 5 to 15 per cent under what they were the last quarter, it was stated, with a probable average of 10 per cent less.

The amount collected to date, it was said, is in excess of what had been collected at the relative period of the last quarter.

Broughton To Talk On Prohi Situation

"This Prohibition Insanity" is to be the subject of a special sermon to be delivered Sunday night at the Baptist Tabernacle by its pastor, Dr. Len G. Broughton.

"The pubic is getting weary," Dr. Broughton, in announcing his sermon subject, "of this all-at-once agitation of the prohibition situation and the turn it is taking. It would seem to be an insanity and is without parallel, so far as I know, in political madness.

"I have watched the situation carefully, and I think I know the secret. I got it out of Washington, and I am going to let it out in my sermon Sunday night. And I am going to let out some more things, too."

John Slaton Lauded For C.M.T.C. Activity

Major-General Frank Ross McCoy, commanding the fourth corps area with headquarters at Fort McPherson, Friday commended former Governor John M. Slaton for his valuable support in putting the fourth corps area again over the top in Citizens' Military Training Camp procurements.

"I have been informed by the war department," General McCoy wrote to Mr. Slaton, "that the fourth area is the first to reach its C. M. T. C. objective and that Florida and Mississippi are the first states in the Union to complete their C. M. T. C. quotas.

"You, as leader of this public-spirited organization in this corps area, and the state and county representatives under you must be given credit for a very large part of this success. Permit me to congratulate you and through you the state aides and county representatives for the distinction that has come to our corps area."

Wrong Credit Given For Alto Sanitarium

In lines descriptive of a photograph of the new children's hospital at the Alto sanitarium appearing in the rotogravure section of The Constitution of last Sunday, it was stated that the hospital was built by the Scottish Rite Masons of Georgia. The statement was in error.

The hospital was built by the Grand Lodge of Georgia, Free and Accepted Masons, assisted by the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons and the Order of the Eastern Star.

The hospital was erected at a cost of $125,000, and now contains about 80 patients. The building is used exclusively for treatment of child victims of tuberculosis.

LAKE OKEECHOBEE IN PERIL OF FLOOD

Rainy Seasons Swell Streams and Drive Level Upward.

OKEECHOBEE, Fla., May 2.—(AP) Several streams flowing into Lake Okeechobee, swollen by unprecedented spring rains, have gone out of their banks, flood waters covering fields in some places to a depth of three feet and causing the lake to rise to unusual heights for this season of the year.

Mrs. Will Austin, wife of the pastor of the Church of God here, drowned today when the automobile she was riding in ran through a railing on the Kissimmee river bridge and dropped into water 18 feet deep.

The spot where the car fell is but a shallow hole under normal conditions, Okeechobee residents said.

Mr. Austin, who was driving the car, crawled to safety after kicking glass out of the door. The top of the machine was later removed and Mrs. Austin's body recovered.

The Kissimmee river is unusually high and rising rapidly, whereas it is normally too low to be navigable at this season of the year, residents said. Fort Drum creek, 20 miles to the north of Okeechobee, normally only a few feet wide, was reported today more than a quarter of a mile across. A tram road to the Sherman mill has been washed out and the mill forced to close.

Howard Sharp, editor of a newspaper at Canal Point and member of the house of representatives in the state legislature, reported that farmers on the southeastern shores of the lake expressed fear that if the overflow continues there would be danger of general flood conditions prevailing in the everglades.

Colorado May Vote On State Dry Act

DENVER, Col., May 2.—(AP)—Conditioned on a sufficient number of valid signatures being obtained to an initiated petition filed with the secretary of state today, Colorado voters in the November general election will vote on the question of repealing the dry amendment to the state constitution.

In 1926 when an attempt was made to repeal the amendment voted in 1916, the vote was 107,749 for repeal and 154,622 against.

It provides that repeal would permit manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors but would not permit the return of the saloon to Colorado. Intoxicants would be dispensed under the terms of the petition, by agencies, persons, firms or corporations authorized by legislative act.

Idlewood Park Will Open Today

Idlewood amusement and recreation park, located on Tucker road near the Stone Mountain highway, 12 miles from Atlanta, will open its fifth season today, it is announced by R. C. Bone, president and manager of the operating company.

In addition to affording an attractive setting for a picnic, the park features swimming and dancing in the amusement line, with regular dances scheduled for every Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Mr. Bone says that many new attractions have been added since last year, including a miniature golf course which will be completed and ready for play on June 1. The park is one of the most popular of its kind near Atlanta.

Tumlin May Oppose Robert Ramspeck

Probable opposition to the renomination of Congressman Robert C. W. Ramspeck, fifth district member of the house of representatives, has been communicated by Judge George Tumlin, of Decatur, to his friends. No definite announcement, however, has been made.

Judge Tumlin is well known throughout this section and has held official positions in the state and federal governments. If he runs for congress he has indicated that it will be on a platform embracing a plank opposing the eighteenth amendment to the constitution.

Swindling Charged In Larceny True Bill

Rene Dionne, alias S. R. Perry, Friday was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury on two counts of larceny after trust. The cases grew out of the alleged swindling of two men who applied for jobs as private chauffeur in answer to an advertisement, it was said at the solicitor-general's office. The prosecuting witnesses are Thomas Laramore and Guy M. Perry. The true bills allege that Dionne got $50 from Laramore and $40 from Perry.

TARIFF VERSUS TRADITION.

Since the tariff bill has been in process of enactment newspapers and publicists of both democratic and republican sentiments have been caustically accusing democrats in congress of abandoning traditional party doctrines relating to a protective tariff.

In the earlier history of the democratic party and until some years after the War Between the States its policy was that of a "tariff for revenue only," adjusted to the fiscal needs of a federal government economically administered. But in a long run of republican administration not only federal administration and economic interests adjusted themselves to the protective tariff system, and the people have steadily supported the policy of protecting strongly both American industries and American labor against biting foreign competition.

Now, since that policy can be regarded as fixed in the psychology and preference of the people, and as long as it remains so, there should be no fault found with democrats who demand for the interests of their constituents equal rights and equal protection with the interests of republican constituencies.

As Grover Cleveland once wisely remarked in much the same relation, "it is a condition that we are facing, and not a theory." The theory of absolute free trade is a fascinating one on its face, but the interior works of it are defective and do not keep time with the needs of American progress and prosperity. So the democrats are wise if they get all they can of equal protection while the getting is good and tradition marks time in the pink garret.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

It is to be hoped that the Fulton county commissioners will see the wisdom of making the $10,000 appropriation requested for the erection of a hangar at Candler field to house government planes to be used in the training of air corps reserve officers. The field has already been designated by the war department as an army air corps reserve headquarters, which means that if the proper equipment is installed all air corps reserves in the entire fourth corps area will be trained in Atlanta.

This appropriation is sought merely to cover the cost of erecting the hangar, as all materials will be furnished by the government. Since the government does not own the land upon which the hangar is to be erected, it cannot under the law bear the expense incident to erecting the hangar and doing the other necessary work.

The city has already given a ten-year free lease on the site and if the county board makes the appropriation requested there will be sent to Atlanta immediately upon the conclusion of the work a minimum of five government planes and a full staff of officers and enlisted men to take care of the needs of the reserve corps officers. The payroll of this force, it is estimated, will be in excess of $1,200 a month.

This would mean that Atlanta would catch step with other southern cities who already have army air fields. Montgomery, Birmingham and Nashville have large fields operated by the government and it is high time that Atlanta, as the air hub of the south, should have an efficient training headquarters for the reserve officers of its immediate territory.

Atlanta's position as the south's predominant air crossroads demands that all possible additions to its municipal airport be acquired. The establishment of an air corps reserve, bringing officers from all parts of seven states to Atlanta, would be a decided step in the steady progress of the city to the forefront of flying progress.

Since so much is offered for so small an appropriation it would certainly seem that an opportunity is presented that cannot in good judgment be overlooked, and it is to be hoped that the county board will be able to look at the matter in that light.

AUTOMOBILE DEATHS LEAD.

Still more data showing the terrible toll in human life that is being taken as the result of automobile accidents is shown in a recent report giving the causes of accidental deaths for the first three months of this year among the policyholders of the New York Life Insurance Company.

The report shows that deaths from automobile accidents not only lead the list of all accidental deaths, but shows in addition an increase of percentage from 41.24 in 1929 for the first quarter of 1929 to 44.24 for the same period this year.

Disregard of common rules of the road were held responsible for the greater part of these fatal accidents, while loss of control as the result of speeding ran a close second in the responsibility for the snuffing out of the lives of so many of our citizens.

Deaths from such causes as falls, drowning and machinery, which in years gone by led the list, are now far down in the percentage column, not because of any decrease in such accidental deaths, but on account of the present staggering loss of life due to automobile accidents.

With madness, irresponsibility and drunkenness at the wheels of so many automobiles it behooves the sane and sober driver not only to "watch his own step," but as well to so proceed that he can avoid the criminal carelessness of other drivers. Only in such a way can he avoid the possibility of death or injury.

POTTING THE MIDDLEMEN.

A lively and enlightening fight was staged Wednesday in the United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington. The members brought in Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm board, and made him the target for a bombardment of objections to the operations of that board. But Chairman Legge adroitly parried their thrusts and soon became the chaser instead of the chased.

Heretofore the big business moguls of the chamber have loudly professed their desire to see agriculture put upon a living and prosperous basis. But now that the federal farm board is showing good success in forming large farm cooperatives, in removing potential amounts of surplus crops from depressed markets, and seeking to better the prices for farm products, the middlemen who have been absorbing a spread of 65 to 90 per cent of the money paid by ultimate consumers for farm produce, are howling.

They are claiming bitterly that they are "being driven to the wall" and "the government has killed our business," and they demand that the farm board shall be stopped from giving its present order of aid to the farmers. That raises the pregnant issue of which of the two, the farmers who toil like helots to produce the grain, and cotton, and cattle, or the in-between traders who handle the products between the farm and the final markets, shall be "driven to the wall?"

Put to a vote of the nation there is scarcely a doubt that the people who eat would decide by a majority of many millions that if the business of either class must be "killed" it should be that of the sweaters of the produce while on the way from the field to the table. On the facts Chairman Legge wins the debate in a walk.

The Navy League thinks the London treaty a proper thing to look into. So Sir Charles Coldstream thought of the crater of Vesuvius.

Probably Judge Parker would be happier if Hoover had never discovered him.

Jimmie Walker has gone to Bermuda for change and a rest. Bill Travers did that once and came back claiming that the bellhops got the change and the hotel keepers got the rest.

Summer in France.

It was the hour when the waters are asleep below St. Germain. A belated honeybee zoomed nervously over the fields, hurrying homeward in sudden, flighty bounds, fearful it seemed, lest another moment's delay would find the hive-door barred for the night, or the queen getting into a temper over a tardy arrival for supper. The first bats of evening were emerging from the moss-grown belfry. They flapped hungrily through the nosts of midgets that had lingered to dance foolishly to the rhythm of unheard music in the afterglow. The smoke of factories far away dissolved into a languid veil of violet. The sun was stealing out of the valley, and in doing so, by way of a backward glance, or to prolong the illusion of day, had sprinkled the tops of the elms and poplars of the forest with a transparent sheen of shivering bronze. Peasants were coming in from the fields, their arms swinging by their sides. A stork rattled from the roof of the chateau and children addressed him a sing-song request to bring them a baby-brother in the cradle. Then we knew summer had come to France.

Sultan's Harem Opened.

That part of the celebrated palace of Topkapou which constitutes the sultan's seraglio was opened to the public recently. The apartment to which the public are now admitted are those of the imperial harem which for 400 years, since the conquest of Constantinople by the Turks in 1453, have been the scene of innumerable intrigues, debauches, murders and assassinations, with which the twenty sultans who preceded Abdul Hamid were associated. The throwing open of this part of the old seraglio, which was formerly the private suite of the sultans and their odalisques, is regarded as an event, as the sultan's private suite was from time immemorial a place jealously guarded from the outside world, and no hint of the tragic scenes which must many times have been enacted within their walls was suffered to escape. From the artistic point of view the apartments contain much that is of interest, notably the exquisite porcelain of a deep mauve tone with which the walls of the sleeping chamber are lined. There are numbers of immense beds surmounted by gilded canopies in the Venetian style, white marble fountains, large paintings and brocade-covered furniture. The carpets, which are very beautiful and evidently of great value attract considerable attention, reports from Stamboul say.

Sylla and Mussolini.

When a traveler arrives in some Italian port he is led to an office where an official after asking his name, proceeds to consult long and mysterious lists of names. If his name happens to be inscribed in one of the lists, he is forthwith marched off to jail. We witnessed such a shocking incident when debarking in Naples last year. Signor Turati in Paris, the anti-fascist leader in Europe, has just managed to get a hold of one of these lists. It contains 14,000 names. Every name is followed by a number referring to a more complete identification of the person in the secret archives of the fascist police. For the 14,000 are the men who are officially recognized as the enemies of the regime in vogue, who have managed to elude the clutches of the blackshirt police. Signor Mussolini remarked only a short time ago that there were only a few hundred "of these miserable exiles," but the list shows that there are at least 14,000. The number of proscribed which Sylla drew up in Rome in 136 before our present era, were far less numerous. In addition, to the 14,000, Signor Turati writes in his Paris, published "Italia" there are millions of Italians who are dissatisfied with the regime but who dare not open their mouths. This includes half the fascist party itself. "For hundreds of thousands of fascists support the regime with a heavy heart. The only exceptions are those who live of fascism, the professional fascists, so to speak." And even among them all is not applesauce. For the job hardly pays its man.

A CLEAN HEART.

Text: "Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin." Psalm 51:2.

In the following hymn, which has recently come from the fervent pen of Rev. Walter C. Smith, we find a touching, modern echo of the ancient cry of the Psalmist, which we have chosen for our text:

"One thing I of the Lord desire,
For all my path hath miry been,
Be it by water or by fire,
O make me clean, O make me clean.

CHORUS

"So wash me, Thou, without, within,
Oh purge with fire, if that must be,
No matter how, if only sin

"If clear vision Thou impart
Grateful and glad my soul shall be;
But yet to have a purer heart
Is more to me, Is more to me.

"Yes, only as this heart is clean
May larger vision yet be mine,
For mirrored in its depths are seen
The things Divine, The things Divine.

"I watch to shun the miry way,
And stanch the springs of guilty tho't.
But, watch and struggle as I may,
Pure I am not, Pure I am not."

One of sin's most dreadful punishments is the agonizing sense of personal impurity which it leaves in all who have committed it.

As sin is universal in the human race, so is this pathetic cry for a clean heart heard among all men in all ages.

This desire to be spiritually clean accounts for the millions of bleeding sacrifices that have been offered in ages past on numberless altars.

They shadowed forth the fact that the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses us from all sin.

Here, and here alone, we find the answer to the prayer, "Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean; wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow." Psalm 51:7.

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise:

Yesterday you told me that two girls of your acquaintance had developed symptoms of swell-head—one because her father held a public office and the other because of her father's wealth.

You seemed amused and yet resentful, as all sensible people do in such cases, but it isn't probable that you analyzed your reaction or searched for the cause of it, and perhaps I'd better do that to put you on your guard.

If the father of one girl held the highest office in the land and the father of the other possessed more millions than he could count, the girls could feel as important as they now do and yet neither amuse nor offend you.

Isn't that true?

As it is, one girl is proud because less than five thousand voters who knew her father only by sight selected him from a group of fourth-rate candidates to fill an insignificant office, and the other is equally proud because her father cheated and tricked his neighbors and thus contrived to accumulate a "fortune" that wouldn't buy one front foot on Park avenue, New York.

The girls don't make any such analysis of the material their vanity feeds on, but you do—perhaps unconsciously—and that explains your irritation.

In plain American, they give you a pain because they are stuck up without having any reason to be.

So far, so good; but vanity afflicts us all and a bug in your ear will do no harm.

Family pride, if it is justified by the facts, is a possession of untold value, for it stiffens the backbone in time of trial and provides a mark to shoot at and a standard to live up to when you are tempted to compromise with the devil.

But being proud of the wrong things is like trying to make yourself respectable by using the wrong standard.

If you had a rich dad you would have no reason to be proud, for many mediocre and crooked men get rich.

If your dad held a high office, that alone would not justify pride, for offices are obtained by dishonorable means and they can't confer honor if men without honor have held them.

If you had a famous dad, you still would have no cause for swell-head, for fame is won by unworthy men and may last only for a day.

In short, nothing justifies family pride except honor and intelligence and service and a fine high standard that scorns things unclean, and people with that background never have anything as foolish as swell-head.

Love, DAD.

Hollywood in Person

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 2.—The village, treated last evening to a glimpse of a talkie made outside the village, heartily applauded the technique which goes to make it one of the best pictures recently shown.

Monta Bell's production of "Young Man of Manhattan" made in Manhattan, hasn't a waste moment. What is more it incorporates the inexplicable charm of news reel into its fabric. And the news reel is the one form of motion picture which everyone enjoys.

It was another opportunity also to witness the very charming work of Claudette Colbert, but recently arrived here in Hollywood. Her dark beauty, excellent acting and subtle charm have lit several talkies to date. Her incursion into village ranks has been a quiet one. A severe cold followed her initiation at the studio and necessitated her retirement for several days. Location trips then took her away.

From every point of view she is a dangerous rival to the beauty queens of the gilded hamlet. She has a background that few possess: her voice work is polished: and her singing voice is clear and sweet.

The ultimate success of a picture depends largely on the production—regardless of the leading lady's charms or the leading man's ability to sway the feminine element. Monta bell, ex-newspaperman, makes movies from a silent director's point of view. When there is a lapse of time, double exposures cover it neatly without any need of conversation about it. When there is a lapse of time, double exes of trains roaring at night over trestles, tell the observer what is up.

The perfect motion picture of today is a blending of talkie and silent technique and nowhere is this better instanced than in the work of Monta Bell. He takes you into the hectic life of the sports writer for a big city daily, incorporating the events as a necessary part of the story, but brightening the march of the tale inevitably thereby.

Charles Ruggles added one more drunken hat to his collection. This irrisistible person endears the slightly alcoholic gentie to all beholders.

Our pict es are getting better—no doubt about it. We are no longer buying up novels and scrapping them to substitute a studio pudding stirred up out of that chaotic mass of dramatic and emotional ingredients heretofore known as "formula."

Occasionally now movie movie lads buy a story and shoot it straight through from start to finish exactly as the author wrote it. I didn't fall dead over the book; but that only goes to prove that the most satisfying plays and novels seldom make the finest pictures and vice versa.

If you are a Maurice Chevalier fan—and they seem to be legion these days—you'll enjoy his new picture. "The Big Pond" is a good vehicle for releasing charm—the clean singing charm of Chevalier. If you're panting for a story that will shake you to the foundations, it just isn't there. It has a couple of cute songs and a charming fashion show by Claudette Colbert.

The recent eclipse raised cain with a Hollywood playboy who had been making wassail the night previous. A glance from his bedroom window convinced him that he had met the old fusel oil at last.

He rang a friend who had been making merry with him:

"Say, can you see all right this morning?"

"Sure-thing, everything OK."

He rang his physician in a panic. Some half hour later his butler told him how things stood but the lad stayed on buttermilk for a full week. That 30 minutes was no joke to him.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

I am 33 years of age and the mother of eight children. My husband admits that I have been everything that a wife and mother could be during the 14 years of our married life. But while he has prospered I have had no share in his prosperity, for he has forced me to live with his mother in her house, steadfastly refusing to obtain one for me. His mother is physically strong, financially independent, quarrelsome, domineering and directs every detail of our lives.

What can I do to remedy the situation? I have thought of consulting a lawyer. Can I compel my husband to give me a home? Could I deliberately gather my brood, move out and set up a home elsewhere? I must do something, for we are all too unhappy to continue our present way of living. Kindly omit address.

A mother 33 years old who has borne eight children and been a faithful and willing wife, ought to be the queen of her own household. So I suggest that you have one more frank talk with your husband and put the proposition for betterment squarely before him, demanding an immediate decision by him. If he refuses to comply with your request, consult some wise and sympathetic lawyer who will advise you regarding your legal rights, and pursue a conciliatory policy until he finds that is useless. In any case he can outline a course of action for you which will be effective with a minimum of publicity. He should also tell your husband a few homely truths which, taking the facts as you state them, he sorely needs to learn.

You may be sure that the law, both of state and church, is upon the side of a woman who has been as The only doubt in my mind arises ruthlessly repressed as you have been. from the difficulty of conceiving a husband so perfectly supine in these sacred relationships, to say nothing of his selfishness and neglect.

Insist on possessing your own home and on immediate freedom from the attacks of this belligerent mother-in-law. She has tyrannized over you too long and too fiercely to be further tolerated.

London, England.

Do you think Lloyd George is likely to recover his dominant position on the world stage of politics? Is there any book I can read which tells of his career?

Taking your last question first, get the two volumes, "David Lloyd George," by J. Hugh Edwards, M. P., published by J. H. Sears & Co., New York. Parts of this work read like a romance and Mr. Edwards institutes a comparison between his hero's early career and that of Mr. Lincoln. Few men have had a more fascinating record than Lloyd George. Whether one blames or praises the ex-premier who did so much to insure victory for the allies, one cannot resist the interest he evokes in opponents as well as friends.

His political future is being enhanced daily by the labor government now in power. He never made more brilliant or convincing speeches than during the last six months. Britain's foremost journalist, J. L. Garvin, declares that the laborites have given Lloyd George his chance to recover, and Mr. Garvin predicts that his recovery will prove permanent.

The formidable strength of the Welsh magician's analysis and satire, and the perfection of his grace and vigor in delivery have been strikingly displayed throughout his parliamentary career. Unless I am mistaken, the fundamental issues of British policies call for compromise. They require settlement by mutual concession, and on a stable basis for which the liberal party is the legitimate agency. If this view is correct, Lloyd George must still be considered a political force in Europe and in the world.

Would you as a Protestant clergyman invite a Jew to take part in a commentary upon the Bible as compiled by Christians? This question has arisen in a group to which I belong and we should like you to express your opinion upon it.

Decidedly yes. Who can better explain the Old Testament than the descendants of those by whom it was originally written? That famous Christian commentator, the late Dr. Arthur S. Peake, asked C. J. Monteflore, a distinguished Hebrew scholar of Great Britain, to take part in theological discussions and writings relative to the Hebrew Scriptures, and he did so with admirable results. Such contributions of Hebrew scholarship to Biblical interpretation have been of marked service in the elucidation of the Old Testament. This collaborative work should continue, and no doubt it will.

I have read with interest and profit the various statements which have been made by my brethren of the Jewish ministry concerning the accepted doctrines about God, the human soul and the obligations of righteousness. Moreover, I am firmly convinced that prejudice against our Jewish brethren is absolutely anti-Christian, and should therefore be officially repudiated by the churches of my faith. This step ought to be taken in the interests of brotherhood and in obedience to the impulse of that divine love in us which conceives all men as brethren and God as their Father.

Mind Over Matter

'Everybody's Business'

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Cheap Money Has Not Stemmed the Stock Market Decline—Utilities Prove Worst Sufferers—Why Is Copper Only Metal of Importance That the U. S. Does Not Put Import Duty On?

Cheap money has not stemmed the stock market decline. In the total sales of nearly $6,000,000 yesterday the natural gas stocks suffered the worst, although the whole market had a bad drop in the final hour.

United States Steel moved down 2 1-4 points to 176; General Electric down 4 1-4 points to 80 1-4; Eastman Kodak dropped 12 1-8 points to 230 3-4. Radio Corporation went off 6 7-8 points, closing at 55 1-2. Standard Oil of New Jersey was hit hard and dropped 4 1-8 points to 76 3-8.

But the utility stocks were the worst sufferers. American Power & Light dropped 9 7-8 points, closing at 100 1-8. National Power & Light dropped 9 1-2 points to 43 1-2, while United Carbon dropped 10 1-8 points to 63—in the most precipitous decline this year.

Money was plentiful and cheap, but the market did not respond to it.

Why is copper the only metal of any importance that the United States government does not protect by an import duty?

This question was asked and answered by Frank C. Armstrong, New York copper man, in an address last night in Philadelphia before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

It is only recently that copper deposits have been found elsewhere than in the United States—in such places as Canada, South America and Africa. And this does change radically the traditional American point of view.

Laid down in New York in 1928, Chile's production cost was 5.084 cents per pound; Nevada's production cost for the same year was 9.197 cents.

So copper produced by the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company was 80 per cent higher than that produced by the Chile Copper Company of Chile.

Question: Should the United States allow foreign copper, owned largely by American interests and produced under "slave labor conditions" to enter the United States markets duty free to compete with copper produced in American mines at a much higher cost for free labor?

Mr. Armstrong says that it should not be allowed. He asked in his address for a duty of not less than 6 per cent a pound to protect American copper mines and American labor in the same way that the government protects every other metal but copper.

"The copper situation," said Mr. Armstrong, "presents what is the first outstanding illustration of the results of the exportation of capital from the United States for the particular purpose of building up in foreign countries a basic industry whose low cost product is shipped back to the United States there to compete with and ultimately to destroy one of its own most imporant industries."

The Armstrong statement is a strong indictment against the present copper policy of the United States.

The bankers' committee meeting in Bussels, under the leadership of Leon Fraser, Boston lawyer, is believed to have fixed upon a 5 1-2 per cent rate on the new $300,000,000 German reparation bond issue, as contrasted with the 7 per cent rate talked about last fall.

France, with the lowest discount rate now in the world, is expected to take one-third of the issue, the United States possibly another third, and the rest of the world the balance.

One private firm, Kreuger & Toll, of Sweden, has already agreed to underwrite $25,000,000 of the new issue.

Leon Fraser, 41, the American banker, after graduating from Columbia University, became first a newspaper reporter, then a lawyer.

During the war he was a major in the judge advocate's office, and was honored by the governments of Belgium, France and Italy.

Since that time he has practiced international law in Paris, was general counsel of the Dawes plan, and Paris representative of the reparations commission from 1924 to 1927.

Within two weeks it is expected that an announcement will be made of the details of this first issue of $300,000,000 out of a total of $4,000,000,000 reparation bonds which ultimately can be issued.

Is a tariff war between Canada and the United States probable? The budget introduced this week into the Canadian parliament by Finance Minister C. A. Dunning appears to point that way.

Although the liberal party has always been favorable to American business development, the Dunning budget is the most comprehensive measure on tariff revision introduced in the Canadian parliament since William Fielding introduced his famous "British preference" principle in 1897.

Out of a total of 1,188 schedules mentioned, 500 of them are drawn directly to encourage a diversion of trade away from the United States and to Canadian and British interests.

The business implications of this new budget are far-reaching and serious. The budget includes a system of countervailing tariff schedules which will make the Canadian duty on commodities in respective trade between Canada and the United States equal to the United States tariff. Wheat, flour, rye, oats, live stock, eggs, butter, meats, potatoes, soups, cut flowers and cast iron pipe are products included.

"Those who raise prohibitive barriers against our products entering their markets must expect that we will extend favor to our own good customers rather than to them," said the finance minister. "I would rather extend lower tariff favors to those who extend them to us than to adopt prohibitive tariffs in return for like treatment."

A British economic union, combining the British isles with all of the British dominions, may yet work out to be more than an idle dream. But American businessmen had better watch their steps—for Canada is America's best customer.

THE ADVANTAGES OF DIATHERMY EXTIRPATION OF TONSILS.

In a scientific contribution to one of the medical journals Clarence H. Burton, D. D. S., M. D., gives a brief description of his own extensive experience in performing tonsillectomy on the London Throat hospital, London, England, and with various methods and instruments that are popular with throat specialists in America. He tells of his dissatisfaction with the results in many cases, for surgical tonsillectomy is not always the great success in practice that it is in the conversation or writings of the throat specialists. At any rate, Dr. Burton finds electrocoagulation of the tonsils preferable in many cases in adults, and he gives the profession much practical information about the technic of this work. Finally he sums up the advantages of this method over surgical tonsillectomy, as follows:

1. All types of tonsils, in the adult, are suitable for diathermy extirpation.
2. Freedom from hemorrhage and post-operative lung abscess.
3. Lack of shock.
4. No pain.
5. No detention from occupation.
6. Ability to eat and drink immediately after treatment.
7. End results are exactly what the doctor makes them, as he can destroy as much tonsil tissue as he deems necessary or stop at any time he sees fit.

The method has its drawbacks, too. Here are some of the drawbacks:

1. Complete extirpation of tonsils requires perhaps 6 to 12 treatments in the average case, at intervals of several days, and this is tedious for both patient and physician.
2. Only a few of the more progressive physicians as yet have the equipment and the special skill to provide the treatment. However, more and more of the better throat specialists are adopting this method, especially for handicapped patients.
3. The expense of diathermy extirpation is usually no greater than that of tonsillectomy in the hospital. Some patients are unwilling to pay for diathermy extirpation. If these things were fairly appraised, sure diathermy extirpation would be worth the more to the patient.
4. Young children are not suitable subjects for this method, except a few well trained children in the hands of physicians who have a knack of managing such little patients.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Fair Play for All.

While most of your teachings are excellent, I think you're going out of your way to belittle the man practicing a specialty. I can't see the fairness or logic of your screeds on that subject. From the remarks of patients who rather admire you I gather that your reading public is a bit weary of your diatribes. (A Specialist).

Answer.—I believe I am giving a fair deal to all concerned, namely, the patient, the family doctor and the specialist. I have had literally thousands of letters from people who, I believe, have suffered from the mistake of running to specialists for something the ordinary general practitioner could do as well or better. If any reader can cite experience tending to show that a patient is wise to go straight to a specialist of his own choosing, rather than consult an "ordinary" or family physician I'll be glad to give that side of the problem fair consideration here. Meanwhile, Doctor, I'm "agin" all specialists who compete with real doctors on the basis of the popular delusion that a specialist is ipso facto more skillful or better educated than a general practitioner is. I still believe that this modern commercial specialism is a blight on medicine and its material success in some communities is a sad commentary on popular intelligence.

Inadvertence.

Lest you overlook it I call your attention to a short abstract from the British Medical Journal reprinted in Vol. 94, No. 3 Jour. American Medical Association. How the editor of the American journal ever let such an indorsement of electrocoagulation (diathermy) of diseased tonsils get by is a mystery, in the light of the attitude of the editor up to the present. (S. J. C., M. D.)

Answer.—Thank you, Doctor. The British Medical Journal, it appears, has published the view of so distinguished an authority as McKenzie that "diathermy extirpation will come to be the method of choice for removing tonsils in adults." In spite of the attitude of the American medical journal, however, this modern method is now the method of choice for removing tonsils in some of the more fortunate communities of this country. If my tonsils had to be removed I'd go to a great deal of inconvenience or expense if necessary to find a doctor who can extirpate them with diathermy.

Couzen's Rail Bill Wins Committee Tie

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—By a tie vote, the senate interstate commerce committee today ordered reported to the senate the Couzens resolution curbing railroad consolidations but whether the report will be favorable or adverse hinged tonight on a poll of the other six committee members.

Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, author of the resolution and chairman of the committee, said he would report the resolution to the senate on Monday and he predicted the final roll of the committee on its vote would be "at least a tie—9 to 9."

Couzens hoped, however, for committee approval, as he said, of the six absentees two were still undecided tonight, but that both, he believed, favored the resolution. One was definitely against, he added, one probably would be against and two are on record as favoring the measure. The committee chairman declined to identify the votes.

The resolution would suspend the authority of the interstate commerce commission until March 4, 1931, to approve or authorize any consolidations or unifications.

BRAND URGES HIKE IN IN RESERVE DIVIDEND

Amendment to Federal Reserve Act Seeks Two Per Cent Raise.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(Special.)—Member banks of the federal reserve system would be allowed to receive an equivalent of 2 per cent additional on their paid in capital stock holdings in federal reserve banks, under an important amendment to the federal reserve act laid before the house today by Representative Charles H. Brand, of Georgia.

The present dividend which member banks may receive on paid-in capital stock holdings is limited to 6 per cent. Thus the dividend receipts would be increased to 8 per cent.

The amendment, offered as an additional to Section 7 of the act, provides that the proposed 2 per cent increase in dividend payments shall be paid out of any net earnings which may remain to be paid to the United States treasury by federal reserve banks as franchise tax.

In offering the amendment, Representative Brand, one of the ranking minority members of the house banking and currency committee, explained that it had a two-fold purpose, firstly, it will act a greater inducement for financial institutions to take advantage of the federal reserve system by becoming members. And, secondly, it will result in more funds going into the federal treasury from federal reserve banks as franchise tax.

During recent hearings before the banking and currency committee, the Georgia congressman charged that federal reserve banks in late years have failed to pay the federal treasury amounts which had been expected in franchise taxes. Several of the banks he pointed out, have, in fact paid nothing, although the act requires that the treasury receive as such taxes all net earnings over and above certain specified funds for increasing capitalization and dividend requirements.

It is the contention of Representative Brand that the franchise tax is being evaded, not necessarily in violation of the letter of the act, but perhaps the spirit. The banks, he asserted returned the government very substantial sums in taxes during the first few years after the system was created, but thereafter paid comparatively nothing. He is now conducting an inquiry into the situation with a view of proposing further legislation on the subject.

By giving member banks an additional 2 per cent on their federal reserve paid-in holdings, subject to the condition that it come out of surplus earnings which otherwise would go in franchise taxes, it is his belief that there will not only be an added inducement for banks to join the system, but also greater demands for the federal reserve institutions to make provision for payment of the taxes in order to provide for the 2 per cent dividend increase.

The Georgia congressman announced his intention to press for action this session, if possible, on the amendment, which would insert the following paragraph in Section 7:

"From the amount of the net earnings which remains to be paid to the United States as franchise tax, as above provided, and before the same is so paid, there shall be paid annually to the member banks of the federal reserve system a sum equivalent to 2 per centum of their paid-in capital stock."

'Wet Propaganda' Hit By Church Convention

The meeting was the last to be held by the body under that name as during the series of meetings this week of the governing bodies of the Christian and congregational churches in the southeast merger of the denominations was effected and the name of the body was changed to the southeast convention of the Congregational and Christian churches. The merger of the denominations in this section was a part of the nationwide merger of the churches.

The reading of the report on temperance brought forth literally a flood of speeches, the church men challenging those who would modify the national dry law and condemning what they termed "misleading propaganda which is current in many of our publications throughout the country."

LIFEBOAT HARDSHIPS PROVE TO BE USELESS

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, May 2. (AP)—Tossed four days in a 14-foot lifeboat in the Gulf of Mexico, Captain E. E. Bailey and Navigation Officer Benjamin Jones, of the motor vessel M. P. reached Matamoros today to learn that six shipmates they had sought to save already had been rescued.

The M. P., which sprang a leak 200 miles out in the gulf last Sunday, was picked up by a passing steamer and towed back to Alvaro, Obregon, Mexico, after Captain Bailey and Jones had set out in the life boat for shore to summon aid.

The pair reached a point below Washington Beach, Mexico, yesterday, and proceeded to Matamoros. Coast guardsmen had been searching for the lifeboat for two days.

Fighting a storm for four days in the small boat rigged with an improvised sail, Bailey and Jones found it necessary to bail continually, and at times despaired of their lives.

Cuban People Are Optimistic

Despite Tariff, Pennino Says

Despite the hardship worked on Cuban sugar producers by the tariff increase recently imposed by the United States congress, the people as a whole there are confident that they soon will be able to find the solution to their problems, declared Signor Jose Pennino, prominent Havana business man, who is in Atlanta for the Metropolitan Opera season.

Signor and Signora Pennino are annual visitors to the city for the opera performances. They number many personal friends among the great singers, Signor Pennino being especially close to Beniamino Gigli, the popular tenor who is to sing this afternoon in "La Boheme." The Penninos are almost as familiar figures around the Biltmore hotel during opera week as are the opera stars themselves.

"Cubans are optimistic by nature," Signor Pennino continued, "and they are confident that, despite the economic troubles brought about chiefly by the sugar tariff, that the solitary star of their flag will quickly guide them to better times.

Problems No Different.

"The economic problems of Cuba," he said, "are like those of all countries, whether on this or the other side of the Atlantic. Just now, we are undergoing the effects of a financial depression and unemployment, which is due to the decline in the price of our principal agricultural and industrial product, sugar.

"Of course, the action of the United States legislative bodies, increasing the import duty on sugar to the point where it is almost prohibitive, has greatly contributed to this state of affairs. We are confident, however, that the solitary star of our flag will guide us to better times, and that we shall soon be able to cope with our problems and find their solution. Cuba is a young country, and as such, recovers easily from the effect of all ailments; we Cubans are optimistic by nature. We have undergone worse trials in our struggles for political independence, and yet, in the midst of all our problems and overcoming all obstacles, there shone upon us the sun of Liberty, blazing upon the horizon the name of Cuba as a new one among the concert of free peoples.

"There is no animosity in our country in regard to the American congress for the raise of the tariff on sugar imports; there are no better friends of the American people and the American government in all of Latin America, than in Cuba.

Entangled in Economic Collapse.

"We Cubans are not apt to forget the contribution of America to our fight for independence; our ties of friendship are links of a chain forged while Cubans and Americans were fighting side by side under our blue sky, with our stately royal palms as witness of the heroism and high ideals of the American volunteers. It is to be regretted that the congress of such a government and such a people, who gave us so much a score and a half years ago, should decree, by voting such a protective tariff, that we Cubans get entangled in the economic collapse that results from the closing of markets which have for so long been the natural outlet of our products.

"The help extended to us in our struggle for liberty carries necessarily the implied obligation to at least refrain from destroying its natural effects. And to have made us free, now to build a tariff wall which will keep us out of our natural markets, is equivalent to taking from us that liberty which was once obtained through the help of the people and the government of the United States.

"Such protective policy is a two-edged sword, as it kills the sugar industry and shuts off all chances of our maintaining the high standards which we had attained, and at the same time it works against the interests of manufacturers and exporters right here in America, who had in Cuba a fine market for their products, and now can not do business with us, or rather, see their exports to Cuba curtailed from month to month in an alarming percentage. We have, naturally, to readjust our expenditures to our incomes and the higher the tariff, the less we sell, and the less we buy. Moreover, there is over a billion dollars invested in the sugar industry in Cuba, most of which is American money; that amount is worth now about 50 per cent, and it apt to be worth much less every day, as each year the grinding season leaves us a balance in red which it is hard to carry on forever.

"And just to think that a difference of a single cent, either by a raise in price, or lowering the tariff rate, would mean happiness for the people of Cuba, and that this would do no harm to anyone!"

SIGNOR JOSE PENNINO.

Rockefeller Gives $3,500,000 in Paris

PARIS, May 2.—(AP)—Announcement that the Rockefeller Foundation had tendered a gift of $3,500,000, supplementing a $2,000,000 previous gift toward the completion of University City, was made today by Senator Andre Honnorat, a trustee.

The gift "to erect and furnish a building to house the general services of the University City of Paris" was made in a letter from the Rev. Dr. Raymond B. Fosdick in behalf of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Theater Man Cleared In Disastrous Fire

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 2.—(AP)—Charles Dorward, manager of the Paisley cinema theater, in which 70 children died after a fire panic New Year's Eve, today was found not guilty of culpable homicide in connection with the deaths.

The prosecution charged that Dorward had obstructed one of the two exits by padlocking an iron gate. The theater manager asserted that he had unlocked the gate and left the padlock on a post before the matinee started.

MOVE MADE TO OUST J. WALTON SIMMONS

Quo Warranto Proceedings Filed Against Clerk of Court by Mrs. Ida McGill.

A court battle over the right of J. Walton Simmons to hold the office of clerk of Fulton superior court was initiated Friday when Mrs. Ida R. McGill, a taxpayer, instituted quo warranto proceedings against Simmons. Judge John D. Humphries signed an order requiring Simmons to show cause on May 10 as to why he should not be ousted from the office.

J. M. George, chief marshal of municipal court of Atlanta, who was defeated by Simmons in the special election held on April 9 to fill the vacancy created by the death of Thomas C. Miller, was informed of the quo warranto proceedings and asked that it be made plain that he has no connection with the suit and is not a party to it. George said that he had refused t sanction such a suit, as he desires to abide by the result of the election.

"I wish to make my stand in this matter clear to the people of Atlanta and Fulton county," Mr. George declared. "When I was approached about the proposed suit, I strongly opposed any such action, preferring to abide by the expressed wishes of the voters, who in the election selected Mr. Simmons for the position.

"I have nothing whatsoever to do with the legal battle, and wish my friends to know how I feel about it. If I had had any intention of contesting the office I would have done so without vocating it before the courts had passed on the eligibility of Mr. Simmons."

Mrs. McGill, in the petition filed by Attorney Paul L. Lindsay, alleges that Simmons failed to pay taxes for 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929 up to April 3 of this year, and that Simmons as a tax delinquent tendered himself for induction into office. The plaintiff charges that Simmons is now acting as clerk without legal warrant or authority. The petitioner states on information and belief that the taxes were paid since April 3, but alleges that this does not make him eligible to hold the office.

Showers Due This Afternoon, Forecast Says

Fair weather through noon today with probable thunder showers during the late afternoon, was indicated in the weather forecast released Friday by C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local branch of the United States weather bureau.

Building Collapse Injures 6 Workmen

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 2.—(AP) Six workmen were injured, four of them seriously, shortly before noon today when the roof and east wall of the old postoffice building collapsed, burying them under the wreckage.

Approximately 15 other workmen, engaged in razing the structure, escaped injury.

The seriously injured were L. C. Brooks, W. N. Keltner, E. D. Smith and D. D. Thomas. Georges W. Holmes and Ross V. Collins also were hurt but were not taken to a hospital.

The men were injured when the roof collapsed, throwing them to the ground. The east wall fell a moment later, burying the men under the debris and adding to the confusion.

Rescue work was hampered for some time by large crowds which gathered at the scene, located in the heart of the downtown business district. Order was restored by more than a score of policemen.

CAPONE FAILS TO HALT PADLOCK PROCEEDINGS

Must Face Trial Unless Further Pleas Are Sustained.

MIAMI, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—Efforts of Scarface Al Capone, Chicago racketeer, and his wife, Mae Capone, to halt padlock proceedings instituted sometime ago against their home, were blocked today by Judge Paul D. Barns, of criminal court, who overruled demurrers to the action by Capone's attorneys. Judge Barns ruled that the case inaugurated by State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne must go to trial unless further pleas filed within a ten-day period granted to the defendants are successful.

Three defendants named in the suit with Capone and his wife were dismissed by Judge Barns. They are the gangster's brother, John; Frankie Newton, caretaker of the palatial Capone home, and Frank Gallat, resident agent for the racketeer.

The judge ruled that their general demurrers to the Hawthorne padlock petition showed just cause for their dismissal.

The judge cited numerous supreme and other court decisions in his ruling, which was contained in a seven-page manuscript. Hearing on the demurrers took place last Saturday but taking of testimony from 42 state witnesses and 12 for the defense was postponed pending decision on the exceptions.

The complaint filed by Hawthorne charged that the Capone home, where the gang leader came on April 20 for a vacation, was a haven for criminals and gangsters where liquor was stored, and where laws of the state frequently were violated.

Huge Caterpillar Will Be Feature Of World Fair

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.
Associated Press Science Editor.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—A huge caterpillar as big as a dinosaur, 60 feet long and 11 feet high, is planned as a scientific exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

Visitors will walk into his mouth and behold from end to end ingenious natural wonders such as the Arabian story-tellers overlooked, but which are so efficient as internal mechanisms that today they serve three-fourths of the animal kingdom. The layman will get a first hand look-in upon some of the reasons why staid scientists occasionally ask seriously whether man will survive in his "war with the insects."

The plans for making this artificial bug higher and mightier in appearance than a Mogul locomotive were announced today by the local branch of the national research council science advisory committee organized by Dr. Frank B. Jewett, of the Bell Telephone laboratories.

Visitors will walk up five steps to enter. At the left, as the barkers have it, the ladies will see nature's own process for making silk, as it is formed from a silk worm's salivary glands.

The air-minded will be shown 18 portholes on each side of the 60-foot body, the intakes of a breathing system that any flier would envy, for it enables insects to exist in rarified atmosphere the equivalent of the air 14 miles up, or about double the present altitude record. The "windows" connect with minutely branching breathing tubes, dividing and subdividing, doing away with the necessity for lungs and for circulation of oxygen and carbon dioxide through the blood.

Those romantically disposed may speculate upon an insect's heart. The caterpillar's will be rather expansive, tubular in form, suspended from his back by wing-shaped muscles, and pumping something which resembles ice water. This substance may be shown welling up from one end of the heart over the caterpillar's head and flowing back through his body along glass runways.

The caterpillar was selected to portray entomology because it is a typical insect.

Soviet Team Refused Entrance to England

LONDON, May 2.—(AP)—A soviet football team which sought permission to tour England from April 18 to May 10 was refuses visas by the British government and could not enter the country.

J. R. Clynes, home secretary, in an an announcement before the house of commons, said that the action had been taken "in the absence of evidence that the tour would be a genuinely sporting one."

Clynes said that the team had been sponsored by the British Workers' Sports Federation, which is affiliated with the sporting organizations of the communist internationale. These organizations, he declared, have laid a definite program of propaganda and other communist work for the youths' sports unions.

MEMPHIS POLICE SEEK PERSISTENT FIRE-BUG

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 2.—(AP)—The eighth attempt within five days to burn the home here of J. J. Gannon, a cooperage company employe, caused an intensified search today for what officials consider Memphis' most persistent pyro-maniac.

The seventh attempt was frustrated yesterday morning. Last night members of the family awakened to find a rag which had been saturated with kerosene ablaze in a front window. In each instance the fire was discovered and extinguished before serious damage had been done.

Gannon told Frank Buckalew, fire marshal, that so far as he knew he had no enemies.

COMPETITIVE DRILL WON BY TECH HIGH

The reserve officers' training corps unit at Tech High school won a competitive drill Friday at Piedmont park, against units from three other institutions.

The exercises were directed by Colonel William R. Dashiell, retired, professor of military science and tactics in Atlanta and Fulton county, who was assisted by Major F. W. Benteen as his executive officer. The high schools competing were Fulton High, Boys' High, Tech High and Russell High school of Decatur.

All units had their bands with them, sponsors were present and army officers from Fort McPherson, in dress uniform were present. In addition to the drill "setting-up exercises" were held but they were not competitive.

The judges were Lieutenant Cook and Lieutenant Angluin, of Fort McPherson, and the trophy, a huge blue banner was presented to Miss Ellen Garrett, sponsor of Tech High school. She in turn presented it to Cadet Captain O. Freeman. Miss Garrett is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Garrett, of 478 Tenth street, N. W. Another presentation was made, being a gold medal for the best drilled cadet in Atlanta and Fulton county. This was presented to Cadet Robert Wood, of Russell High school, by Miss Julia Wells, sponsor of the Russell unit, who was presented with the medal by General Fiske.

Miss Cornelia Wilson, 514 West Ontario avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Wilson, was present as the brigade sponsor of the day, and as regimental sponsor for Tech High school. General G. H. Estes, commander of Fort McPherson, and Major H. W. Stephenson, commandant of Tech High, were also present in the reviewing stand.

Astor Yacht Brings Wealth in Freaks

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Back from the Galapagos Islands, cradle of the Darwinian theory, came Vincent Astor on his yacht Hourmahai today, bringing cormorants that do not fly, penguins that have scale-covered fins for wings, a fish with two backbones and several piscatorial specimens so rare that they have no names.

On a six-week cruise, which ended today, Mr. Astor had as his guests Kermit Roosevelt and a party of scientists, of whom Dr. Charles H. Townsend, superintendent of the New York aquarium, was the head. The aquarium, the Bronx zoo, and the Brooklyn botanical garden benefited richly.

The aquarium acquired more than 200 specimens, including the cormorants that use their tiny flap-like wings for swimming instead of flying.

Robinson Enters Name for Re-election

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 2.—(AP) Senator Joseph T. Robinson's corrupt practice pledge as a candidate for renomination in the August democratic primary was received at the secretary of state's office today from Washington. Receipt of the pledge was the first definite information that Senator Robinson, minority leader in the senate, would seek re-election, although it had been generally expected he would run.

Senator Robinson will be opposed in the primary by Tom W. Campbell, of Little Rock, former chairman of the democratic state central committee. Campbell filed his pledge several days ago as Robinson's first primary opponent since 1918.

Sims Asks Change In American Law

PINEHURST, N. C., May 2.—(AP) The time has come for material change in the law of the United States, Henry Upson Sims, of Birmingham, Ala., president of the American Bar Association, told the North Carolina Bar Association here tonight.

Through the ages, Mr. Sims said, the question of the need of law reform has been answered by the clamor of the public, mature opinion of students and experts in the practice of existing laws and by investigating and comparison of other bodies of law.

Stressing some of the complexities of the legal code not only in the United States but in the world, the speaker declared, "The time has come now when the supervision of the administration of justice in all its phases should be made the charge of the organized bar."

France Pays Tribute To De La Vaulx

PARIS, May 2.—(AP)—Count Henri De La Vaulx, who gave his life to aviation, was honored in death today as France's great inspiring spirit of the air.

The body of the count, who was killed recently in a plane crash in New Jersey aviation centers in America, lay in state at the Aero Club of France and was followed by mourners of many nations to the Invalides, where, in the chapel of St. Louis, adjoining Napoleon's tomb, mass for the dead was said.

The count, who was head of the International Aeronautical Association, was given an international funeral and representatives of many nations paid tribute to him.

Hogg Arrested Again As He Leaves Court

Joe Hogg, well-known Atlanta youth, was arrested Friday as he was leaving the court of Recorder A. W. Calloway under a $100 bond for violating the state motor vehicle law, by Deputy Sheriff Lee Whatley, who held two bench warrants for his arrest in connection with an alleged "party" at a downtown hotel about seven months ago.

Hogg was taken to Fulton tower, where later in the day he made bond of $11,000 on charges of kidnaping and misdemeanor, which placed his bond total at $11,100. He was arrested by Whatley when the latter learned from city police that Hogg had been arrested and was being tried. County police had searched for him for some time.

According to county police, Hogg had failed to show up for trial on the two charges growing out of the affair at the local hotel, in which he and two male companions were alleged to have contributed to the delinquency of minor girls.

Governor Demands Boston Official Quit

BOSTON, May 2.—(AP)—Governor Frank G. Allen today demanded immediate resignation of Herbert A. Wilson, police commissioner of Boston.

The governor and police commissioner were closeted for more than an hour this afternoon presumably to discuss the findings made public yesterday of Attorney-General Joseph E. Warner in the Oliver Garrett investigation.

Warner's report, found gross incompetence and corruption in the department although specifically clearing Wilson of any personal wrongdoing.

Governor Allen said.

"Constrained by a sense of public duty and in order to restore confidence in the department, and to effect its reorganization, I require the immediate presentation of your resignation as police commissioner of the city of Boston."

Garrett, a police captain, was declared in the Warner report to have obtained his pension fraudulently. The report also cited extensive graft.

Teachers Dry, Lawyers Wet In Special Digest Polls

Preachers 57 Per Cent for Enforcement, While Doctors Show Plurality for Repeal.

The school teachers of America are the dryest and the lawyers are the wettest professional groups in America, according to the return of the Literary Digest's special classified polls, as published in May 3 issue of the magazine.

The clergy of the entire county vote strongly for enforcement of the 18th amendment, although over 34 per cent of this group favor a repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act, according to the votes received in this supplementary poll.

The bankers vote 34,518 for repeal and 35,210 for enforcement, with the balance of 15,096 voting for modification.

Practicallly one-half of the physicians vote for repeal in this poll wrile 30 per cent favor strict enforcement and the other 20 per cent register their opinions for modification.

the special poll of The Literary Digest subscribers the vote of this group for repeal is practically the same ratio as that of the main prohibition poll, but the vote for enforcement is considerably higher while the percentage for modification lags behi d the tabulations in the 20,000,000 ballot poll.

In the poll of nearly 500,000 educators the vote for enforcement is higher, 60 per cent than that of the dryest state in the main poll, Kansas, and the vote for repeal is less than 25 per cent of the educators' total vote.

Over 55 per cent of the votes in the lawyers' poll are for repeal while the returns for enforcement are under 30 per cent.

The Literary Digest states they have augmented their huge nation-wide poll with these six supplementary polls of the bankers, clergy, educators, lawyers, physicians, and Literary Digest subscribers because these special classes touch the national life in six vital and different ways.

No returns on the main poll are announced this week, the current issue being devoted exclusively to the classified returns which total nearly one million votes.

A noticeable trend in these extra polls, which were conducted somewhat later than the main poll, is the heavy decrease in the vote for modification.

"Bankers," the Literary Digest states editorially, "are interested in keeping America prosperous. Their expert fingers are on the business pulse of every city, town and village, every line of trade and industry.

"When they vote, they vote for good times as against hard times, and, curiously enough, we find practically the same number voting for enforcement and for repeal, 35,210 for the one and 34,518 for the other, with 15,096 taking the middle ground for modification.

All Sects.

"The clergy, on the other hand, are concerned over our spiritual welfare. All faiths and all creeds are represented in our poll, and all are deeply anxious over this perplexing problem.

"Out of 116,235 clergymen to whom ballots were sent, we find 26,963 voting for enforcement, 3,864 for modification, and 15,912 for repeal. Thus a clear majority are for enforcement.

"When we scan the figures in the table, state by state, however, we find the bone-drys in the minority in some places, and actua majorities for repeal in the District of Columbia, Louisiana, Nevada, New York, and Wisconsin. This at least shows the complexity of the great wet and dry enigma.

"Then we have the champion dry voters, the educators. Of this class, 490,895 were supplied with ballots. We have chosen the well-known efficient and long-suffering schoolmistress to represent the teachers, but this group also includes thousands of men, school principals, c lle_e professors and presidents, and large numbers of men teachers in all the grades.

"The teachers are faced every day with the vital problem of our young people, which flames out in the news columns all too often, and here we have their votes to give us their judgment on what is to be done about it.

"The educators cast 95,422 ballots for enforcement, 22,705 for modification, and 38,956 for repeal. Connecticut and New York stand out as the only two states where the teachers cast more votes for repeal than for enforcement.

"The lawyers should surely have a chance to voice their views here, as it is a question of law-making, law-breaking, and law-enforcement.

Judges Included.

"Judges, too, are included in this group, so here we have a class who speak with peculiar authority.

"The lawyers evidently differ sharply with the clergy and the teachers, for they show a clear majority for repeal. They vote 18,101 for enforcement, 9,743 for modification, and 34,886 for repal, the only one of the six groups to show a clear majority for repeal.

"The states where their enforcement vote tops repeal can be counted on the fingers. The number of ballots sent to lawyers was 132,489.

"Nearly a majority for repeal is returned by the physicians, who come forward with 19,956 for enforcement, 13,568 for modification, and 32,235 for repeal, out of a total of 154,670 ballots sent out.

"The physician knows us in a way different from any of the other classes here, and he sees the prohibition problem as it affects our health and, indeed, often our very lives. Here, too, the fingers suffice to count the states where the medical advisers favor enforcement as against repeal.

"A splendid percentage of response comes from our loyal family of Digest subscribers. True, the other five classes respond grandly, returning from 31.46 to 46.83 per cent of the ballots sent out—returns almost unprecedented in such polls, and showing the great interest in this vote.

Subscribers' Vote.

"But the Digest subscribers ran early ahead of them all, and returned 570,656 out of a total of 1,023,621 ballots sent to them, or 55.7 per cent. This poll was confined to our mail subscribers in the 48 states, and did not reach Canada or include any of our overseas or news-stand circulation.

"More are still coming in, but the 'stream had to be halted, checked, and counted to some point, and these are the figures to date. What is known as 'reader interest' seems to stand at a high level here.

"In this poll subscribers the percentage for repeal, 41.23, is very similar to the corresponding percentage in the general poll, but the percentage for enforcement, 39.41, is considerably higher, and the percentage for modification, 19.36, is considerably lower.

"The returns by states are well worth careful study. It is only due to our Digest family to say that they are universally recognized as a group of especially alert and intelligent people, whose judgment on any question is well worth listening to, and their vote here is fully as significant as that of the other groups.

"And it is perhaps a symbol of the Digest's historic impartiality that the vote of our subscribers is almost as evenly balanced at that of the bankers,. The figures are: enforcement, 224,921; modification, 110,465; repeal, 235,270."

Seven pages in the current Literary Digest are devoted to vigorous partizan letters from doctors who give widely varying views on the subject of prohibition.

Dainty little Charlotte Ryan, pupil of the Semon-White School of Dancing, demonstrates her latest lesson to Lucrezia Bori, famous soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Small as she is, Miss Ryan spoke to the world-famous diva just as one artist to another and promised, in return for the admiration of the songstress, to attend the performance of "La Boheme" Saturday afternoon and applaud every aria Bori, in the character of Mimi, sings.

Ballots in The Constitution's prohi poll Friday reached a new high total for a single day, so many votes being received that they could not all be checked in time to be included in the totals published today. Added clerical forces, however, will be on the job this morning so that all ballots will be cleared up in time for the last figures to appear in Sunday's Constitution.

Interesting figures from the Literary Digest poll were released for publication Friday, giving the results of that poll as to professions.

These figures showed that of 573 clergymen voting in Georgia, 54 voted for repeal, 16 for modification and 503 for enforcement.

Out of 898 physicians voting, 303 were for enforcement, 222 for modification and 373 for repeal. 1,033 lawyers voted, out of which number 379 voted for enforcement, 220 for modification and 434 for repeal.

Votes were received from 1,324 Georgia bankers, 725 being for enforcement, 243 for modification and 356 for repeal. Of 1,112 educators voting, 741 were for enforcement, 177 for modification and 194 for repeal.

Totals for the entire country under their various classifications are as follows: Bankers—enforcement, 35,210; modification, 15,096, and repeal. 34,518. Clergy—enforcement, 26,863; modification 3,864, and repeal, 15,912. Educators—enforcement, 95,422; modification, 22,705, and repeal, 38,956. Lawyers—enforcement, 18,101; modification, 9,743, and repeal, 34,886. Physicians—enforcement, 19,956; modification, 13,568, and repeal, 32,235.

PROBE UNCOVERS ATTACK ON HOOVER

people who regard Volsteadism as an ignoble failure which deserves to be execrated and scoffed at by all who are devoted to the constitution."

White House officials asked to comment said they did not think Mr. Hoover wished to take any notice of the attack.

Stayton himself in a letter to Herbert L. Clarke, of Philadelphia, dated March 19, 1929, said from what he heard, Mr. Hoover has made up his mind drys will scratch men who do not do "lip-service" to their cause, while "he can get votes from the wets without espousing their cause." Therefore, Stayton said, "as a matter of vote-getting," Mr. Hoover took the dry side. "If he were sincerely a dry, Stayton commented, "one might hope to convince him by argument or statement of facts, but as I know he is not at heart a dry, I must approach the conclusion that he is a dry because of the prospective profit in votes, and nothing that has to do with right or wrong or with facts will make any impression upon him."

Stayton Excused.

Stayton, whose forthright letters have provided sensations through their bandying of the names of the president and his cabinet for two days, was excused by the committee, which appeared relieved to be finished with him. An even more ticklish task confronts the committee Tuesday, when it opens its inquiry of the activities of the Anti-Saloon league, probably with Superintendent Scott McBride in the chair.

From the files of Stayton's organization, the committee pulled other interesting documents which they did not put in the record—in line with that famous report on some congressmen whose appetite for liquor disagreed with their official stands on the prohibition question.

They made public, however, several slips of paper, cabalistically marked with words like, "champ," "verm," "gin" and "liquor," with figures and amounts, which looked suspiciously like and were diagnosed by the committee members as bills for liquor. The most imposing was a bill for $76.50, and it was this that aroused Senator Blaine's curiosity.

Stayton identified correspondence he had with former Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, inviting him to speak at a Baltimore dinner April 13, 1928. Blaine wanted to know if the liquor was for this dinner or for another dinner "prior to June 20," at which a president nominee was entertained. Stayton, who was ill and did not attend the Wadsworth dinner, did not know, but he was certain that his association has purchased no liquor.

"I have no personal knowledge," Stayton said of the dinner.

Stayton and his correspondence together also disclosed that Lincoln C. Andrews, treasury prohibition chief several years ago, called on him to line up wets for a medicinal liquor bill which Andrews was trying to get passed. Stayton co-operated in this venture, but on no other dry laws, he said.

Other correspondence disclosed an attempt by the anti-prohibition organization to assure the appointment of C. W. W. Schantz as superintendent of schools at Wilmington, Del., with the aid of Irenee E. DuPont.

Another letter from W. Scott Prescott, a Nevada official of the organization, told of reports that "important Californians, including Senator Hiram Johnson, headed by the McClatchies, owners of the Sacramento Bee" are trying to form a third political party.

HOOVER ASKS MORE STUDY FUNDS.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—President Hoover asked congress today to provide an additional $250,000 for the law enforcement commission to continue its inquiry into the problem "of enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States together with the enforcement of other laws."

Last year when the law enforcement commission was set up by the president, congress allotted $250,000 for its work. Director Roop, of the budget bureau, said in submitting the new estimate that only about $75,000 would remain of this appropriation at the end of the current fiscal year. The additional fund would be for the fiscal year, 1931.

The commission thus far has submitted to congress a preliminary report recommending numerous measure to strengthen prohibition enforcement.

Among the recommendations was the transfer of the prohibition bureau to the justice department, relief of congestion in federal courts, a unified border patrol, increased prison facilities, and a stronger padlock law. The house already has passed the transfer measure and action is expected in the senate before the end of the session.

President Hoover only this week urged congress to act on recommendations, and the justice department made known plans to co-operate with state and municipal authorities in law enforcement, particularly in their efforts to wipe out gangster rings in the larger cities.

In another supplemental estimate to congress today, the chief executive requested $1,002,860 for construction work at army posts to be taken over by the justice department to house 1,700 federal prisoners, in an effort to relieve crowded conditions in the government's penitentaries.

Under the plan, federal prisoners are to be placed at Fort Bragg, N. C.; Fort Riley, Kas.; Alderson, W. Va.; Camp Meade, Md.; Camp Lee, Va., and one post to be selected in each, Idaho and Arizona.

The over-crowded conditions in the federal penitentaries has resulted in a $7,000,000 prison construction program which already has been approved by the house, but is awaiting action in the senate. It would authorize two penitentaries and a hospital for mental delinquents.

Many of his colleagues in the Georgia delegation, as well as democratic members from the south generally, or those who are familiar with the pressure brought on him to seek the governorship have sought to discourage him by pointing out the position of advantage he would hold in the next house in the event the congressional elections of this fall should return a democratic majority, as many are freely predicting. In such a contingency it is generally accepted that Mr. Crisp would loom as a strong contender for either the speakership or the majority leadership. As one of the high ranking members of the important ways and means committee, he has been acting as minority leader during the tariff bill conference report of the past few days, because of the illness of Minority Leader Garner, of Texas.

The extended speech of Mr. Crisp on the floor Thursday, in which he delivered one of the most vigorous attacks on the new tariff measure heard this session, was made at the direction of Minority Leader Garner, who had asked him to present the democratic side of the long standing question.

Not only because of the recognized position he occupies as one of the leading parliamentarians of the house, but because his father before him, the late Representative Charles F. Crisp, was speaker during the Cleveland administration, friends of the Georgia congressman are anxious to see him elevated to the speaker's dais. It is an honor deserved by both him and the state of Georgia, they assert.

Representative Crisp was first elected to congress from the Americus district to fill the unexpired term of his father in the late '90s. Thereafter he was judge of the city court of Americus for a period of 10 years, resigning to accept the position of parliamentarian of the lower house of congress in 1911 under Speaker Champ Clark. Subsequently he was again elected to congress. He also served as parliamentarian of the democratic national convention held at Baltimore in 1912, which saw the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for president and the advent of the first democratic national administration since Cleveland's time.

President Harding picked him out for signal honors during his administration by selecting him as a democratic member of the World War debt funding commission, adjusting obligations aggregating $22,000,000,000 owed the United States by foreign governments. President Hoover, then secretary of commerce; Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, along with Senator Smoot, of Utah, were other members of the commission with him.

Confronted with the information of the activities of his friends and well-wishers, Representative Crisp today was frank to admit that overtures have been made to him to enter the race but declined to say anything to suggest the thought that he might run.

LAUGHTER PRINCIPAL IDEA IN "GOLDEN CALF"

Are you crying for laughs? Then see and hear El Brendel and Marjorie White in "Her Golden Calf," which will be shown for the last four times at the Fox theater today and tonight. Sue Carol and Jack Mulhall are cast in the leading roles, but all who have seen it claim that Brendel literally steals the picture.

"Her Golden Calf" rotates around Jack Mulhall's attempt, as a commercial artist, to find a girl model with a perfect pair of legs. He advertises for such a girl and in response is confronted with several hundred pairs of shapely lower limbs to be measured. El Brendel assists in the measuring—and thereby hangs many a laugh.

RIO RITA SETS RECORD AT CAMEO BOX OFFICE

New box office records were rung up at the Cameo theater the first four days of this week on "Rio Rita," the all-talking, singing drama of the Mexican borderland. Many patrons declared their intention of seeing "Rio Rita" again Saturday, so carried away have they been by the wonderful entertainment.

"IT NEVER RAINS" TWICE TODAY AT ERLANGER

Two performances today will bring to a close a successful week's run of "It Never Rains," clever comedy of domestic life in California, which has been presented to the delight of large audiences by the Erlanger Theater Players. There will be a bargain matinee today at 2:30 o'clock as well as the usual night performance at 8:30 o'clock.

Interest among local theatergoers is exceptionally keen in the remarkable production of "Smilin' Through," which will be given by the players next week. This vehicle will introduce to Atlanta a new leading lady in the person of Miss Margaret Brayton. That she will instantly win her way to the hearts of Atlanta playgoers is confidently predicted by all who have seen her or witnessed a rehearsal of "Smilin' Through."

Mr. Hodgson, who celebrated his 75th birthday yesterday, had appeared in good health today and attended the religious welfare conference in session at the University of Georgia this morning before going to the courthouse.

A graduate of the university in the class of 1875, Mr. Hodgson was engaged in various business enterprises here for many years. He was a member of the King-Hodgson Company, large grocery concern, and vice president of the Southern Manufacturing Company, one of the leading textile mills in the state. He also served as judge of the recorder's court of Athens.

Mr. Hodgson is survived by his widow; six children, Hugh L. Hodgson, Atlanta and Athens, head of the music department of the University of Georgia; Mrs. John B. Gamble, Athens; Mrs. Merkle Jacobson, Philadelphia; Clifford L. Hodgson, Boston; Miss Edith Hodgson and Ralph Hodgson, both of Athens, and three brothers, Francis M. and George T. JOINT EXERCISES HELD IN JACKSON

JACKSON, Ga., May 2.—What is believed to be the first union commencement exercises in Georgia were held by the schools of Butts county Friday night.

A dinner was given at 6 o'clock with members of the board of education, principals of all schools, heads of civic organizations and prominent visitors in attendance.

The commencement exercises were held later in the courthouse. Addresses were made by Dr. M. L. Duggan, state school superintendent; W. L. Huddleston, president of the board of education, and Jack Dempsey, county school superintendent.

Certificates were awarded graduates of all county schools by Dr. Duggan. Previous to this, commencement program was held for primary and intermediate grades.

Ex-Sheriff Guilty Of Embezzlement

JESUP, Ga., May 2.—(AP)—J. O. Mattox, former sheriff of Wayne county, was under conviction today on a charge of embezzling county funds. Mattox was convicted yesterday and the jury recommended that he be sentenced as for a misdemeanor.

It recommended a fixed term of not less than two nor more than three years on the chaingang. Sentence was withheld until Saturday. A grand jury last year charged Mattox with a shortage of approximately $5,000.

Georgian's Body Found in River

STATESBORO, Ga., May 2.—The body of Britt Joyner, who disappeared last December with Algie Campbell, when the two went fishing in the Ogeechee river near their homes, was found late Thursday afternoon by parties going down the river in a boat. The body of Campbell was found 30 days after the two men disappeared by county police. The body of Joyner has been in the water since and had evidently lodged in a bush 50 yards from where Campbell was found.

At the time of the disappearance their mule, buggy and caps were found on the bank and the boat was found down the river.

BERRY STUDENTS ISSUE AUTHOLOGY OF VERSE

MT. BERRY, Ga., May 2.—"The Reveille," anthology of verse written by students of the Junior High at Berry schools, has been issued by the Frand L. Stanton Journalistic Club.

The volume is one of real interest, varying from colorful verse on home and the mountains to discussions of ideals. For good measure were thrown in a number of pithy short bits revealing humor side by side with more idealized beauty.

SPIRIT OF RELIGION CALLED EVERLASTING

Would Survive Death of Theologians, Burning of Theologies, Says Dr. Brown.

ATHENS, Ga., May 2.—(AP)—Dr. Charles R. Brown, venerable dean emeritus of the Yale Divinity school, told the sixth annual religious welfare conference here Friday that teachings of the scriptures are everlasting and will not be outgrown by a changing world. He addressed pastors and parents of students of the University of Georgia, where the conference was held, and faculty members and friends of the institution who attended the meeting.

Dr. Brown spoke on "What It Means to be a Christian," and said a Christian is "any one who stands before Jesus Christ in reverent, obedient trust and in heartfelt devotion, striving to live in the spirit and after the method of the Master, no matter to what church he belongs and no matter if his creed is long and elaborate or brief and simple."

"Religion is life—it is the soul of man," Dr. Brown said. "The study of theology is one thing and the life of the spirit is quite another. If all the books on theology were burned up and if all the theologians should die, millions of plain people would go right on living by love of God in their hearts and showing that love by kindly service to their fellow beings.

"I remember reading a statement written by your Chancellor Snelling several years ago when speaking of the value of instruction in the history and literature of religion he said: 'The experience of the human race is the most important thing affecting its life and is every day worthy of study.' I agree with him for no other simple interest can be named which has entered so widely and so powerfully into renewal and shaping of man's inner life as that sense of fellowship between these finite spirits of ours and the spirit who is above all, through all and in us all.

"Religion in its broadest sense is simply the personal bearing toward a being considered divine and expression of that bearing by conduct and worship."

Chancellor Charles M. Snelling presided at today's sessions. Delegates to the conference were entertained at a reception late today.

Mrs. Kelley Thursday asked that the Federal Farm Land bank, of Columbia, S. C., be enjoined from selling the property. A jury found a verdict in favor of the bank and sustained the validity of the loan papers.

Before You Advertise, You Analyze

...and this new book of facts will aid you appreciably

Is it advisable to use three, or two, or only one newspaper to adequately cover the Atlanta market? . . . Why should this matter of "circulation duplication" be a question of personal estimating? . . . Isn't it possible to largely eliminate "guesswork" in the buying of newspaper advertising space? . . . Where are the real facts?

A few weeks ago, The Constitution decided TO GET THOSE FACTS, from the readers themselves. Uncolored, unbiased, convincing conclusions. They are all embodied in the free booklet, "Just What Is the Circulation Duplication in Atlanta?" . . . You should have a copy, if you advertise---and analyze.

Did you know, for instance, that The Constitution has 20,817 EXCLUSIVE home-delivered circulation in the City of Atlanta---families that you do not reach with your advertising message, unless it appears in the columns of The Constitution? . . .

Did you know, moreover, that through The Constitution ALONE the advertiser can reach 49,000 of the 69,000 homes in Atlanta that can be reached by a newspaper?

WILKINS DETAILS EXHIBITION PLANS

Tells Scientists of Sub He Will Use at North Pole.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—His plans for a submarine trip through the top of the world to seek the meteorological secrets of the polar sea were unfolded today by Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous arctic explorer, to the American Geophysical Union.

Dr. H. U. Sverdrup, noted Norwegian oceanographer, joined other scientists at the meeting in agreeing that the projected undertaking was feasible.

Leaving Spitzbergen in July, 1931, in a specially equipped submarine, Sir Hubert plans to go through the north pole to Alaska, about 2,000 miles away. The trip is expected to last two months. Not only will meteorological and magnetic observations be attempted in places where they never have been recorded before, Sir Hubert said, but efforts will be made to find a permanent base for observations some 700 miles northeast of Point Barrow.

Use of the submarine, he explained, is the only means for obtaining the information as attempts by surface vessels and airplanes have proved futile.

Both the season and special mechanical features of the submarine combine to make the trip safe, he said. During the summer months, it was explained, there are numerous patches of open water through which the submarine can come up about every 25 miles for surface observations.

The 115-foot vessel, however, will have battery strength to run 125 miles without replenishing. In addition, it will carry, Sir Hubert pointed out, equipment for use in bringing it through the ice should the need arise.

The submarine will be topped with a flexible trolly attached to graze the ice above as it moves along, forcing the ship to the surface, Sir Hubert explained, upon its reaching thin ice.

Should the vessel get caught under ice, he said electrically driven drills capable of indefinite extension, revolving saws, a pressure apparatus for forcing the core from the drilled ice, a sleeve with hot electrical points, and chemicals to melt ice, would be used.

Youngstown Steel Hits at Minority

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange today was notified by the management of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company that the minority stock which opposed merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube with Bethlehem Steel Corporation had been suspended from transfer.

The effect of the order was to render practically non-negotiable some 330,000 Youngstown Sheet & Tube shares held by Cyrus S. Eaton, Otis & Co., and other minority stockholders.

It was said in Wall Street circles that the order created a situation unique in corporate annals. Holders of the shares charged that not only would trading be hampered in the "dissenting stock," but that such shares would be affected if used for collateral. Traders expected that the stock exchange would seek an immediate readjustment for the relief of the stockholders affected.

The stoppage of transfer of dissenting stock followed demands of the objecting minority for a "fair cash value instead of Bethlehem stock," an alternative to which they were entitled under Ohio laws. To this demand Bethlehem Steel officials responded with an offer of $110 a share, a value considerably below the market price. The minority in turn asked $180 to $230 per share for their holdings.

Auto Crash Victim In Serious Condition

Roy Vansant, senior at Douglasville High school, who was injured in an automobile accident Thursday night when returning to his home from a class picnic, Friday night was reported to be in a serious condition at Grady hospital. His left side was paralyzed and he suffered a possible fracture of the skull.

Two others were injured in the same accident, but at a private hospital where they were taken for treatment their hurts were pronounced as not serious. They also were members of the senior class of the Douglasville school—James Dorris and John Foster. The accident occurred when a roadster, carrying five persons, hit a bump in the road and overturned.

Committee Moves To Prevent Rabies

Drastic action to combat the spread of rabies in Atlanta and Fulton county was urged Friday by the sanitary committee of council on recommendation of Dr. John P. Kennedy, city health officer.

Following Dr. Kennedy's suggestion, the committee approved a proposal to force all owners of dogs in Atlanta to have them vaccinated before dog licenses can be obtained.

The present law is that license tags must be obtained for dogs, and the amendment which would be offered to protect Atlantans from the canines, is that no license can be issued without a certificate showing that the dog has been innoculated.

A total of 452 Atlantans are now under treatment or were since the first of April. This is the worst outbreak of rabies in this county in history, according to leading physicians.

Recommendations of the sanitary committee will go to council Monday for approval of that body.

Conference Held On Mathematics

Teachers interested in mathematics met at Georgia Tech here Friday with the southeastern section of the American Mathematical Association for a two-day convention. Professor Morton, of Tech, president of the association, presided.

The first day's program included discussions of mathematics and methods of teachers by Professor H. H. Caldwell, Georgia Tech; Professor Floyd Field, Georgia Tech; Professor H. O. Smith, Boys' High, Atlanta, and Professor Wheaton Williams, Decatur High school.

Delegates were entertained at a dinner at night.

Today's sessions will be of a more technical nature and addresses will be made by Dean G. C. White, of Emory University; Professor J. B. Coleman, of the University of South Carolina; Professor G. R. C. Miles, of Duke University; Miss Mary Moore, of Girls' High school, and Professor D. Rumble, of Emory.

Professor Messick, of Emory University, is vice president of the association, and Prof W. W. Rankin, Duke University, is secretary.

'New Moon' Will Be Next Tibbett Picture; Grace Moore Will Be His Leading Lady

Lawrence Tibbett, famous baritone star both of the Metropolitan Opera Company, the concert platform and the talking stage, will make "New Moon," as his next talking and singing picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, he informed a group of newspapermen and picture officials Friday afternoon. His leading lady for the new picture will be Grace Moore, of Nashville, herself a well-known Metropolitan artist.

Mr. Tibbett met newspapermen, southeastern representatives of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and officials of Loew's, Inc., who present his pictures in this territory, at the Capitol theater Friday afternoon. He had promised to make the first announcement as to his future plans at that time.

After the close of the Atlanta opera season the great American baritone has two or three concert engagements to fill, but expects to reach Hollywood by the sixteenth of this month. He will then stay there, making two or three pictures, for the following 25 weeks, and is looking forward to the time as a rest.

"It will be the longest time I've stayed in one place for some years," he said Friday. "And I'm eagerly anticipating the long series of evenings in my own home with my own family."

The news that Grace Moore is going to play with Mr. Tibbett came as a distinct surprise. No intimation of the identity of his new leading woman has been made anywhere before.

"The New Moon," selected as the vehicle for the Tibbett-Moore combination, was one of the most successful operettas of the last few years. It has many popular song numbers in the score, including "Lover, Come Back to Me."

Following this picture Mr. Tibbett will make "The Volga Boat Song" and "Marie," though he is as yet uncertain which will come first.

Emory Cadets To Present Arms Last Time Tuesday

:: ATHLETIC SYSTEM TO REPLACE DRILLS ::

BY WILLIAM L. WOODRUFF.

Some of the sentiment so well expressed in Alphonse Daudet's classical French, story, "La Derniere Classe," will be re-enacted on the battalion formation field of the Emory University military department, at 4 o'clock next Tuesday.

Numerous English translations of "The Last Class" have impressed it upon the minds of Americans, and especially young Americans who in their days of plodding through grammar school readers are told of how, after the Franco-Prussian war, the Germans ordered the teaching of French to cease in the annexed territories. The German language was to be substituted. And in that last French lesson, the old professor's pupils for the last time were drilled in the vernacular of a language that for generations their ancestors had been taught in almost the same manner. We may well picture the sorrow in the old professor's heart, as for the last time he admonished his pupils by rapping on the table and exclaiming: "Un peu de silence!"

The story of the Emory battalion dates back for over a decade. Americans, emerging from the World War with a determination to have at least enough officers to command troops in the case of another major emergency, established in the colleges and universities of the nation Reserve Officers' Training Corps units, more frequently designated as R. O. T. C. units.

Emory was among the first to receive sanction from the war department and the battalion there was installed in 1919. Since 1919, the Emory cadets have assembled twice each week, in addition to their other military classes, and have heeded to the commands, "Pass in review!" and "Eyes right!" Twice each week they have come to "Present arms," and stood with perfect immobility while the strains of the national anthem were sounded. For 11 years, the Emory unit has sent its share of officers into the United States army reserve.

But now all of this is to go. Only once more will the Emory cadets pass in review. Only once more will they execute eyes right, as they pass the stand of the reviewing officers. Only once more will they present arms to the flag of their nation. The Emory cadet corps is to be dissolved to make way for a modernized system of physical education which the administration of the university is installing at the beginning of the next school year.

On next Tuesday at the accustomed hour, assembly call will be sounded for the last time. And as the hour nears its end, for the first time in the 11 years of the Emory unit's existence, another bugle call will be sounded. It will be the call that signifies the end in all military assemblages. It will be the same that is sounded as the last call of the day at the army posts. As the hour draws to an end on the Emory drill field next Tuesday, Taps will be sounded for the first and the last time.

And perhaps as the cadets turn in their rifles, someone will remark in the words of Alphonse Daudet, "C'est fini. . . .".

Tired of School Asserts Fincher, Found in Mobile

Relatives here have received word that Julian Fincher, 17, of Decatur, who disappeared from the fourth district A. and M. school at Carrollton, Ga., last week, has been found in Mobile, Ala.

A telegram to Mrs. Ida Fincher, mother of the youth, and to his aunt, Mrs. B. F. Burnette, from the chief of police at Mobile, said the boy had been taken in charge by officers there.

Young Fincher disappeared from the school a day before he was to have been graduated with high honors.

TIRED OF SCHOOL FINCHER DECLARES.

MOBILE, Ala., May 2.—(AP)—Julian Fincher, 17-year-old student at the Agricultural and Mechanical school of Carrollton, Ga., who was picked up by Mobile police Thursday after he had disappeared from school last week, said he had run away on account of becoming tired of school.

The boy was in the city for nearly a day before being picked up by police. He said he had $27 when leaving school and hitch-hiked from there to Mobile. He is being held here pending receipt of a communication from his relatives.

Facilities Improved At Two State Parks

The state parks at Neel Gap, on the Appalachian Scenic highway in north Georgia, and at Indian Springs, in central Georgia, are now open to the public and are provided with increased facilities for camping and tourist comfort, it was announced Friday by B. M. Lufburrow, state forester.

The wooded area at Indian Springs is being landscaped, with new flower beds and shrubs rapidly transforming the grounds into a place of beauty, Mr. Lufburrow said. Metal signs giving both the scientific and common names of trees are being set up.

At the Vogel Forest park at Neel Gap running water has been provided, along with more extensive picnic accommodations and overnight camp grounds. Parking space for automobiles has been enlarged and trails leading to the top of Blood mountain, where the American Legion memorial is to be erected, put in order.

Mr. Lufburrow called attention to the fact that shrubs and flowers in the parks are protected by law and warned against their destruction, particularly of azalea and dogwood blooms.

Barnett Loses Office As Carpenters Rule

One month and two days after he took charge, J. W. Barnett, state highway board chairman, Thursday was forced from the executive office of the road-building department.

The word "forced" is used advisedly, in a literal sense, and is in no sense figurative. Captain Barnett, as he is familiarly called, left hurriedly and against his wishes.

The occasion of his departure was the arrival of carpenters, masons and other workmen in the sanctum sanctorum of the highway department in the course of their renovation of the state capitol.

Captain Barnett spent the time in the ante-room, dejectedly staring at mortar and brick dust that covered every chair and desk in the room. "I want those fellows to hurry up. Somebody else wants to work, too. And if they don't get out soon someone besides myself is going to be run out of that office," he said.

LILA JIMERSON ASKS NEW MURDER TRIAL

Seneca Indian Will Tempt Death Rather Than Serve Life.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 2.—(UN) Lila Jimerson elected today to run the risk of death in the electric chair, a possibility she seemingly avoided several weeks ago by a plea of guilty to the charge of murder in the second degree.

The Indian woman today withdrew this plea and now must face trial again as the alleged instigator of the slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand and if in the judgment of her peers she is guilty of first degree murder she must pay with her life. Had she stood by the earlier plea, entered while she was a patient in City hospital undergoing treatment for tuberculosis, she would have spent from 20 years to life in prison with a possibility of parole.

District Court Judge Thorn consented to the withdrawal of the plea after Miss Jimerson's attorneys had claimed the hospital hearing was invalid.

James S. McGovern and Thomas F. Rogers appeared as new counsel for Miss Jimerson. They said they would oppose an immediate retrial.

Society Hears 'Il Trovatore' At Auditorium

Transported to picturesque Biscay and Aragon, while the record of time rolled back to the fifteenth century, fashionable members of society listened with enthralled attention last evening to that old favorite among the list of operas, Verdi's "Il Trovatore." The opera was sung in Italian by the Metropolitan Opéra Company at the auditorium, with Tulio Serafin conducting, and as befits a tragic work, "Il Trovatore" opens in an atmosphere of romance and mystery. The tuneful opera was rendered in wonderful style, with such familiar airs as "The Anvil Chorus," the famous duet, "Miserere," better known as "I Have Sighed to Rest Me," so gloriously sung by Rosa Ponselle and Martinelli, as was the duet, "Home to Our Mountains," enchantingly rendered by Julia Claussen and Martinelli.

The haunting, lovely music, with its fifteenth century setting, the camp of the gypsies, the prison scene, the death scene and the melody of the songbirds held the vast audience spellbound. Minnie Egener, Giuseppe Danise, Pavel Ludikar, Giordano Paltrinieri and Alfredo Gandolfi completed the excellent cast, and the colorful and incidental gypsy dances were executed by Rita De Leporte, Jessie Rogge and the corps de ballet.

The table, seating 24 guests, was festive with its bowls and vases of the pastel-shaded blossoms, and the soft glow of tall tapers was reflected in gleaming silver and delicate crystal. An elegant service of green china, more than 150 years old, added luster and a touch of splendor seldom achieved in this modern age.

Mrs. Little was charmingly gowned in a formal creation of white glittering with rhinestones and Mrs. Britten wore a gown of nile green lace embroidered in silver, over green crepe.

Matinee And Tonight's Opera End Season

Universal popularity strikes the operatic keynote this morning, as the closing day in Atlanta's brief, though brilliant, 1930 season of Metropolitan opera dawns. The three operas to be sung today are among the most popular ever produced, including "La Boheme," "I Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Surely no city was ever before blessed with such a galaxy of vocal luminaries to sing for her within the bounds of a single day! The list includes Bori, Gigli, Fleischer, Martinelli, Mario, DeLuca, Tokatyan, Basiola and, at the top of the list in wide renown, America's own baritone, Tibbett.

"La Boheme," that most tuneful of all operas, will be heard this afternoon with "Little Bori" as she is affectionately called by her admirers, singing the role of Mimi and the popular tenor, Gigli, portraying the role of the romantic poet in which he sings that glorious narrative. Millo Picco, Paolo Ananian, Paltrinieri, Giuseppe de Luca, Ezio Pinza, Malatesta, Nannette Guilford and Gandolfi will take the part of the rollicking Bohemians whose powerful voices will add to the colorful setting laid in the Latin quarter of Paris.

As the curtain descends on this evening's performance another link will be forged in the strong chain that binds Atlanta and the opera. All Atlanta recalls that when "Cavalleria Rusticana" was presented here the last time in 1925 it marked the 100th performance of grand opera given in this city. The simple story of Mascagni's opera is told in one act, the music including some of the most beautiful in the entire range of opera, among which is the glorious "Intermezzo." Atlanta will have its first opportunity to hear one of her own southern daughters, Leonoro Corona, of Texas, who is the new soprano of the Metropolitan, and who will make her first appearance here singing the dramatic role of Santuzza in "Cavalleria Rusticana." Numerous solos, duets, trios and chorus after chous feature this beloved opera in which Gladys Swarthout, Armand Tokatyan, Mario Basiola and Philine Falco have leading parts.

"Pagliacci," a favorite opera of Atlanta music lovers, will close the brilliant 1930 season and will be presented by a group of artists whose names have added prestige to Atlanta's grand opera. Tibbett appears in the magnificent prologue, one of the great baritone numbers of opera, and Martinelli will be heard in this great song drama in the tenor role. Queena Mario, whose voice is highly appreciated by Atlanta music lovers, will sing the role of Nedda, her soprano notes being sure to strike a responsive chord upon the heart of the audience in the bird song, one of the most difficult arias in all opera. Angelo Bada and George Cehanovsky will lend their voices to the success of the presentation which is made even more colorful by the Sicilian dances interpreted by the corps de ballet. Vincenzo Belleza, famed for his superb work with the Metropolitan, will conduct all three operas today, which marks another epoch in Atlanta's grand opera history.

Social Events.

The final day of opera will also mark a number of gay social events. Following the matinee at the auditorium, fashionable society will motor to the Biltmore for the annual tea-dance, which will be held on the terrace in the gardens. This is the first opportunity society belles have had to display the new trend in styles of tea gowns and afternoon frocks of filmy, fluffy materials so expressive of springtime. Many of the opera stars who are stopping at the hotel will attend and mingle with the dancing contingent.

The reservation list includes a number of large parties, among them being parties given by James Dasher, Jr., Mrs. C. H. Mayfair, Elsas Philips, Mrs. Harold Cooledge, Mrs. George Hope, Mrs. V. A. Parker, Guy Woolford, Mrs. S. M. Jones and Mrs. V. M. Mintgomery.

Another interesting affair will be the dinner given preceding the presentation of opera this evening by Mrs. Julia Murphy Whitehead at her home, Juanita, on Pace's Ferry road, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Britten, of Washington, D. C., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little.

Jewish Women Plan Picnic on Monday.

The annual meeting of the Council of Jewish Women will be held in the form of a picnic lunch Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the old Stadard Club on Washington street. The members are to bring their own lunches and may form their own parties also. All officers and chairmen of standing committees will make their reports of activities of the year, after which elections of officers for the coming year will be voted upon. The remainder of the afternoon will be given over to social activities.

Junior League Names Officers; Cincinnati Wins Next Meeting

NEW YORK, May 2.—(Special.) Mrs. Robert L. Foreman, Jr., and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., delegates of the Atlanta Junior league at the 10th annual conference of the Junior Leagues of America, which is in session here this week, were the dinner and theater guests of Mrs. Harold Richard, 1060 Fifth avenue, this city, their hostess for the duration of the convention. The party saw the popular Broadway production, "Berkeley Square."

Although the conference has been in session three days discussing the problems which face the Junior league, today was the first opportunity the delegates had of registering their votes on the topics under consideration.

Most important of all resolutions passed today by the conference was one approving the plan to make the league association an international organization. It was voted to form a committee to handle all matters of an international complexion, and the delegates agreed that "the majority of the charter members of each foreign league should be made up of natives of the country in which the city is located."

The association was invited to hold its next meeting in Honolulu, but although this prospect was alluring it was realized that the expense and the inaccessibility was too great, and Cincinnati was chosen as the site of next year's conference.

Following the business meeting of the delegates two officers were elected for next year. Mrs. Robert Sperry, of Waterbury, Conn., treasurer, was elected president, and Mrs. H. H. Armstrong, of Hartford, Conn., was elected treasurer.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

THE NEW NEIGHBORS.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

Who brags of what he thinks he knows
—Danny Meadow Mouse.

Peter Rabbit was much puzzled. All the time that Danny Meadow Mouse had been talking about those new neighbors, whom he didn't like, but liked him, Peter had been looking this way and that way. But look as he would he could see no one, except Danny.

"Who are these new neighbors?" inquired Peter.

Just then there was a shrill cry. It came from somewhere up above. Danny Meadow Mouse seemed to shrink. Yes, sir, he seemed to shrink and actually grow smaller, although of course he didn't. But he did flatten himself so close to the ground and draw himself in so that he seemed to be smaller than he really was. Peter stared at Danny for a moment. It was plain that Danny was a badly frightened Meadow Mouse. As Peter could see nothing to cause such fright, he concluded that it was that shrill cry that had given Danny such a scare.

Again he heard that shrill cry of "Killy! Killy! Killy!" And between the branches of the tree above him he caught a glimpse of a bird. He recognized it at once as Killy the Sparrow Hawk. Killy was circling overhead. Suddenly it popped into Peter's head that Killy might be one of the new neighbors. He looked down at Danny Meadow Mouse. Danny was still crouched there, a picture of fright. Presently the voice of Killy sounded from some distance away. Danny Meadow Mouse drew a long breath. "Do you see anything of Mrs. Killy anywhere?" he inquired in his squeaky little voice.

Peter looked all around, but could see nothing of Killy or Mrs. Killy, and said so.

"Probably she's on the nest," said Danny. "Those are the new neighbors. It is bad enough now. A dozen times a day I have a fright just like the one I had a moment ago. But that is nothing to what it will be when they have a family to hunt for. Nanny and I have got to move before then. We have got to have a little peace in life."

Peter was, of course, all curiosity. "Do you mean that Killy the Sparrow Hawk and Mrs. Killy have a nest around here?" he inquired eagerly.

"I mean just that," replied Danny. "Why they couldn't have picked some other place I don't understand. Here we were, all comfortably settled, and they had to come over here and set up housekeeping. What with those two in the daytime and Spooky the Screech Owl at night, an honest Meadow Mouse hasn't much chance around here. It is a wonder that Nanny and I are alive as it is."

Meanwhile, Peter was looking up through the trees in search of a nest. He couldn't see one. He looked and looked, but he couldn't see a nest anywhere.

"What are you looking for?" inquired Danny when he noticed what Peter was doing.

"You said those Sparrow Hawks had a nest near here," said he, "and I am looking for it. But I don't see a nest anywhere. It ought to be a good-sized nest and I should be able to see it."

Danny stared very hard at Peter. "Do you mean to tell me, Peter Rabbit," said he, "that you have lived around here as long as you have and don't know that Killy the Sparrow Hawk's nest is in a hole in a tree?"

Peter looked quite as foolish as he felt. "Of course I know it," said he, "now that you mention it. It had slipped my mind."

"You said those sparrow hawks had a nest near here," said he.

Mrs. Booth-Clibborn Talks of Diversions

Speaking on "Amusements and Their Relation to Christians" at the Gospel tabernacle Friday night, Mrs. Booth-Clibborn dealt particularly with the stage, screen and dance.

"Naturally, everybody must have diversion," she said. "The question for the Christian is the source from which it comes.

"What is it that I cannot afford to indulge in?" is asked so often among church people.

"Anything and everything that would come between your soul and its God, or that would cause a weaker brother or sister to stumble.

"There are many forms of recreation, golf, tennis, baseball and such things, that are altogether pleasant and wholesome for both body and soul. But the theater, cinema and dance tend only to evil.

"The Christian should measure his amusements by the one standard, 'Can this be done to the glory of God, and will it leave my influence for Christ unhindered?'"

Sunday night the Marechale will deliver her final sermon in Atlanta, with "Life" for her subject.

Tech Auto Wrecks Will Race May 10

Automobiles, or the wraiths of automobiles, none less than four years of age, and all coming under the head of the four cylinder species, will line up in front of the Georgia Tech Y. M. C. A. on Saturday, May 10, for a race that will end at the baseball park in Athens, Ga.—or the repair shop.

The event is being sponsored by the Technique, weekly paper at Georgia Tech, and only student cars will be entered. It is planned to start the cross-country trek promptly at 11 o'clock and the time of arrival has been set down as "indefinite." The first car to arrive, if indeed it does, say the editors of the paper, will receive first prize. The next will be awarded second place. It makes no difference as to the time required—but merely the order in which they arrive at the baseball field.

Already about 25 cars have been entered for the event, and interest is at white heat on the Tech campus. Last year this stunt was staged and out of 30 cars entered, four arrived, flat tires and all. The prizes will consist of a tire, a Tech wall banner, cigarets, accessories for a typical "college car," and other items.

Two Paving Projects Adopted in Decatur

An ordinance for repaving College avenue from Winter to Columbia avenue was adopted but no contracts let. In the second instance contracts were awarded to C. A. Pittman for paving Coventry road from Nelson-Ferry road to the city limits of Decatur.

NEW ORLEANS BEATS ATLANTA IN OPENER, 6-2

That discussion of whether Lloyd's odds of 50 to 1 on Bobby Jones' winning the four major tournaments of the year were fair or not continues to hold a fair share of the verbal spot where the idle solvent gather.

Lloyd's famous insurance firm which has specialized in taking chances since 1688 evidently thought their original price of 50 to 1 too perilous; for they refused to accept $2,500 on the issue at that figure.

Greek George, an unincorporated retired specialist in risks of all sorts, has said to several people that 5 to 1 was plenty, sapiently pointing out that nobody plays golf anyhow but Bobby Jones.

Several daring Atlantans considered 50 to 1 a grand buy and invested or tried to invest at that figure.

SHOULD BE 624 TO 1.

Now comes a new group of thinkers headed by Chick Ridley, himself, in a Ford, and Phil L'Engle in a depot wagon, who says 50 to 1 is ridiculously short.

Chick demonstrates with pencil and paper that the odds should be 624 to 1, at least, on Bobby Jones' winning the British amateur, the British open, the National open and the National amateur.

Chick, sharpening his pencil, says in effect it is a four tournament parlay. He says that for the sake of argument that Bobby would be 4 to 1 to win any one of the events. The odds would be greater for the British amateur and less for the open events but the average would be about 4 to 1 per start.

Whereupon having set out the premises, Chick shows how a four event parlay at 4 to 1 mounts up using a dollar as a basis: 4 to 1 returns $5 on the first tournament; five dollars at 4 to 1 returns $25 on the second; twenty-five dollars at 4 to 1 returns $125 on the third and that amount at 4 to 1 on the fourth event returns $625.

All of which goes to show how much time young men can waste in the course of a meeting on the street corner when they might be discussing literature or political economy.

ANOTHER WASTEFUL DEBATE.

Another equally futile discussion developed in the barber shop yesterday.

It was not "What Is the Matter With the Crackers?"
It was "What WAS the Matter With the Crackers?"

To my certain knowledge it is the first time your correspondent has ever heard baseball fans go farther back than yesterday's results to worry about their ball club.

Evidently the boys were deeply wounded by the miserable start the club made. They are speculating yet. The poor start has been blamed on everything but the eclipse.

The fact that the same Crackers now are winning ball games where once they were stumbling about has everybody baffled.

HOW HE MUST HAVE SUFFERED.

Sir Harry Lauder stood on the deck of the Mauretania and watched members of the Walker cup practicing shots by driving golf balls into the ocean, says a news item.

That should be carried under the head of crime news.

WHAT'S THE WORLD COMING TO?

FOUR CRACKERS CLASS 'B' MEN, MARTIN SAYS

By Ralph McGill.

John D. Martin, president of the Southern league, says the Crackers have four Class "B" men they didn't know they had.

But Rell J. Spiller, with whom Miss Fortune has been boarding for four or five years, refuses to believe that any other member of the Fortune family could call around to see him.

He refuses to believe that Milt Stock, Jimmy Johnston, Lee Meadows and Ivy Wingo are Class "B" men, despite the fact that President Martin says they are.

READS THE PAPER.

Rell J. Spiller awoke and found in The Constitution Friday morning a piece which Mr. Martin had given to the papers regarding that huge jest, the rookie rule, which the Southern Association carries as one of the by-laws.

It said that any man who had been signed by a Southern league club as a bona fide free agent came into the league under the "B" classification.

The league requires that each club carry at last five such players. The Crackers, with 17 men and 4 rookies, a legitimate average, were about to be boarded by two Class "A" pitchers. And they were squirming about trying to find room.

WIRES MARTIN.

With shaking hand Rell J. Spiller wired Mr. Martin saying that he had signed four men as free agents and had classed them as "A" men and would Mr. Martin please tell him whether they were "B" men under the rule.

Whereupon Mr. Martin wired back a copy of the rule as Mr. Spiller had read it in his morning paper. He got that from his carrier for a modest price. He got a copy of it for the cost of two long telegrams to Memphis and return.

The Martin statement read, "It has heretofore been ruled that a bona fide free agent signing with a Southern league club is classified as a 'B' player within the rules."

MISTAKE.

The Cracker business manager refused to believe it. He spent the afternoon going through his files for a copy of the rule and all its amendments. It was not to be found. He held out that he didn't believe it saying that he believed some of the clubs were playing ineligible men and that President Martin had made a mistake.

Not a break has R. J. Spiller had in the baseball racket. They have fined him, taken 14 games from him in the heat of a pennant race, bought his club and refused to pay for it, refused to buy his players at the waver price and signed them later when he had made them free agents. It is no wonder that he refuses to believe has had a break at last. He has been taking them on the chin so long that they had come to feel rather good to him.

STANDS STILL.

Johnny Dobbs will not go ahead working on the basis that the four men named are class "B" men.

"I just can't believe it and I want to be sure," said the Cracker official.

He will take the matter up again before going ahead. The report from the league headquarters came after a request for an investigation of the status of several players by Bob Allen, Little Rock club owner. The case which covers the Atlanta situation was as follows, according to the report issued by Mr. Martin:

SAYS MARTIN.

"The Memphis club replied that Player Frank Brazil was released by Portland at the end of the season of 1928 and was signed as a free agent by the Mempris club about the middle of the 1929 season. It has been heretofore ruled that a bonafide free agent signing with a Southern league club is classified as a 'B' player within the rules. Brazil was therefore a 'B' player during the 1929 season and under the league rule remains a class 'B' player for two seasons. Brazil is therefore correctly classified as a 'B' player for the season of 1930."

And that makes Lee Meadows, Ivy Wingo, Jimmy Johnston and Milt Stock "B" men. They were each free agents when they signed with the Atlanta club.

MORE TODAY.

Some definite announcement is expected today. It will be quite a shock to the rival clubs about the league if the Crackers do get a break. They will likely amend the rule which has already had so many amendments its bristles like a porcupine.

Des Moines Wins Night Ball Game

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 2.—(AP)—Des Moines tonight won the first regularly scheduled night baseball game in a Class A league, defeating Wichita in the inaugural contest of the Western league season here, 13 to 6. Approximately 12,000 persons jammed the park.

Playing conditions were described as comparable to the customary daylight baseball. Fly balls, sailing ninety feeet high, the height of the projectors, were caught without trouble.

The apparent success of the innovation means the culmination of seven years of planning for night baseball by E. L. Keyser, president of the Des Moines club.

And I Don't Mean Perhaps!

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 2.—(AP) Four men, representing as many colleges, remained tonight out of a group of 16 that set out over the difficult West course of the Shades Valley Country Club this morning in quest of the southern conference golf championship.

Those who will go into the semi-finals tomorrow are Sam Perry, Alabama; Jess Rainwater, Tulane; Bill Duckwall, Florida, and Bill Legwen, Georgia. The two winners will fight it out over the 18-hole route tomorrow afternoon for the championship.

Both landed on the last green close to the pin with the 'Gator 1 up and Pritchett missed a chance to carry the match to another hole. Duckwall ran away with Sam Kirkpatrick, of Vanderbilt, in the afternoon round, 7 and 6.

Perry was superior in both driving and putting as he beat out John Oliver, Georgia, in the morning round and a teammate, J. B. Barfield, in the afternoon.

C. W. (Sonny) Butler, of Sewanee, was elected president of the Southern Conference Golf Association, succeeding Sam Perry. Other officers are Ed Vaughn, Alabama, vice president, and Bob Archibald, Florida, secretary-treasurer.

Glazner Gives Atlanta 7 Hits, Keeps Them Scattered.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 2.—"Whitey" Glazner caught back the beating the Crackers gave him over in Atlanta when he pitched the Pelicans to a 6-to-2 victory over them this afternoon at Heinemann Park. The Dobbsmen should have scored but one run off Glazner, another tally being the result of a little napping Glazner did at first base after having made a pretty play to retire a runner.

Larry Gilbert shifted his batting order around a bit, leading off with Mike Powers, putting George Detore in the clean-up position, lifting up Andy Harrington and dropping Eddie Montague down. The new combination did well, even if the lead-off man didn't get used to his new batting position. He will.

KIEFER FALTERS.

Hitting Climax Blethen hard and often, the Pelicans had scored four runs off him in six innings and Johnny Dobbs, desperately anxious to change the situation around, lifted Climax in favor of a pinch-hitter and sent in Joe Kiefer to finish the game. Kiefer finished it, all right, but he didn't stop the Birds by any means.

The Pels got 11 hits off the two Cracker pitchers, but several splendid stops robbed the locals of a couple of more bingles. George Detore continued his streak of hitting games, banging out two fine singles in four times at bat. Bonura and Eichrodt also got two hits each and Ike was robbed of a triple by Center Fielder Walker.

The Crackers jumped off into the lead by starting the run scoring in their third inning. The Birds had threatened in their second but a double play and a close one at third had killed them. Wingo opened Atlanta's third with a single to center and was forced at second by Bletheh, Glazner to Montague. Langford then walked. Sheehan smashed a hot grounder through Bonura's legs, but Andy Harrington made a great recovery of it and threw Sheehan out to Glazner on a great play. "Whitey" was so tickled to have completed the out he forgot about Blethen, and Climax dashed for home, beating Glazner's throw, which was so wild Langford went to third. Stock grounded out to end the round.

LEAD IS SHORT.

The Cracker lead was short-lived. In their half of the third the Pelicans were given a start by a nasty boot turned in by Jimmy Johnston. With one down Glazner hit a grounder which Blethen deflected and which Johnson bobbled. Powers then singled through the box and Harrington, bunting, beat it out and when Stock threw wild to first Glazner scored, and Powers went to third. Eichrodt beat out a hit to third and Mike scored. Detore fanned and Blakesley popped out with two fine scoring chances staring them in the face.

Two mighty triples by Grimes and Johnston tied up the count in Atlanta's fourth, but two were down when Johnston's blow came and he died on first when Wingo flied to right.

The score remained tied then, until the Pels' sixth, which Detore opened with a single. Blakesley sacrificed and Bonura walked. Montague then brought Detore home on a single and Anderson's single scored Bonura.

Barrett hit for Blethen with one down in Atlanta's seventh and singled, but Dumovitch, who ran for him, was forced at second by Langford, and Sheehan popped to first.

GET TO JOE.

The Crackers could do nothing with Glazner the rest of the game and in their eighth the Pelicans got to Joe Kiefer for two runs, an error, a sacrifice hit and two clean hits, accounting for them.

Andy Messenger, a pitcher, joined the Crackers here today and Manager Johnny Dobbs said he may be signed up tomorrow. Dobbs said Pitcher Jack Knight was expected in tomorrow.

By Roy White.

Taking advantage of several errors and hitting consistently in the pinches, Georgia Tech defeated Vanderbilt, 10 to 5, Friday afternoon on the Rose Bowl diamond in the first of a two-game series. The final game will be played at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

In addition to hitting well in the pinches the entire Yellow Jacket team played an excellent fielding game in the early innings, but faltered in the eighth and ninth, when Vanderbilt made four runs in a desperate attempt to overcome a big lead.

Harper, Pullen and Strickland were the Jacket heroes. Harper singled in his first four times at bat, figuring prominently in two scoring sprees, and was robbed of an extra-base clout in the eighth inning when Brown, Vandy center fielder, raced to the fence to make a leaping catch of his hard hit ball.

THREE SAFETIES.

Pullen contributed three safeties to the cause and his theft of two bases in the eighth inning was a neat base-running act. After stealing third base Pullen raced on home to score as Orr threw high over third base. Strickland sent two runners home in the first inning with a double.

Strickland pitched for the Jackets and worked a steady, cool game for the first eight innings, but let up in the ninth long enough for the visitors to score four runs. He gave up a total of 11 hits and four of those came in the ninth. He did not walk a single batter and was given some excellent support in the early innings.

Tech's ability to hit in the pinches accounts for 10 runs being scored off 11 hits. Only six runners were left stranded on the paths.

Brown and the Scheffer brothers were the stars for Vanderbilt. Brown got three in five tries. J. Scheffer contributed a single and double to the cause and C. Scheffer had two singles.

DRAGS AT TIMES.

Despite the sensational fielding plays scattered throughout the game, it was a listless affair at times, and a total of 13 errors were recorded. Vanderbilt made eight and Tech five.

Tech started its attack in the first inning when six runs were shoved across the plate. Roberts, subbing for Pullen, who had not reported for practice, walked to start. Isaacs was safe when Lipe, Vandy catcher, failed to

BEAR ATTACK IS CUT SHORT BY MITCHELL

MACON, Ga., May 2.—(AP)—Pitcher "Hot" Holcomb's wildness in the ninth inning of today's game between Mercer and Oglethorpe nearly cost the Petrels their first loss to a college team this season, for he allowed the Bears to fill the bases, and then walked two men home to make the score read 9 to 7 before Coach Frank Anderson sent Mitchell in to relieve him. Mitchell made Matt force Stapleton out at second to end the hectic inning.

"Baggy" Mallard, Mercer center fielder, was the hitting star of the game, connecting for two triples and a single out of four trips to the plate.

Asa Wall, Petrel right fielder, who will report to Buffalo, of the International league, at the end of the college season, led the slugging for Oglethorpe, getting three singles out of four trips.

Duke's Long String Broken by Violets

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Duke's defense collapsed here today and the southerners were beaten by New York University, 12 to 7, in a free hitting game. It was Duke's first defeat in its last eight games and the third in 18 games this season.

The southerners were way off form, committing nine errors in the field. New York University drove Duffey, Duke starting pitcher, off the mound in the second inning with a six-run assault and continued the barrage against McKeithan and Belue.

Duke outhit the Violets, 14 to 11, but New York University presented an air-tight defense. Bill Clyde came to the rescue of Schmotzer in the sixth inning and stopped the southerners before they became really dangerous.

Speaking of Parity!

Bobby Jones, world's greatest golfer, is on the way to England as captain of the American Walker cup team which will meet the English team for honors. Later on Jones will play in the British open and amateur tournaments. The above is an impression of the American invasion by Joe Parrish, cartoonist for the Nashville Tennessean.

TWO TOURNEYS SLATED TODAY

Atlanta's golf tournaments dwindled down to only two for today, but preparations are being made at a number of clubs for a strenuous season of tournaments to start within the next few weeks, when the summer greens will be opened.

Only Druid Hills and Ansley Park will hold tournaments today. Harry Stephens, at Druid Hills, will conduct another of his particular tournaments where every fifth score will share in the prizes. The medalist will receive the first and every fifth score thereafter will be benefited.

Tommy Wilson at Ansley Park will have a best ball handicap sweepstakes and every pair of players should arrange their partners with handicaps within six of each other. The players will be divided into three classes, with prizes for low gross and low net in each class.

A survey of the 10 golf clubs in Atlanta during the past week revealed that the summer greens are coming along fine and already the greens have been cut several times. The top winter covering was removed two and three weeks ago and with two weeks of growth the Bermuda grass has been cut and is rapidly growing low and close to the ground. Several of the greens are in excellent shape but greenkeepers are giving them plenty of water so that two more weeks of hot sunshine will make them ready for summer play.

Fairbanks Plans To Watch Bobby

ABOARD S. S. MAURETANIA, May 2. — (AP) — Nets were stretched on the boat deck today and members of the Walker cup team practiced golf shots this afternoon.

Captain Bob Jones spent much of the second day out trying to persuade Douglas Fairbanks, the motion picture actor, to play in the British amateur championship.

"It's a cinch to get you into it," said Jones.

"And a cinch to get me out of it," replied Fairbanks. "What I am going over for is not to play golf, but watch you play."

Frink struck out, but Holt continued the good work with a single that scored Terrell. Dawson hit to the pitcher and Holt was forced at second. Strickland scored Dawson with a double to center field.

Dawson's single, Pullen's single and an error accounted for one Tech score in the third. Two more runs were added in the sixth on two singles, two errors and a sacrifice fly. Pullen singled, stole second and third and scored on Orr's wild throw to third for Tech's last run in the eighth inning.

VANDY SCORES.

Singles by Brown and Schwartz scored one run for Vanderbilt in the fourth inning. Two errors and a single filled the bases for the visitors in the eighth, but the pinch hit was lacking and the runners died on the bases.

In the ninth J. Scheffer doubled to start. C. Scheffer singled and J. Scheffer scored. Lipe singled and C. Scheffer raced to third. Cunningham batted for Dethero and forced Lipe at second as C. Scheffer scored. Cunningham went to second on a wild pitch. Orr was safe on Frink's error. Cunningham scored and Orr went to third on Askew's single to center. Brown was safe when Pullen juggled his grounder long enough to let Orr score. Two pop-ups ended the inning.

Junior Colleges Clash at Emory

Junior College Day at Emory University, with local Junior college, Oxford Junior college and Valdosta Junior college entered, is to be featured this morning with track and field events. Tennis matches between the three institutions are also to be played.

S. H. Bridges, Harry Leadingham, Gene Griffin and Allison Adams are to be the Atlanta college's entrants in the tennis meet, while the trackmen to be entered are still undecided. Only freshmen and sophomores are eligible to compete.

The track meet is to be run off on the Emory track during the morning, while the tennis matches will be played on the Dobbs Hall courts.

TECH, GEORGIA MIX ON TRACK AT GRANT FIELD

By Herb Clark.

Tech and Georgia are to have it out again this afternoon.

The perennial rivals, forever matching talent and prowess in any and every competitive line open to young and ambitious collegians, are slated to step, jump, throw and otherwise go through the motions on the track today, with Grant field as the scene of action and 2 o'clock set as the starting time.

And on the track, as on the gridiron, the court, the links, the diamond—even the chess board, probably—the Jackets and the Bulldogs have a mutual lack of love and respect. Sometimes this tradition of lack of respect is in a bad way. The other guy often just makes his opposition respect him. Until this eventually comes to pass, however, the Jackets and the Bulldogs will always believe in themselves and in no other.

Neither team is doped for world-beating performances this year. Both have showed to advantage on occasion, and both have enough capable lads on the roster to insure competition.

In the Southern conference indoor meet at Chapel Hill in March and in the Southern relays at Grant field in April both the Jackets and the Bulldogs took an unselfishly small share of the big prizes. Both did take enough laurels to let the rest of the field know they were in the meet, however, and both won, when they won, with little difficulty.

Individually, there will be Maddox and Young and Sanford, of Georgia, to pop out of the ruck with fan-pleasing flashes. There will be Hamm and Graydon, of Tech, to do the same for the Jackets' side of things.

CORRESPONDENT.

One of the big features of the meet is to be a clash between Graydon and Anderson. Anderson is Georgia's javelin thrower and a sports writer of some note on The Constitution. Graydon best throws overshadow Anderson's performances, but the Bulldog won first place in the relays while Graydon was forced to be content with a second. Graydon went to Philadelphia for the Penn relays last week and bettered his Southern relays' throw to take third place in the big show. Today the pair, like their teams, will be having it out again.

Scoring in the meet is expected to be close, with Tech holding the edge in the sprints, Georgia in the distance events, and with the field events fairly evenly divided.

SMITHIES BEAT BOYS' HIGH, 18-6

Decatur and Commercial Also Winners in Prep League.

Tech High, Decatur and Commercial won their games Friday afternoon in the third round of the last half of the city prep baseball league.

Tech High defeated Boys' High, 18 to 6, to retain leadership of the league. Decatur ran away with University, 22 to 2, in a weird game, and Commercial stopped Marist, 9 to 1, in an upset. Russell and G. M. A. did not play.

Commercial proved the surprise team of the day. The Typists defeated Marist for the second time, after the Beanmen had stopped Boys' High and Tech High. Cook, Typist twirler, was the hero. He gave up only four scattered hits and struck out 12 of the Marist batters.

Marist started with Kunsberg in the box but he was knocked out in the early innings when eight runs were scored. Holt relieved him and held Commercial.

Commercial	260 010 000	9	14	3

Smithies Hold Prep League Lead.

Tech High held to its prep lead with an 18-to-6 victory over Boys' High, their ancient rival. The Smithies started the scoring in the first inning and continued to blast the Hurricane twirlers the rest of the way. Katz, Evers, Grayson and McCalley were victims of Tech High's heavy hitting.

Three home runs, a triple and numerous doubles contributed to the Tech High victory. Pug Boyd, Smithy catcher, hit a home run in the fifth inning with the bases filled. Leary, pinch hitting for Chambers in the seventh, drove one run in with his homer. Morris sent runners in ahead of him in the eighth with a four-base smack and Ball added three runs with a four-base clout in the seventh. Boyd and Ball were the star hitters for Tech High.

With a nine-run lead, Chambers let up in the fifth inning and Boys' High pounded out three runs. Two more were added in the sixth, after which Coach Tolbert sent Jack English to the hill. English stopped the Hurricane without another score.

In a wild game Decatur defeated University, 22 to 2. University school used practically every player as a pitcher in an attempt to check Decatur sluggers.

Thomas, for Decatur, gave U. S. B. only one hit in eight innings while a rookie pitcher gave up three hits and two runs in the ninth inning.

Ansley Park Wins Pro-Amateur Match

Ansley Park and Forrest Hills were winners Friday afternoon in the pro-amateur golf matches. Tommy Wilson and William Knowles at Ansley Park, defeated Jimmy Livingstone and Bob Kingdon, from Ingleside, 4-3, on the Ansley Park course.

The Ansley Park team had the best ball of 67. Ingleside had a 72.

Lanier Reed, with a 75, was low in the Capital City-Forrest Hills matches. Howard Beckett was next with a 77.

Mrs. A. H. Latham, playing on the Ansley Park course Friday afternoon, scored a birdie on the long par-4 hole. It was one of her best rounds.

CHICKS REVENGE.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 2.—Memphis retaliated today for yesterday's defeat at the hands of Chattanooga by defeating the Lookouts, 6 to 2, but as a result of the game Clarence Griffin, Chickasaws' pitcher, will be out of the game possibly a month. A finger on Griffin's left hand was broken when he stoped a hot liner in the first inning. He recovered the ball in time to throw out Gooch at first but it was necessary to take him to a hospital to have the finger set. Four hits and an error figured in Memphis' big inning today, the fourth, when four runs were scored.

BEARS TRIP BARONS.

MOBILE, Ala., May 2.—The Bears staged a batting rally in the sixth inning today at the expense of Ray Francis, left hand hurler and took the first game of the Birmingham series, 8 to 5. The hitting of Russell with a circuit drive with one on the paths and a triple and a single was the big spot of the game. Ludolph started for the Barons and after being hard hit was removed in the sixth for a pinch hitter. Plue hurled the eighth inning for the Barons. McColl went all the way for the Bears and while wild, issuing eight bases on balls, he kept nine hits off him well scattered.

LYONS, CLANCY SHINE.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Ted Lyons and Bud Clancy took the show away from the other players today as the Chicago White Sox opened their eastern tour with a 10-to-1 victory over the tail-end New York Yankees.

Lyons held the Yankees to six hits and kept them well scattered. Clancy, Chicago first baseman, hit two home runs, a triple and a single to drive in six runs. Each homer came while Cissell was on base.

Henry Johnson, Yankee moundsman, was wild, although he struck out eight.

HEAVY HITTING.

CINCINNATI, May 2.—The Cincinnati Reds put on a big burst of hitting in the second inning today and opened their stand against the eastern clubs of the National league by beating the New York Giants, 9 to 8. They made seven runs out of eight hits, among them a double and a triple by Heilmann off Fred Fitzsimmons and Ralph Judd in the one inning.

The Reds touched Judd for two more runs in the third to complete their total, then barely stood off the Giant rallies. New York drove Eppa Rixey from the mound with four runs in the sixth and rallied for two more in the ninth, just missing a tie.

Bill Terry's home run featured the ninth inning stand. There were ten doubles and two triples in the game.

FIRST VICTORY.

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—Bill Clark, Brooklyn lefthander, won his first game of the season today, shutting out the Cardinals in eight of their nine innings while the Robins hammered out an 8 to 4 victory.

The Robins drove Grabowski from the box in the sixth inning as they scored their third and fourth runs and drove Flint Rhem out to get four more in the eighth after the Cards had tied the score at 4-4 in Clark's one bad inning, the sixth. St. Louis bunched five of its ten hits in the one inning.

By Buck Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., May 2.—Georgia's Bulldogs rallied behind the superb pitching of Jimmie Murdock this afternoon and, playing probably the best ball game of their current season, romped home ahead of the Auburn Tigers in the first game of a two-game series. The score was 2-0, the first shutout game Murdock has pitched this year.

Murdock, pitching his last ball game against the Tigers today, since he is finishing his last year as a member of the Bill White team, limited the Tigers to five scattered hits. It was his second win over Auburn this season. Clifford Smith, Auburn hurler, was reached for only four bingles, but lost because his team failed to give him proper support, and because Georgia played a heads-up game.

OUT OF SLUMP.

The Bulldogs came out of a slump they went into during the Oglethorpe series last week, and turned in an almost perfect day afield, the only fly in the ointment being Davenport's error in the ninth. Georgia's outfielders made several great catches of balls that were destined for hits. Two splendid catches by Downes and Hamilton in the ninth pulled Murdock out of a hole after Pate, Tiger shortstop, had gotten on base on an error with none out.

Cliff McGaughey and Riley, Tiger second baseman, were the batting stars of the game. Riley doubled in the eighth, but was left standing on third when the next three men retired in order. McGaughey got two hits in four times at bat. His single in the fifth inning sent Roy Day home from first.

Georgia got over a run in the second inning. After Brick Davenport had led off with a single, Murdock bunted to send Davenport to second and the Georgia second baseman stole third a moment later. Davenport came home when Ed Hamilton grounded out to first.

LAST TALLY.

The other Bulldog tally came over in the fifth inning. Roy Day was safe on a fielder's choice as Captain Harry Gorman went out at second. McGaughey singled to right field and Day came home when Burt, right fielder, muffed the ball, allowing McGaughey to take second. McGaughey took third but died there.

Auburn started what looked like an impromptu rally in the ninth inning. Pate, the first man for the Tigers, was safe at first on an error. Lloyd, Tiger third baseman, lifted one high into center field, but Ed Hamilton went back almost against the fence to grab the ball. Austie Downes made a spectacular running catch of Burt's fly to make it two out with one man on. Riley, Auburn catcher, came to bat. Murdock was in a hole with three balls and two strikes against the Auburn catcher. Bennie Rothstein signalled for a try at Pate, who was about six feet off first, and Murdock threw one to Rothstein, catching Pate flat-footed for the third out.

Coach Fred Sheridan, of the Tigers, will use either Lefty Prim or Buck Carter in the game against the Bulldogs tomorrow. Coach White will probably pitch either Lefty Simpson, Spurgeon Chandler or John Reid.

J. O. Y. CLASS, 1929 CHAMPION, MEETS BAPTISTS

Good Games Slated This Afternoon in Industrial Leagues.

With but seven of the 31 teams in the five leagues sponsored by the Y-Church A. A. maintaining perfect records, the third series of games scheduled for this afternoon promises to see this number decreased, as the teams holding perfect averages are scheduled to meet strong opposition.

Northwest Atlanta and North Atlanta Baptist, only undefeated members in the Dixie loop, play on their own diamonds, but face teams capable of turning in victories. Kirkwood Methodist plays the former, while the latter club engages Peachtree Christian. Pep Class and Twentieth Century Bible Class meet for the cellar ownership.

Southside Baptist, with a perfect average, meets the associations' 1929 champions, J. O. Y. Class, on the Oakland City diamond in what should be the best of the Sewanee league games. Hale Class and Floding Class play at Adair park to see which club vacates the cellar. College Park Baptist, leaders of the Piedmont league, should maintain their perfect record as they are playing Al Appling's Orchard Knob Baptist Club on their own diamond.

Both undefeated members of the Fulton league play clubs that have failed to register a win thus far. Pattillo Memorial engages Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, while Gordon Street Presbyterian meets the Alpha Class. Haygood Memorial, cellarites, of the Georgia loop, will try to smear the perfect record of the Mountain View Baptist in the Georgia league feature.

Empire State In 2d Round.

The Empire State league played the first series of the season last Saturday, and today the second set, consisting entirely of return games, will be played.

At least one good game is in prospect for every league. With the City league the Southern Railway-Whittier game at Whittier and the Exposition-Hapeville game at Candler field take the lead. With the Granite league Chamblee and Georgia Duck fight it out for the lead in a game at Chamblee.

Two new teams start in the Atlanta league this week. Fisher Body plays the first game with Ruralist Press and the Spring Ben Yannigans open the season against Company B of the 122d Infantry. Spring Bed leads this league by one game and has an easy time mapped out for Saturday, being opposed by Railway Express.

Earl of Derby In U. S. for Classic

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—The seventeenth Earl of Derby arrived on the Aquitania tonight for a visit to the United States and especially to see for the first time the Kentucky horse race classic which was named after his family.

The distinguished visitor good naturedly submitted to a barrage of questions from newspapermen but remarked that he was "here to enjoy myself and making speeches doesn't come in that category."

The Schmeling Handicap.

Max Schmeling will start two laps back of Sharkey when it comes to the matter of tuning up.

The German got ready for his last fight 10 months ago. Sharkey brought himself into condition for the Loughran matter last September and he used up the month of February in preparing for Phil Scott. This means that Sharkey hasn't allowed any rust to gather on his hinges, which are among the foundations for correct timing. With these two training spells back of him it will be simpler for Sharkey to reach his top form than it will be for the delegate from Berlin. And small details count where two men are as evenly matched as they look to be.

This means that Schmeling can lose no time smoothing out the rough spots and for this purpose he will need the best bunch of sparring partners available. There should be nothing to worry about when it comes to wind and stamina. But it isn't so easy to judge distance after a lay-off and to nail a target as elusive as Sharkey. The big boy from Boston isn't any too easy to hit. He will be no Risko, no Paulino in this respect. He has never subscribed to the idea of taking two to get in one. Anyone who hits Sharkey solidly has to earn the punch through quickness and accuracy. This means time and practice.

Schmeling will have special need of a sparring partner with a good left. Sharkey has that and it will be his best weapon. The German will bump into the best left hand he has yet encountered.

The Two Invasions.

The intersectional part of the big league show begins to tell the main story. The Giants started west in the lead where they face tough competition all through the trip—and it doesn't get any lighter after they leave Cincinnati with Pittsburgh, Chicago and St. Louis to follow in this order up through the middle of May.

It will be only a matter of time before the Athletics work their way to the front. Walter Johnson rushed his Senators away to a flying start and he may hold on for a while. The best he can look for is a place in the first division where the war will be nip and tuck most of the summer among three or four clubs about equally matched.

First Blood for England.

The British got away nicely in the first international party by trimming the American women golfers with two matches to spare. This was to be expected with only one day's practice, but the British had nothing to do with their rivals' sailing schedule. Walter Hagen made the same mistake when he took his team over some time ago and took one on the chin after a day's practice.

The real test will not come until week after next at Formby, where Glenna Collett and other American stars will make their boldest bid for the British women's title. If they can't win this time with the strongest set of golfers yet sent across they may have to wait for many years. With Misses Collett, Orcutt, Hicks, Van Wie, Quier and others facing a week's practice on the seaside test outside of Liverpool there will now be time to get adjusted to the keener greens and the playing conditions that will have to be faced ten days way.

Coombs and College Ball.

I ran into Jack Coombs, the old Colby carbine, once a member of the firm of Bender, Plank and Coombs. Jack has been piloting his Duke University ball team through the east with high-class results. Quite naturally it might be added that Duke has been getting an unusual brand of pitching.

Coombs says that college baseball has swung back to the highest tide of all time this season, with greater general interest than he has ever seen. This is undoubtedly true in the east where the college league has stirred up a sluggish situation. Harvard isn't in the league, but the presence of Ticknor, Mays, Devens and Wood in the Crimson line-up has been one of the big drawing cards around Cambridge.

These four are pointing especially in the general direction of Yale and Albie Booth, and Yale is pointing back. The Harvard-Yale series this spring will be one of the season's intercollegiate features.

The Harder Puncher.

The question has been asked as to whether Schmeling or Sharkey was the harder puncher. "Do you mean to say," writes L. H. G., "that the German can hit anyone harder than Sharkey hit Loughran?"

He can't. But Schmeling is a harder puncher from a shorter range. It isn't often that a heavyweight can get set for the type of right-hand wallop Sharkey threw at Loughran's head. He took a wind up on that one. The German punches from a much shorter range and he can burn that right hand through with a lot of stuff from only 12 or 18 inches away. Figuring the type of blows either is likely to land in a mix-up, Schmeling is the harder puncher. Sharkey failed to even jar Risko where Schmeling flattened the Cleveland baker. However, he will find that Sharkey is no open target for anybody's right. This always makes a difference.

Des Moines night baseball test last evening was watched closely by every minor league club. The minors have been up against rough sledding and if the night plan can be carried through it will mean the life of the smaller leagues. The big top is in for its best season, as far as gate receipts are concerned, but the minors need help. Successful night baseball would turn the trick their way.

England and France want to put through as many victories as possible before Bobby Jones and Helen Wills swing into action. That usually means something else again.

2 Crackers Set Mark Scoring on Strikeout

Scoring two runs on a strike-out was a record the Crackers set while in Mobile. The incident, passed up as unimportant in first reports of the game, proved quite exciting, causing Jimmy Hamilton, Mobile owner and manager, to go into retirement.

In fact, one of the Mobile reporters expressed fear that he might have done away with himself. Having watched his team permit two runs to score on what was a strike-out is enough to make even a calm man desert his usual attitude, and Jimmy Hamilton is notoriously chaotic instead of cosmic on the lines.

The baseball reporter for the Register reported the incident, which occurred Wednesday, as follows:

THE CLIMAX.

The climax of the matinee came when two Cracker players scored on a strike-out. It all came about in this manner: The Bears were leading by two runs when the seventh inning rolled around. Earl Brown got into trouble and the Crackers filled the bases against him. Shortstop Battle was at the plate. Brown struck him out on a third pitch, a curve ball, at which he swung with all his heft. Catcher Minetree, however, didn't come close to catching the ball. It hit him amidship of his chest protector, bounded off to one side and rolled to the stands. Minetree retrieved it. In the meantime Battle apparently didn't know he still had a chance at first base if he would only run. Encouraged by shouts from Johnny Dobbs he lit out. In the meantime one run had scored on the passed ball. When Minetree saw Battle streaking for first he threw the apple there. Immediately Outfielder Rosenthal, who was on third, lit out for home. Pitcher Brown, in the meantime had come in to the home plate, and Reb Russell fired the ball back to him, but Rosenthal was already home.

And so the ball game was tied up. Pitcher Brown was so upset he started to throw the ball over the grandstand. We wish he had. It wouldn't have mattered much if he had thrown it and it was the last baseball in the park. They could have called the game right there and gotten away with it. But they didn't and so the Crackers went on and won. But we'll say this—fans will go to a ball park for many afternoons and fail to see two men score on a strike-out, so there's some consolation in that.

HAMILTON DEPARTS.

And while all this was going on, Jimmy Hamilton performed that end run to which we referred up above. The president-manager of the Bears probably wished he was just a plain, ordinary every-day citizen when that happened, instead of the gentleman who could be pointed out as the owner and manager. Jimmy was in the dugout when the fun all started. When that baseball bounded off Minetree's chest, Jimmy bounded on to the playing field. He waved his arms wildly, trying to attract Minetree's attention to that Cracker player who was streaking down the first base line.

Then after Reb Russell got hold of the ball, Jimmy was apparently afraid he intended putting it in his pocket, because he began shouting at Reb to "throw 'er home, Reb, throw 'er home," finally, as related, Red let go of the agate, but too late and another man scored. Jimmy disappeared about that time and we didn't see him any more. Maybe he went out to the bay and dove in, who knows? And further, we wouldn't much blame him when one takes into consideration that he owns a ball club which permitted two men to score on a strike-out.

HOWARD EHMKE REVEALS TRICK USED ON CUBS

By Edward J. Neil.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Howard Ehmke, the long blonde trickster of the Athletics, is enjoying many a quiet chuckle these days at the expense of the baseball experts and the fans who saw him mystify the Chicago Cubs in the first game of the last world series. He'd like to keep on fooling them but the story is too good to keep.

Every year as pitching arms grow old and lose their cunning the veterans search for something to ward off the inevitable slide back to the minors. Ehmke will never hit that chute—he's too smart a businessman in the off seasons—and besides he has discovered something at the end of 16 years in the majors that he believes will prolong his career indefinitely.

NEW DELIVERY.

It is a new delivery, a discovery that came to him as he labored with an aching shoulder in Shibe park in Philadelphia while his teammates went west to win Connie Mack his first American league pennant in 15 years. Ehmke was left behind, to prepare for his surprise appearance in the opening game of the world series. Over the season's stretch Ehmke had pitched only 55 innings although he won seven and lost two games.

As he worked alone, experimenting with throws from this position and that to ease the constant pain in his shoulders, the old sidewheeler tossed up a ball and let his body slide to the right with the throw. He watched the ball lob up to the plate.

"Suddenly I got an idea," he said. "I tried it again. Each time I threw a sidearm ball I moved to the right. I had on a white shirt. From my new position that ball came up to the plate on a direct line between the eyes of the batter and the white expanse of my shirt.

CAN'T SEE IT.

"Well, you know how hitters complain on the hot days when the fans in the center field bleachers take off their coats and sit in shirt sleeves. The pitcher then is throwing a white ball with a white background behind him and the batter can't pick it out. My white shirt acted the same as the white expanse of the bleachers, except that it was closer to the hitter and I could maneuver so that it was always in his line of vision.

"I said nothing to anyone about it but I tried it out against the A's in batting practice and it worked. I used that delivery against the Cubs in that first game and struck out 13 of them. And the funniest part of it is that no one discovered what I was doing. Just see if I don't win some ball games with that old side ball when the weather gets hot this year."

Gary Star Breaks Pole Vault Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 2.—(AP)—Paced by the performance of John Wonsowicz, from Frobel High school in Gary, Ind., who broke all high school records for the pole vault, high school athletes from a dozen states and runners from Ohio colleges started the seventh annual Ohio relays off in a record-breaking manner today.

Two thousand watched the equaling of the national interscholastic record for the one-mile relay and the breaking of six records for the meet in addition to Wonsowicz's wonderful vaulting.

Wonsowicz cleared 13 feet, 4 inches to raise the world interscholastic record of 13 feet, 3 3-16 inches set by Lowell Allen, of Salem, Ohio, in 1928.

A great team of quarter-milers, representing Newark, N. J., preparatory school, took the one-mile preparatory school relay in 3:26.7, equaling the national interscholastic record.

Davis, from Cleveland East Tech, came within four inches of "Bud" Houser's national interscholastic record for the 12-pound shot, tossing the ball 51 feet, 2 1-4 inches, establishing a new record for the relays. The other individual performer, Juseks, of John Adams High school, Cleveland, broke the meet record for the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 3-4 inch.

Tomorrow a thousand athletes from 60 universities and colleges in 17 states will compete in seven university relays, five college relays, nine special events and the weight event triathlon. World records will be threatened by Tom Horn, of Northwestern, in the pole vault, and by George Simpson, Claude Bracey and Eddie Tolan in the 100-yard dash.

Boys' High Star Ruled Ineligible

B. Baldwin, Boys' High first baseman, has been declared ineligible by W. A. Alexander, arbiter for the city prep league. The protest was filed before the opening of the prep schedule in March. A prep league committee ruled him ineligible and at a recent meeting of the league the committee was sustained.

R. L. Doyal carried the case to Alexander and Boys' High was notified not to play Baldwin until after facts on his registration at Boys' High had been certified to. Boys' High has not replied and Doyal stated Friday that the star had been declared ineligible by Coach Alexander.

Games in which Baldwin has participated will not be forfeited or thrown out of the league standing, it was stated.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP)—Unofficial monthly crop summaries indicating reduced yields and decreased acreage for the United States 1930 wheat harvest did much to steady wheat prices today. The effects of the jolt given to all grain markets yesterday by emergency measures relative to over-crowded storage facilities here were still apparent, though, and buyers showed lack of confidence. On the other hand, not much disposition was shown to press speculative selling and the day ended in virtually a draw as between bulls and bears.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, varying from 5-8c net decline to 3-8c advance, compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3-4 to 1 1-8c down, oats 1-8c off to 1-8 to 1-4c up, with provisions showing 10 to 40c gain.

Outstanding as features of the May unofficial crop reports were estimates pointing to 7,000,000 bushels less domestic winter yield this season than was suggested by the government's April forecast. This curtailment implied that the 1930 winter wheat production would be 35,000,000 bushels below last year's harvest. Moreover, today's private estimates foreshadowed 7.3 per cent decrease of United States wheat acreage and 4.8 per cent decrease in Canada. The general run of other news was also a little more favorable to friends of higher prices for wheat, notably advices from Liverpool saying traders there were uneasy over the fact that the Liverpool market is below a world parity.

Wheat bears in Chicago, nevertheless, made much of statements by a leading crop authority in his monthly survey that good rains lately in most sections of the winter wheat belt were of great benefit, and came in time to check a serious situation which was developing in the southwest. Wheat prices held within relatively narrow limits today from start to finish.

Heavy liquidating sales continued in the open market with much speculative selling. Crowded storage facilities here were a bearish factor. Oats averaged higher, influenced by reduced estimates of stocks of oats on farms as compared with a year ago.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Reduction of the New York federal reserve discount rate and generally easier money conditions gave new strength to the listed bond market today.

The standard railroad securities led the advance on the heaviest buying in weeks and closing prices in some instances were not far from the year's high. Practically the whole list, with the exception of speculative issues and secondary industrials, felt the buoyant influences in the market.

Sales were smaller than yesterday, the busiest session in five weeks, but the general price trend was improved, the averages for 30 bonds reaching 100.1, the highest since March 27.

The developments of yesterday and today tending to ease credit asserted themselves. Call money renewed at 3 1-2 for the first time in a month and the rate then went to 3. Time accommodations were easier by 1-4 per cent.

Unusually heavy buying was shown in some of the high-grade rails, including Union Pacific 4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Erie 5s, St. Louis & San Francisco 4 1-2s, with gains reaching 3 4 of a point.

Utilities also advanced, although not as extensively as the rails. Denver Ga and Electric 5s gained a point. American Telephone debenture 5 1-2s, Utah Power and Light 5s with warrants, North American Edison 5 1-2s advanced from 1-4 to 3-4 of a point.

National Dairy 5 1-4s, U. S. Rubber 5s, Inland Steel 4 1-2s and Armour & Co. 5 1-2s made the best gain in the industrial group. Cuba Cane Products 6s sank to new low ground at 17 1-2.

Gains of 1-4 to 1 point were made by the most popular foreign governments. British 5 1-2s, Belgium 6s, German 7s and French Republic 7s were the features.

Heavy buying in United States governments brought moderate improvements to the group. The largest sales were in Liberty 4th 4 1-4s up 13-32s.

Chrysler Optimistic As Earnings Fall

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Poor first quarter earnings announced by the Chrysler Corporation today were coupled with an announcement by Walter P. Chrysler, president, that the company's position is good; that during the year ending March 31 the dividend requirements were earned, the corporation's debt reduced and its ratio of current assets over liabilities increased.

Net earnings for the first three months amounted to but $180,717, equal to 4 cents a share on 4,431,575 no-par common shares. They compare with $8,838,173, or $2 a share on 4,411,990 shares in the corresponding quarter of 1929.

In his statement Mr. Chrysler said that the "net operating profits for the 12 months ending March 31 were $13,244,712, which shows that, notwithstanding the current recession in business, the corporation during the past 12 months has earned its dividends, reduced its debt and substantially maintained its net current asset position."

The ratio of current assets to current liabilities, after providing for first quarter dividends, was 4.05 to 1, as against 2.77 to 1 on March 21, 1929.

"Conditions in the automobile industry are now more stabilized and the industry has probably turned the corner for the better," Mr. Chrysler said. "There has been a marked shift in the character of automobile business toward lower priced models, and the Chrysler Corporation is in a position to improve progressively its share of the changing market."

The consolidated statement for the quarter shows that during that period operations resulted in a deficit of $3,142,956 after payment of common dividends compared with a surplus of $5,529,181 in the first quarter of last year.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Cotton was easier today due to profit-taking sales in old-crop months induced by rumors that the farm board will ship cotton to Liverpool and selling of new-crop months due to further rains in Texas and Oklahoma.

This time, however, new crop months in New York developed some greater resisting power than old crops while both declined about the same in New Orleans. Increased resistance in new crops in New York was probably due to lifting of many hedges in October against sales of July. Reports from eastern states of the need of rain to bring cotton up planted over long period was probably another factor. It is also probable that some of the profit-taking in the old crops was due to a statement from Carl Williams of the farm board that the board has discontinued making 16c loans on cotton.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Liquidation dominated transactions in today's cotton market. The selling of July was accomplished without lowering its premium over new-crop contracts, which is indicative of its inherent strength.

New-crop contracts were sod on reports of rain in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Aside from these detailed features, the market feels the effect of adverse business conditions. There is nothing in the situation to warrant general confidence in prices beyond the farm board position and the fact that cotton is selling comparatively cheap. These features, however, in themselves are insufficient to arrest the effort of bearish conditions.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The cotton market today eased off under renewed liquidation on continued weakness in the stock market and prospects for general rain over the belt. Detail weather reports only show scattered showers in the western belt.

The situation in May and July is just as tight as ever with very few contracts available. The market closed 8 to 10 down with the near months holding their premium over the fall months. The trade as a whole remained pessimistic and bearish owing to the disruption of differences, poor spot demand and very favorable outlook for the new crop.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: May 8.13, July 8.08.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 2.—A resumption of liquidation in volume which forced prices lower throughout the general list is largely predicated on the wider public recognition of the disappointing aspects of the business situation.

Having recorded a major advance in anticipation of business improvement, failure of industry to maintain an upward trend could logically permit of no alternative but that of a general correction in stock values.

Sentiment was made more pessimistic by the vigor with which prices were attacked on the feeble rally which developed shortly after noon.

Public psychology is undergoing a change with respect to the method of selection of securities which promises to give greater consideration to intrinsic values and a general policy of switching holdings on this basic should be undertaken without delay.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Obviously the failure of the stock market to respond to the reductions in the New York and European discount rates will lead to more serious consideration of the state of business. Lower bank rates at this time are ostensibly for two purposes: first, to stimulate industry, and secondly, to facilitate the marketing of reparations bonds. From the stock market viewpoint the failure of business to recover in the second quarter is anticipated, and the further recessions in the steel and copper industries are likely to delay a general market recovery longer than was expected a short time ago.

We take the view that the general level of prices will work lower in the immediate future, but hold that scale buying should be started in stocks of companies which bid fair to do better this year than in 1929. Current indications do not place the steel, copper and railroad groups in this category. The drastic declines in railroad earnings since the first of the year will also curtail purchases of railroad equipment.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Offhand we cannot recall an occasion when the market made a more disappointing response to reduction in the discount rate than Friday. The reaction was probably the most severe since the decline started over two weeks ago. A market which acts like this obviously is not in a satisfactory position. The trend of brokers' loans since the decline started, certainly has not been healthy. In the two weeks ended April 30 there was a gain of $150,000,000 on a reactionary stock market. This is, on a small scale, rather suggestive of last September when the public confidently increased its lines on the first phase of the reaction. It would be unwise to draw too closely an analogy between the present market and that of six months ago. For one thing, the credit situation has been completely revolutionized and for another business conditions, if not good, have passed through the worst and are facing a moderately encouraging long range prospect as against a very black outlook last fall.

COURTS & CO.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The complete washout in the late trading Friday provided clear-cut selling climax. We believe chances are favorable for a strong rally before the close tomorrow.

Many observers expect a weak opening and further selling early in today's session. After the concentrated selling just before the close Friday, we are not so certain of a weak opening today. There was a certain irrational frenzy in the final weakness Friday which may be corrected in a calmer overnight view of the situation.

It is entirely within the bounds of possibility that leading stocks may open well above Friday night's closing levels. If this happens there would probably be a quick dip back toward previous closing levels. In placing orders before the opening, therefore, we would scale them up and down from closing prices. A weak opening would fill orders limited at a highert price. A strong opening with a subsequent dip would very probably catch some of these orders.

Bank Cuts Rate.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 2.—(AP)—Effective tomorrow the discount rate of the National Bank of Denmark will be reduced from 4 1-2 to 4 per cent.

Coffee.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Coffee futures were lower today in sympathy with the easier showing of Brazil. No. 7 contracts opened and closed at net declines of 12 to 17 points. Sales estimated 18,000. Santos contracts opened 4 to 11 points lower and closed at a net decline of 5 to 11 points. Sales 15,000. Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts, May 8.50, July 8.35, September 8.14, December 7.98, March 7.84; Santos contracts, May 12.90, July 12.40, September 12.05, December 11.83, March 11.54.

Spot coffee quiet. Rio 7s 9¾ to 9¾. Santos 4s 14 to 14¾.

Yale Nets $300,000 In Steel Merger Fight

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 2.—(AP)—Because of the proxy fight over the Bethlehem-Youngstown Sheet and Tube merger, Yale University has realized more than $300,000 more from the bequest of the late Stephen V. Harkness than normally would have been expected, it has been disclosed in stock purchase figures made public in depositions here.

Merger proponents, listing their purchases, told of buying 13,148 shares of the Sheet and Tube stock from Yale at $150 a share, or $1,972,200. At today's market price of 125 asked, the stock would be worth only $1,643,500, a difference of $328,000. The stock was a part of the Harkness gift to the university.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 2.—Cottonseed oil futures were steady today but trading was limited. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 7.90, up 5 points and prime crude closed at 7.12½ to 7.37½. Futures closed steady: May 8.05; July 8.17; August 8.20; September 8.30; October 8.28.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 2—Cottonseed oil closed irregular at 2 points advance to 1 point decline. Some short covering developed in May on the continued absence of tenders, but otherwise the trade was dull and featureless.

Firmness of lard had some effect but generally the favorable features were overshadowed by the fresh weakness of tallow where sales of 500,000 pounds of extra were reported at 6 cents, a decline of ¼ cent from the last sales and the lowest price since 1922.

Sales 1,300 barrels. Prime crude 7.37½@7.50; prime summer yellow spot 8.80; May closed 8.85, July 9.04, September 9.21, October 9.22, December 9.13.

MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 2.—Cotton seed futures closed dull. Closing bids, May 37.50; June 37.50; July 37.00; September 36.00; December 36.00. No sales. Cotton seed meal futures closed dull. Closing bids, May 38.15; June 37.85; July 38.00; September 36.35; December 35.25. Sales 300 tons.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Raw sugar was quiet today with buyers inclined to hold off and await the outcome of the tariff situation at Washington. No sales were reported and prices were unchanged at 3.30 for spots duty paid.

Another new low record for all time was established in raw futures when the July position sold down to 1.50, while all other positions were at new low levels for the season, with final prices showing net declines of 2 to 4 points. The market opened 2 points lower to 1 point higher and for a while had a steady tone due to covering and some new outside buying, but the demand was not at all aggressive, while the selling seemed to be principally in the way of hedging by large Cuban interests. Some new speculative buying was noted on the setbacks, which caused rallies of a point or two at times, but the undertone was unsettled at the close and final prices were at about the lowest of the session.

Approximate sales 709. No. 2 contract closed 2 to 4 points lower with no sales. Final prices: No. 1, May $1.53; July 1.50; September 1.57; December 1.65; January 1.67; March 1.72; May 1.78; No. 2, May 3.47; July 3.45; September 3.53; December 3.61.

Refined continued quiet, although there were fair withdrawals on old contracts. Prices were quoted at 4.90 for fine granulated by all refiners while resale granulated was available at 4.67½.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Receipts, 167; shipments, 1,376; stocks, 67,814.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Cotton was lower today under realizing or liquidation of later deliveries promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of further rains in the southwest. An early decline to 16.31 for May was followed by partial recoveries, but after selling up to 16.45 it closed at 16.38, compared with 16.49 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 6 to 12 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 4 to 9 points in response to the lower cables and the favorable view of weather conditions in the south. There was some covering by near month shorts, which caused bulges of a point or two right after the call, but the demand was readily supplied, with the decline extending to 16.40 for July and 16.54 for new October before the end of the morning.

Selling may have been promoted by reports of weakness in the stock market as well as a belief that conditions in the south were favorable for the coming crop, but the decline brought in considerable covering and the market turned upward during the early afternoon. July rallied to 16.57 and the new October to 14.64, but this bulge was not fully maintained, although the market was quiet and fairly steady in the late trading.

The closing quotation for May was 12 points under July and 181 points over the new October contract, compared with a difference of 183 points at the close yesterday.

Additional May notices were reported, amounting to about 7,000 bales at the opening, which may have accounted for some of the early selling of near months, but the maintenance of the May premium over the new crop positions indicated that they had been stopped before the close. At the close of Liverpool July contracts there were selling 35 points under the price of July in New York and the difference at one time earlier in the day was about 40 points.

Liverpool cables said there had been local liquidation fo near months in that market and continental selling of later deliveries. These cables reported further cloth buying for home consumption and moderate sales for South America in the Manchester market.

Exports today, 11,979 bales, making 6,275,556 so far this season. Port receipts, 4,785. United States port stocks, 1,650,171.

SPOTS DECLINE AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 2.—(AP)—Cotton worked lower today under liquidation and selling based on lower cables, favorable weather in the belt and a report that the farm loan board proposed to ship some of the cotton received on contracts to Liverpool and elsewhere. Some opposition to the farm land board's activities which has developed probably helped the decline. Prices eased off 22 to 27 points by midsession but rallied gradually 7 to 14 points from the lows on covering in the late trading. July dropped to 16.03 and closed at 16.14, or 11 points net lower for the day. The general market closed steady, 11 to 16 points lower.

Liverpool came in 8 to 10 points lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 6 to 17 points in sympathy. Although there was a rally of a few points near the start on a little covering, prices soon eased off again on liquidation and continued on the down grade all morning. At midsession May traded at 15.90, July at 16.03, and October at 14.53, or 22 to 27 points below the previous close.

After ruling dull in early afternoon the market gradually rallied 7 to 14 points from the lows in the late trading on shorts covering. May closed at 16.04, July at 16.14 and October at 14.60, or 11 to 15 points net lower on these active months.

Port receipts 4,185; for week 41,656; for season 8,196,839; last season 9,215,056. Exports 8,979; for week 39,581; for season 6,125,656; last season 7,109,235. Port stocks 665,898; last year 1,359,069. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 83,827; last year 74,291. Spot sales 3,526; last year 8,624.

Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Disregarding the favorable traffic signal of cheap money, the stock market steered today into a one-way street and came up precipitately at the bottom of the largest decline since early last December. Sales totaled 5,986,300 shares, the year's record total.

After moving irregularly during most of the day, the market was carried downward with exceptional rapidity in the final hour on an enormous volume of short selling and pool liquidation and final quotations disclosed net losses of 2 to 16 points, chiefly in the industrial, utility and specialty groups.

Sales in the last 50 minutes exceeded 2,000,000 shares as blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares of prominent stocks were unloaded. The late selling came suddenly and found the tape well abreast of the trading, but the ticker soon fell behind under the enormous volume of offerings.

5.8-Point Loss.

The decline, as measured by the price index of 90 shares was 5.8 points, surpassing the drop of last Monday by nine-tenths of a point. The industrials tumbled 5.5 and the utilities 12.3, while the rails, which had borne the brunt of the bear attack in recent sessions, moved up slightly despite the fact that half a dozen stocks in the group went to new lows for the year.

The day's news was rather mixed. President Hoover's encouraging report on business prospects before the United States Chamber of Commerce and a lowering of money rates on this market were accompanied by a reduction in the prices of a few steel items by a United States Steel subsidiary and by another ease in commodities. The cut in the New York federal reserve bank's rediscount rate did little but bring money into adjustment with the new figure, and failed to have the bullish stock market effect which previous reductions had had. Wall Street was inclined to regard the new rate as an indication that money was going begging and operators for the decline seized on this point to bolster their case.

Heavy Selling.

Stocks were heavily sold during the morning but the volume declined around noon and the list got mild support, only to meet the severe pressure of the last hour. United States Steel, after touching 180 1-4 on the rally, was shoved down to 174 3-8, a new low for the movement. At the closing price of 176 it showed a net loss of 2 points. Allied Chemical, United Carbon and Columbia Carbon were whirled down 8 to 16 points. Oil and amusement stocks dropped 2 to 12, Standard Oil of New Jersey losing 4, Houston Oil 12, Keith Albee preferred 9, Warner Brothers Pictures 4 and Shubert and Loew's 3. Radio lost 7. Eastman Kodak, American Can, General Electric, American & Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light, Public Service of New Jersey, International Telephone, National Power & Light and Standard Gas & Electric fell 4 to 12.

Chrysler was firm despite the earnings statement showing first quarter profit of 4 cents a share against $2 in the same period of 1929, for the unfavorable showing was about in line with estimates.

The foreign exchange list was mixed, featured by an advance in the French franc and a slight easing in sterling. Cotton closed steady with small net declines. Wheat sagged fractionally and corn lost about a cent.

1 TO 8-POINT LOSSES ARE EXPERIENCED BY MORE ACTIVE ISSUES ON CURB

Heavy Selling Is Directed At Leading Utility Shares

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—The curb market was carried off sharply today, the more active issues generally losing 1 to 8 points, while some of the high-priced specialties lost 10 to 20 points.

The decline was one of the sharpest of the year, although it was comparatively less severe than the decline on the Big Board. Total sales aggregated 1,686,900 shares, about 250,000 less than the record 1930 turnover of April 23.

The utility shares, which dominated trading during the recent bull movement on this market, were sold in heaviest volume. American Gas and Electric dropped about 8 points. American and Foreign Power warrants, United Gas old stock, and United Light and Power A lost 3 to 5 points. American Light and Traction old stock tumbled 20 points.

Several of the recent strong spots in the oils were also under heavy selling pressure. Gulf Oil lost 6 points, Cities Service and Humble each lost about 3 points. Standard of Indiana, however, lost only 1 5-8 points. In the mines, Noranda sagged 2 points to a new low for the year, influenced in part by continued rumors that further cut in retail prices is imminent.

In the industrials, such recent favorites as Deere new stock and Dresser Manufacturing A lost 3 points. Driver Harris tumbled 6. Aluminum Company, a high-priced issue, dropped 15. Investment Trust shares sold off with the rest of the market, reflecting market depreciation of their holdings. Goldman Sachs lost 3 points, and Taggart Corporation 6.

WORLD BANK AGREES ON $300,000,000 LOAN

Sum Will Be Distributed Among Various Nations.

BRUSSELS, May 2.—(AP)—Agreement was reached late today upon all points concerning the $300,000,000 loan of the Bank for International Settlements, of Basel, Switzerland, whose financiers have been in session here over terms since yesterday.

No announcement was issued by the conferees as the Brussels sessions were merely of an informatory nature and the recommendations thus framed must be submitted to delegates of the treasuries of all the nine interested nations at Paris next week.

If the governments concerned then raise objection to any points of the agreements reached at Brussels, a new bankers' conference will be summoned for an early date in order that the loan may be floated as soon as Great Britain shall have ratified the Young plan.

Directors of the International bank, as well as the bankers themselves, expressed satisfaction at accomplishment of the enormous task and voiced their confidence in the ultimate success of the contemplated operation.

Gates W. McGarrah, American president of the Bank for International Settlements, presided. Thomas W. Lamont, Arthur Henderson and T. A. De Sanchez, of J. P. Morgan & Co., represented the United States.

The $300,000,000 loan will be floated soon. Of the total, $100,000,000 will go to Germany for internal requirements and $200,000,000 will be distributed among nearly a dozen reparations creditors. France will receive about $165,000,000.

The Bank for International Settlements, although primarily for transfer of reparations payments, has been chartered to do a general banking business under the central banks of the principally interested countries.

It is an innovation which Europeans today were inclined to hail as of vast benefit in restoring normal financial conditions.

LINDBERGH FINISHES THIRD MAIL VOYAGE

MIAMI, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—Completing his round trip inaugurating seven-day air mail service between the Americas, Colonel Charles Lindbergh arrived here at 5:03 p. m., E. S. T., after an 899-mile flight today from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua. He carried 211 pounds of air mail from Buenos Aires to points in the United States on the new seven-day schedule of the Latin-American express service.

Colonel Lindbergh was 3 minutes behind schedule as he landed at Pan-American airport here to complete a day of otherwise early arrivals and departures. He was scheduled to arrive at 5 o'clock, but was held by an east cross-wind despite an early departure from Havana.

Average speed for today's flight which started at Puerto Cabezas at 5.55 a. m., E. S. T., was 97 miles an hour. Colonel Lindbergh and Basil Roe, co-pilot, averaged 92 miles an hour from Puerto Cabezas to Havana, a water flight of 638 miles across the Caribbean sea, and had an average speed of 110 miles an hour from Havana to Miami, northern terminus of Pan-American Airways, Inc., the company holding the mail contract.

Colonel Lindbergh and Roe accomplished the first leg of the homeward flight from Cristobal, C. Z., to Puerto Cabezas, a distance of 395 miles, in 4 hours 2 minutes yesterday, averaging a fraction less than 98 miles an hour.

Uses Radio.

During today's flight, the colonel, completing his third inauguration of air mail service between the Americas, brought another novelty into his record of accomplishments as he sat at the plane's radio and tapped out his own location message to the Pan-American Airways radio control station here. The message was sent from a point approximately 280 miles south of Havana and 60 miles west of Grand Cayman, as the plane bore into the north toward the Cuban capital.

The pilots manipulated the plane, NC-142-M at a variety of altitudes ranging from 2,000 feet to 11,500 feet as they sought the best flying conditions during the day. Weather conditions generally were reported to be excellent although the fliers encountered clouds and an early morning rain off the coast of eastern Nicaragua.

Colonel Lindbergh blazed the new air trail from the United States to Central and South America last week-end as he flew into the south to split the famous Lindbergh circle that he established last September. His only stops on the southbound and northbound flights between Miami and Cristobal, Canal Zone, were at Puerto Cabezas and Havana, and these were made for refueling purposes only.

Three-Pound Lunch.

Leaving Puerto Cabezas one hour and five minutes before the scheduled 7 o'clock time of departure today, Colonel Lindbergh piloted the mail plane along the lagoon dotted coast of eastern Nicaragua to Cape Gracias a Dios. Besides the 211 pounds of mail, the fliers carried only a three-pound package of lunch and a small quantity of clothing. Leaving Cape Gracias a Dios, last point of the Central American mainland, at 6:42 a. m. eastern standard time, the Lindbergh plane sailed out over coast-wise coral reefs for 60 miles to Caxones Cays, passing over the tiny islands at 7:37 a. m. eastern standard time.

Lindbergh changed places with Co-Pilot Roe to chart his locations during the day, while Radio Operator B. A. Denicke maintained constant radio communication with the Pan-American station here.

The trans-Atlantic flier brought the plant out of a blanket of clouds 2,500 feet above the blue waters of the Caribbean at 11:55 a. m. eastern standard time, to catch a glimpse of the southern coast of Cuba 20 miles away. Thirty-five minutes later at 12:30 p. m. eastern standard time, he passed over the Cuban coast and sighted Havana at 12:37 p. m. eastern standard time.

He landed at the Cuban capital at 12:50 p. m. eastern standard time and after a brief halt for refueling and to eat lunch, departed on the last leg of the flight. Operator Denicke radioed to Pan-American Airways here that the departure at 2:41 p. m. eastern standard time, was in the midst of excellent flying conditions.

GANDHI'S ARREST AGAIN EXPECTED

BOMBAY, India, May 2.—(AP)—While Mahatma Gandhi was today making known the conditions under which he will agree to lead his civil resistance campaign into the city of Bombay, all India tensely awaited the arrest of "the holy man." Some persons, usually well-informed, continued to insist the arrest must occur before another 24 hours have elapsed.

Seizure of the mahatma upon government orders had been predicted for today. When it failed to materialize there were many who believed it must occur as soon as entry into Bombay is made.

Conditions which the venerable leader announced that he would exact from his followers as the price for continuing into the city were printed today by the Bombay Congress Bulletin, an unregistered sheet published daily by the Bombay provincial congress committee. The conditions comprise: Observance of complete discipline, a permanent pledge to wear handspun khaddar and the actual spinning with "takli," a miniature spinning wheel, for one hour daily.

"If Bombay produces 100,000 such men," the manifesto of Mahatma Gandhi concludes, "I should lead them without the slightest hesitation."

Commenting upon this pronouncement the Congress Bulletin, under the heading "The Call of Mother India" says: "The number of satygrahis registered up to today at the Bombay provincial congress committee quarters is 2,443. The mahatma wants 100,000."

There was little news from other centers. At Satop in Calcutta, Dr. Khaitan, presiding over the quarterly meeting of the Indian Chamber of Commerce, declared that it would be difficult to find a single person in India, whether opposed to or in favor of the present movement, who would be prepared to uphold the action of the authorities in dealing with civil resisters. Khaitan congratulated the mahwari, the Chamber of Commerce and other bodies upon their decision not to import foreign cloth until the end of the year.

DAY IN FINANCE

Expecting a Higher Opening and Strength on Easy Money, Wall Street Was Surprised At the Early Trading Friday on Stock Exchange — Outsiders Have No Way of Knowing Real Value of Stocks.

NEW YORK, May 2.—There was recovery in the stock market starting in the noon hour following an irregular opening and two hours of resumed heavy selling in which leading shares dropped from 2 to 6 points or more. Expecting a higher opening and strength on easy money Wall Street was surprised at the early trading.

Wall Street was right in expecting easier money to follow the further reduction in the rediscount rate here, the sixth since the stock market panic last October. Call money opened at 4 1-2 per cent and dropped to 3. Time money was down a quarter of a per cent, 30 days being offered at 3 1-4 with 60 days at 3 3-4, 90 to 120 days at 3 3-4 and longer periods 4 to 4 1-4. Commercial paper was lower, some being sold at 3 1-2. The Federal Reserve lowered its buying rate on bills making it easier for dealers to sell this paper to the Federal Reserve, indicating that the Federal Reserve would further ease the money market through purchase of bills.

Railroad equipment shares were outstanding for weakness in the early trading, American Locomotive making a new low for this movement on rumors that the dividend would be reduced from $8 to $4. It is understood that some railroads which had planned to place orders for locomotives have reconsidered on the drop in their earnings and now intend to repair old equipment in their own shops.

Wall Street's understanding that Ford was stepping up on production is confirmed by today's statement that output for April was 400,700 cars and trucks, including 346,000 domestic, against 174,585 for March, including 148,522 domestic. On the five-day working schedule this is a daily output of 8,313.

Steel Common Soft.

Steel common was soft in the early trading on a reduction of from $2 to $3 in wire prices. Steel scrap dropped 25 cents a ton. Rumors were heard that a cut is coming in bars, plates and shapes.

Two stock exchange houses usually representing rich clients have sold 50,000 shares of Steel common this week.

There are good reasons for believing that investment trusts have been large sellers this week of high priced stocks.

The National Bank of Denmark reduced its rediscount rate today from 4 1-2 per cent to 4. The same cut was made by the Bank of Ireland.

Selling of Great Northern and Northern Pacific this week has been accompanied by talk that the proposed merger is going to be abandoned. The interstate commerce commission agreed to the proposed merger providing control of Burlington was given up. Special committees of Great Northern and Northern Pacific directors are now considering what to do about the merger and expect to announce a decision in the next couple of weeks.

A week ago today the belief was expressed in this column that the stock market was not acting right; that those holding investment stocks and satisfied with the income return might ignore temporary conditions through fear of losing their position but that it appeared a good time to take speculative profits. During the last week there has been a decline of from 5 to 20 points or more in good stocks. The good buying starting in the stock market in the noon hour today indicated the belief that the downward readjustment in the stock market was over and that it was time to buy stocks in discounting changed conditions in the money market.

One Best Bet.

Discussing individual stocks today one of the leading bankers in Wall Street named a public utility stock as "the best bet on the list." He admitted that outsiders had no way of knowing the real value of the stock but he added that insiders had the proper "scenery" to make the stock appear speculatively attractive.

Brokers' loans as reported weekly by the Federal Reserve were up $331,000,000 in March with the stock exchange monthly figures showing a gain of $489,000,000 for March. Wall Street expects the stock exchange brokers' loan statement for April to show a gain of $400,000,000.

Undoubtedly unsold new securities played a part in the large gains in brokers' loans reported by the federal reserve for March and April, increased interest of the public in the stock market also playing a part. From the stock market viewpoint, however, the most important factor in the mounting brokers' loans for March and April was the activities of large traders and pools taking advantage of easy money and ignoring the continued decline in commodity prices.

Wall Street believes that this week's further world-wide reduction in rediscount rates is recognition of the slowing down in general trade and accompanying decline in commodity prices which was ignored by traders in the stock market in March and April. The largest declines in the stock market this week have been in high-priced so-called "blue chip" shares which are not traded in by the big outside public because too much capital is involved. In yesterday's decline Union Pacific, selling at 227 1-8, paying 10 per cent dividends, and yielding 4.4 per cent at that price, closed down 6 points. American Telephone selling at 251 3-4 and yielding 3 5-8, closed down 3 5-8 points. Peoples Gas, selling at 298 and yielding 2.8 per cent, closed down 14 points. Auburn Motors at 232, yielding 1.8 per cent, closed down 8 3-4 points. Case Threshing at 348, yielding 1.7 per cent, closed down 18 points. This list could be continued at length and it raises a question as to whether the so-called "blue chip" stocks are the best ones to trade in despite all that has been said in their favor.

Retail Buying Sees Spurt During Week

NEW YORK, May 2.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

With warmer weather and an abundance of rain in most sections needing moisture there has been a slight speeding up of retail buying. Over against this wholesale and jobbing trade in regular lines seems little changed, whereas a heavy distribution is reported to have been made in Chicago based on a removal of the selling house to other quarters. In iron and steel, while optimistic reports continued to come as to proportion of capacity employed, this seems to be somewhat at the expense of prices, which have been lowered noticeably alike in crude and finished lines, this running from steel scrap and pig iron to bars, strip steel, plates and most wire products. In non-ferrous metals, tin and zinc show weakness, while lead and copper are reported quiet, with talk of possible further price reductions tending to hold back buying. Automobile factories, those making smaller cars especially, are showing slightly more activity and steel men catering to this line and to pipe making report more doing.

Morrow Claims Hit By Political Foeman

NEWARK, N. J., May 2.—(AP)—Joseph E. Frelinghuysen, candidate for the republican nomination as senator from New Jersey against Dwight W. Morrow, today issued the following statement:

"In their efforts to make Mr. Morrow appear as the candidate of the national administration those responsible for Mr. Morrow's candidacy have made certain statements. One of them has even gone so far as to intimate publicly, at a meeting of Morrow workers in Newark on April 23, that he had Mr. Morrow's own word for the administration's favorable attitude.

"In order to determine what truth there was in these statements I communicated with the White House and on April 25 received the following reply from President Hoover through his secretary, Walter H. Newton:

"'Your wire received. Neither the president nor the administration has taken any part as between candidates for a republican nomination in any republican primary in any state.'"

CINCINNATI WOMAN KILLED IN ALABAMA

SELMA, Ala., May 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Stanley Kurtz, Cincinnati, was killed and two others injured this afternoon when their car skidded and rolled down a 20-foot embankment on the Mobile highway near Lamison.

G. B. Foster, Cincinnati, driver, and Miss Helen Bitz, Cincinnati, niece of Mrs. Kurtz, were treated for injuries at Selma.

Dividends.

Directors also voted to call for redemption on May 15 the scrip which was issued January 15 in lieu of the cash dividend.

Today's action by the directors was in line with an announcement last night by Harley L. Clarke, president, that the policy of the company would be to continue the quarterly dividends of $1 a share payable in cash.

Earnings.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Thompson Products, Inc., of Cleveland, reported net profit for the first quarter of $202,180, or 74 cents a common share, compared with $377,673, or $1.41 a share for the like period last year.

Liquid Carbonic for the six months ended March 31 reported net profit of $291,027, equal to 85 cents a share on 342,406 common shares, as against $283,116, or $1.06 a share on 266,683 common shares, in the same period last year.

Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation for the first quarter reported net loss of $63,798, compared with profit of $239,035 before federal taxes in the first quarter last year.

UTILITY BUILDING PROGRAM GROWS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—President Hoover announced today that Matthew S. Sloan, chairman of the committee appointed to study electric public utility construction, had reported that the program for the present year called for a total of $900,000,000 of such new projects. It had been estimated that this program would total $865,000,000.

In a letter to the president dated April 29, Sloan said that he had received new reports on progress from electric light and power companies regarding the status of work in carrying out the program for new construction and expansion of facilities.

Reports by telephone and telegraph, he said, showed that electric light and power utilities have in hand projects representing 80 per cent of the total to be expended.

The new construction program of electric light and power companies, he said, is progressing according to schedule and no curtailment or slowing down has been reported while new projects have revised the total upward by $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 bringing the total of those to approximately $900,000,000.

'Bloody Williamson' Population Falls Off

HERRIN, Ill., May 2.—(AP)—Williamson county, Illinois, once called "bloody Williamson," because it was the center of labor and gang warfare in southern Illinois, has lost heavily in population in the last decade, according to 1930 census figures on its four principal towns. All showed losses, but they were attributed to a slackening in coal mining.

The four towns lost a total of 4,448 inhabitants. Heading the list is Herrin, scene of much strife and of the noted "Herrin massacre" resulting from labor disorder. Herrin lost 2,041 and was displaced by Marion as the county's largest city. The figures gave Herrin 8,945 and Marion 9,016, the latter a loss of 566 from 1920. Johnston City has a population of 5,941, a loss of 1,196, and Carterville 2,759, a loss of 645.

Hoover Will Proclaim May 12 Hospital Day

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—President Hoover today consented to proclaim May 12, marking the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, as Hospital Day.

On that day the 7,000 hospitals in the United States and 1,000 hospitals in Canada will be open to visitors.

Dr. Joseph R. Morrow, of Ridgewood, N. J., chairman of the National Hospital Day committee of the American Hospital Association; Dr. Christopher Parnall, Rochester, N. Y., president of the American Hospital Association, and the Rev. Edward F. Garesche, S. J., president of the Catholic medical mission board, called upon the president to ask his indorsement.

Doctor Finds Modern Artists A Bit Balmy

CHICAGO, May 2.—(UN)—Modern art is slightly balmy and modern artists, they, too, are very queer, the director of the largest insane asylum in the world told an audience which agreed with his every word.

Dr. William Weygandt, noted German psychiatrist from the University of Hamburg and head of an insane asylum of 2,400 patients near Friedrichsberg, came to Chicago to address university groups before going to Washington, D. C., as the German representative at the International Psychiatric Congress next week.

"There is a very close relation between the creative mind and the psychopathic," said Dr. Weygandt, a stocky blue-eyed man with bristling red mustachios. "And this modern art—many of my patients could do as well."

Anyone who paints lavender cows, pink oceans, green and yellow striped nudes and other such manifestations of modern art, the doctor intimated, could well bear investigation by a mental specialist.

"I mean by that if he paints this sort of thing seriously," said Dr. Weygandt, "some modern artists merely act queerly and paint queerly for commercial reasons."

He listed the painting of pictures as being the normal activity linked closest to insanity, with sculpture, poetry and music following in close succession.

Another Youth Held In Baker Murder Case

YONKERS, N. Y., May 2.—(AP)—Detective Sergeant Carlton Talley, of the Washington (D. C.) police, left here at noon today with George Kelly, 20, of this city, who is said to be wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of Mary Baker, navy department employe, on April 11.

Kelly was arrested here today and charged with the theft of clothing from a Washington rooming house. Kelly found some clothing of Miss Baker's in a manhole in Arlington county, Virginia, and turned the articles over to the police.

He and Raymond Morrison, 21, of this city, were in Washington at the time of the murder. Morrison is now at liberty under $500 bail on a grand larceny charge. He is alleged to have made a trip to Washington on money stolen here.

Talley also questioned Jay Nash, married and father of two children, who resides at 1312 Twelfth street, N. W., Washington, and who is now visiting his father in this city. Police are said not to suspect Kelly of the actual murder but want to question him in the hope of obtaining information.

General Morgan's Home Thrown Open

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 2.—(AP)—The home of General John Hunt Morgan, famed Confederate Civil War leader, restored to its antebellum appearance, was opened to the public today. Firearms he carried and the saddle he rode while leading his band of raiders through Kentucky and adjoining states have been collected and placed in the home, as well as other relics of the intrepid general.

Constructed in 1811 by John W. Hunt, and until now the home of his descendants, the residence is said to have often furnished an avenue of escape for General Morgan when he was being pursued by federal troops. Galloping through Lexington with his pursuers close at his heels, General Morgan would guide his mare, Black Bess, through the front door of the mansion, ride over the polished floors and woven rugs, out the back door through the beautiful garden and away. On no occasion did he fail to elude the federal horsemen in this manner.

Few members of Morgan's gallant band survive, and the ranks are fast thinning. Twice a year the Morgan's Men Association meets in Lexington for a "campfire" session at which the stirring events of the Civil War are recounted. Heretofore the meetings have taken place at hotels, but from now on the veterans may gather in a mansion hallowed by many remembrances of their revered leader.

Miami Sheriff Hurt In Auto Accident

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—Hospital authorities reported today that Sheriff M. P. Lehman, of Dade county, injured when his automobile turned over four miles south of here last night, was resting comfortably, but probably would be confined to the institution a week.

The sheriff said the accident was caused by faulty steering apparatus which locked the wheels of his car. The machine turned over three times, throwing him into a gravel pit.

Lehman was en route from Miami to Jacksonville to visit his son at a military academy when the accident occurred.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 42

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

La looked upon the perfect godlike figure and upon his handsome, smiling face. Then she steeled her heart again by thoughts of her love spurned; by religious thoughts that condemned the infidel who had desecrated the holiest of holies and taken from the blood-stained altar of Opar the offering to the Flaming God. How handsome he was to her eyes! She compared him to those grotesque figures from whom she must choose a mate. La shuddered.

Night came and a great fire blazed without her hut. The flames playing upon the new altar she had caused to be erected aroused in the mind of the High Priestess a picture of the event of the coming dawn. Mentally she saw Tarzan writhing amid the flames of the burning pyre; she saw the shock of black hair tousled upon his head disappear in a spurt of flame. With clenched fists and closed eyes La of Opar stood above the object of her hate.

Then into her woman's heart welled all the great love she had felt for Tarzan since first she had seen him. Suddenly a sob shook her and she collapsed weakly. She knew that this handsome infidel whom she loved was dearer to her than life, and she was ready to do anything to protect him from the hideous fate she had ordained for him. Trembling, she dreamed of the forbidden love until sleep released her from her anguish.

Tarzan, untroubled by thoughts of the future, slept peacefully. At the first hint of dawn the chanting of the priests of Opar brought Tarzan to wakefulness. La awoke also. A smile parted her lips. It faded slowly; her eyes wen. wide in horror as she heard the death chant. "Love me, Tarzan!" she cried. "Love me and you will be saved." Now the low tones of the chanting rose to a frenzy of barbaric shouting.

WHALEN EXPOSES RED PROPAGANDA IN U. S.

Makes Public Documents Showing Attempt to Foment Strikes.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Police Commissioner Grover Whalen today made public documents, variously described as authentic and as forgeries, purporting to give evidence that the communist international of Moscow was financing strikes in the United States, fomented by emissaries sent here for the purpose by soviet officials.

Photostatic copies of the documents, which were seized by New York police, were furnished to newspapers with translations by the commissioner along with a statement in which he evidently accepted them as authentic. Even when shown statements by two prominent Russians in this country who were mentioned in the papers, he only replied that the documents were very definite and complete and that he was "afraid they must speak for themselves."

One of the documents was a letter on the stationery of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, official purchasing agent for the soviet, which has done millions of dollars' worth of business in this country, and was signed with the name of G. Grafpen, an Amtorg official.

It listed 30 persons said to have been sent here as soviet agents and who would be "hard to replace" if they were recalled, naming among them Peter A. Bogdanov, recently elected chairman of Amtorg, and Boris E. Skvirsky, director of the soviet information bureau at Washington.

Another document purported to be a mandate sent to Grafpen from Moscow appointing him to take general charge here of the soviet "secret criminal police" in this country. The document said that Skvirsky would handle all financial matters and that Bogdanov should be consulted whenever business affairs were involved.

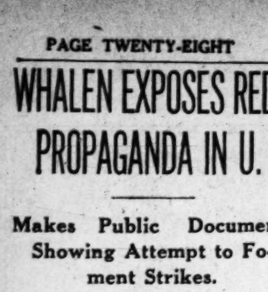

Bogdanov in New York and Skvirsky in Washington both issued statements in which they asserted that the documents were forgeries. Bogdanov insisted that Amtorg was purely commercial and added that an investigation had been instigated in an endeavor to run down the forgers so that they might be prosecuted. Skvirsky said he had information that the documents had been offered for sale for publication before they came into the hands of police and expressed the opinion that they were the work of czarist emigres.

Commissioner Whalen, however, stood by his original statement that they showed the communist international to have been directly responsible for recent disturbances in this country. In making public the copies of the seized papers he said that they had been uncovered in an investigation undertaken after receipt of numerous complaints from labor leaders.

In the mandate addressed to Grafpen he was ordered to go to Seattle, Wash., to establish temporary headquarters there as Seattle manager for Amtorg and was instructed to send by freight to Moscow "archives from illegal work." In Seattle he was to call a meeting in March of all soviet representatives there to issue instructions for May Day outbreaks. Attached to the document is a list of 25 persons being sent from Russia to be distributed by Grafpen through New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Michigan and Georgia.

Release of the documents today was generally understood to have been made by Whalen in explanation of his having marshaled an immense force of police yesterday to guard against disturbances at a May Day parade and demonstration by some 25,000 communists. There were no disturbances.

CONTEST IS ASSURED FOR MAYORALTY POST

James L. Key, Former Atlanta Mayor, Qualifies for Race.

Qualification of James L. Key, a former mayor of Atlanta, Friday assured at least two contestants for the mayor's post in the June 18 primary, when 23 positions will be filled.

Mr. Key is opposed by William H. Johnson, city arden, who was the first to qualify following setting of the entrance fee by the democratic subcommittee.

Another contest also was assured when John M. Owen, attorney, qualified for council from the sixth ward. Luke Arnold, attorney, recently was elected to fill the position after the resignation of Harry York, and will be a candidate to succeed himself.

There is every probability that there will be several candidates for mayor and under the law, the one who receives the nomination must get a majority of the votes. There is a likelihood of a run over primary if more than two aspirants make the race.

Judge Murphy M. Holloway, of the second division of the recorder's courts and a former member of the Georgia legislature, will become a candidate again for the latter position if he accedes to the importunities of a strong group of his friends, it was learned. Mr. Holloway has the proposition under advisement.

FORD'S OWN POLICE STAGE DRY DRIVE

DETROIT, May 2.—(AP)—The joint anti-liquor crusade of the Ford Motor Company's private police and the authorities of the suburb of Dearborn, where some 10,000 Ford employes live, has given Henry Ford another interesting collection of articles for his museum.

The articles aren't antiques yet, Harry H. Bennett, chief of Ford police admits, but, he added as he looked them over on his desk, "they will be sometime." The collection consists of whisky bottles, bogus labels, "cutting apparatus" and other similar articles seized in raids by the men of Carl A. Brooks, chief of Dearborn police.

Brooks presented them to Bennett for the museum, the latter said. Along with the seized paraphernalia, Bennett exhibits a number of other mementoes of the crusade. One is a package of breath tablets which came from York, Pa., with a letter suggesting that they be distributed among workmen at the plant. The letter was one of hundreds, he said, which poured in after announcement that Ford employes caught drinking at speakeasies or at their homes or with the smell of liquor on their breaths would be discharged.

"Most of the letters criticize us," he said. "It would surprise you to know how many people think it wrong of us to try to keep poison peddlers from doping our men. . . . The great majority of the Ford workers, however, are with us, and you can bet your life their families are."

James B. Hill Urges Repairs for 'Texas'

James B. Hill, president of the N. C. & St. L. railway, Friday requested permission of the borough of Atlanta to remove the historic engine "Texas" from its place in the cyclorama to the shops of the company for reconditioning.

Mr. Hill's communication was referred to the parks committee of council for consideration of that body when it meets this morning at the city hall.

Officials of the railroad wish to place the locomotive which saw service in Atlanta and intermediate points between this borough and Nashville in exhibition condition.

Several days ago, Mr. Ragsdale declined an invitation from representatives of Henry Ford to have the engine sent to the shops of the Ford company for reconditioning on the grounds that it belongs to the state of Georgia and is only in the custody of Atlanta.

Final Rites Today For Jack Edwards

Funeral services for Jack Edwards, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Edwards, of 553 Holderness street, who died early Friday morning after a lingering illness, will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence with the Rev. M. A. Cooper and the Rev. Marvin Franklin officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery. In addition to his parents the child is survived by a brother, Harold Edwards and his grandfather, John Hill.

Firemen Summoned To Combat Snakes

Residents of the neighborhood of 1129 Hill street, alarmed at reports that a den of reptiles infested a trash pile near the A. and W. P. railway, immediately started a conflagration for the purpose of routing said undesirables.

The fire blazed and roared for a time but no snakes emerged. The vigilantes, disappointed at their failure to do a public service, then telephoned central fire station. Company 10 responded, and extinguished the "flames."

AIR VIEWS AT CANDLER FIELD

Gene Hinton

Here is the new "Model F" Waco, a three-place, Kinner-powered biplane, which was flown to Atlanta Friday by Beeler Blevins and turned over to Fred L. Jacobs, student flyer, who ordered the ship from the Waco Aircraft Corporation several months ago. Jacobs accompanied Blevins on the trip to Troy, Ohio, and return. More about the new Waco may be found below.

Fighting a heavy head-wind from the southwest, probably the tail-end of the tornado which ripped through the middle west the other day, Beeler Blevins, flying a new "Model F" Waco, latest product of the Waco Aircraft Corporation, of Troy, Ohio, arrived at Candler field about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. He was accompanied to the factory and return by Fred L. Jacobs, one of his students, who ordered the new ship when it was announced several months ago. The pair left Troy Friday morning about 8:30 a'clock, and made stops en route here at Cincinnati, Louisville and Murfreesboro.

Jacobs' new Waco is all dressed up in gay spring colors. Its fuselage and tail surfaces are of brilliant red, with a black stripe running from cowling to fin, and with silver wings. The "Model F" is a three-place open cockpit biplane, smaller all around than the other Waco models, and for the first time in Waco history provides a ship powered with a Kinner 90-horsepower or Warner "Scarab" 110-horsepower engine. (The ship brought here is equipped with a Kinner.) Several new features have been incorporated in the new plane. Brakes, which are standard equipment, can be operated from either cockpit, a feature not possessed, it is claimed, by any other airplane. The brake controls are so arranged that they can be rendered inoperative in either cockpit, valuable in giving instruction. Visibility above is increased by a cut-out center section and visibility below by a large amount of wing stagger.

The manufacturers claim that the "Model F" will attain a top speed of 115 miles an hour, cruise at 95, climb 1,000 feet a minute and land at the extremely low rate of 32 miles an hour. The wing span is 29 feet 6 inches; length is 20 feet 8 inches; height, 8 feet 4 inches, and chord, 57 inches. Blevins said Friday that a second Kinner-powered model, which he will use in flight instruction at Candler field, will be ready for delivery to him in about two weeks. The new plane, which has just been put into production, now is being manufactured at the rate of one a day and production will be doubled in a week or so, it was said.

Miss Maryland Jordan, local representative of Interstate Airlines, Inc., returned by plane Friday from a visit of several days to Tennessee's Sky Harbor, Interstate airport at Murfreesboro, Tenn., to announce that the company's Atlanta office in the Piedmont hotel would be closed, effective today. Miss Jordan, one of the most popular members of the aviation contingent here, will return to Murfreesboro Monday in a mail plane to take up new duties in the offices there. She stated that the offices in the Piedmont hotel probably would be closed for several months, but that the company planned to reopen headquarters for this territory later in the year and that she already had put in her bid for the Atlanta assignment.

Lee Sanders, divisional manager here for Southern Air Transport, Inc., announced Friday that the company's new office, which is being erected somewhat in advance of the S. A. T. hangar at Candler field, would be ready for occupancy Monday morning. Stock room equipment will be moved to the new quarters this morning, he said, and the complete removal operation will be completed by Monday noon. The new offices are much more spacious than the old and provide a commodious waiting room as well as a ticket window. In the meantime, work on the hangar itself is going forward rapidly. Steel for one wall has been erected and the building is expected to be completed in two or three weeks, though occupancy will take place some time later than that, due to the time required to pour a concrete floor for the plane storage space. During the building work, S. A. T. is using the Blevins Aircraft Corporation hangar.

America's aviation industry will be benefited tremendously by the Watres-McNary bill signed this week by President Hoover, was the unanimous opinion of aviation leaders who went to Washington Friday to discuss with government officials the developments made possible by the new measure. It is the administration viewpoint, it was said, that the bill, which makes possible the award of air mail contracts to passenger lines and on a space-weight instead of a poundage basis, will prove a revolutionary step. Airlines are put in the category of railroads and a general expansion in passenger traffic by airplane will be one of the results, President Hoover feels. Air travel executives have been called to the capital to work out details, which probably will include consolidation of some of the air routes which at present are on a competitive basis. By working out satisfactory distribution of routes and awarding air mail contracts so that passenger lines can avoid high rates, the administration hopes to bring prosperity to an industry which has been suffering from acute competition and high costs.

Short Route Planned To Stone Mountain

A route to Stone Mountain that will shorten the present distance by three miles, relieve traffic conjestion on Ponce de Leon avenue, and afford a direct route into Atlanta from all easterly roads, will be proposed to the state highway commission and the DeKalb county commission today in a copy of a resolution passed by the Eleventh Ward Improvement Club at its meeting at the home of Bill Fincher, 133 Whitefoord avenue, N. E., Friday night.

The proposed route begins at Fair street and Whitefoord avenue and extends to the highway which it joins at Avondale estates. The improvement club proposes that this route be paved and be known as the Stone Mountain Memorial Drive. Copies of the resolution passed Friday night are to be mailed today to the state highway commission asking for paving material, and to DeKalb County Commissioner L. Y. T. Nash asking that his county furnish the grading and the labor.

Accused of Larceny Girl Gives $100 Bond

Miss Lois Anderson, 20, of Johnstown, was released from police headquarters Friday night under a $100 bond on a charge of larceny, after her arrest earlier in the day at a downtown department store where she had been working for the past two weeks. She was arrested by Sterling Gresham and E. B. Clark, of the Store's Mutual Protective Association, and she is said to have had in her possession a number of stolen undergarments. Her case is to be heard before Recorder A. W. Calloway this morning.

TEHERAN, Persia, May 2.—(AP)—Prince Firooz Mosrat Ed Dowleh, former minister of finance in the Persian government, was found guilty today of having accepted a bribe of 1,936 tomans, or about as many dollars. He was sentenced to four months' imprisonment, fined 5,806 tomans and deprived of his political rights.

Prince Firooz was arrested April 23. His trial represented the first time in history a cabinet minister of this government had been before the courts or any criminal matter.

No Gold Diggers, Say Arkansas Boys

PINE BLUFF, Ark., May 2.—(AP) Better girls and improved dates is the object of a high school club here composed of approximately 100 young men embittered with the modern maiden.

Its purpose: "To bring back those maidenly traits which are so rapidly disappearing from our young girl friends;' stimulate better and more lovable personalities among the ladies, and last but by no means least, to "improve the entertainment" of club members.

Among those things expressly forbidden are "necking," "wee nips," more than one date a night, smoking in public, "gold digging" and vulgar language.

SEAS DEMOLISH YACHT IN FLORIDA WATERS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—The motor yacht Ruby Lee, which went aground on Olympia Beach, 15 miles north of here, was pounded to pieces today by a heavy sea that has lashed the lower east coast of Florida for several days. A crew of six escaped.

The yacht, formerly the Rough House, until recently was owned by Mrs. Ruby Lee Johns, of Miami. It was en route from Miami to New York, presumably for delivery to the new owner, whose name was unknown here.

Officer Allen Mason, in charge of the coast guard station at Gilbert's Bar, said the yacht was a complete wreck. It was valued at $80,000, he said, and was not insured.

The yacht sprang a leak while five miles off Olympia Beach early yesterday and was driven ashore by the pounding seas. No passengers were aboard.

ADMINISTRATION WINS POINT FOR PARKER

Delay in Voting Seen as Opportunity To Change Votes.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(UN)—The administration won the advantage of a little more time to win a desperately needed vote or two for John J. Parker, supreme court nominee, today.

With the senate reported almost equally divided, the opposition having one or two votes' advantage, Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, made his third speech and killed time until a recess was taken to Monday.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, judiciary committee chairman, led the assault today in a speech charging that not Parker, and not the supreme court, but "human liberty" is the issue.

He predicted a day when all humanity will be enslaved by property through injunctions if the courts are allowed to keep this power and judges are appointed who have not the welfare of the people at heart.

"We must pass on these judges before they pass on the people," he said. He pleaded for judges who would construe the law "in the light of a modern day and our present civilization," not on the old law which originated in the feudal ages.

He said the opposition to Parker was based not on lack of respect for the court, "there is no one who respects the court more than I," but on a desire to keep the court from being dominated by great aggregations of wealth.

Dog Stands Guard Over Master's Tomb

TAMPA, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—Rex, a mongrel dog, stood guard all last night over the grave of Robert Peters, 10, buried in a sand bank while playing and led searchers to the spot this morning.

Robert left home last night to go to a corner store for a nickel cream cone and on his way back stopped at a sand bank a block from his house to fill his toy wagon with sand. The dog trailed behind. The sand bank caved in and Robert was suffocated. The dog stayed there all night, barking. Neighbors heard the dog, but thought nothing of it. Meanwhile, the police began a search.

This morning Robert's brother, a Boy Scout, started in search of the child, and was met half way between the house and the sand bank by the dog, frantic by this time. The dog led him to the spot where the child was half covered with sand.

Robert is survived by his mother and two brothers and his sister. The family has not heard from the father, Helon Peters, in two years. He was last reported to be in Cincinnati.

Girl Shot by Youth Has Chance To Live

Edna Estes, 18, who was shot by her sweetheart, Max Warren, 18, last Monday night while in a jealous mood, was reported to be somewhat improved Friday, but during the night suffered a slight relapse at Grady hospital.

The young woman has waged a grim battle for life and for several days it was feared that she could not live. Though she suffered a slight relapse Friday night and her temperature was a little more than 102 degrees, physicians continued to hold out hope for her recovery.

Negligence Blamed For Prison Tragedy

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 2.—(AP)—Negligence was blamed for the Ohio penitentiary fire which took 320 convicts' lives April 21 in a report submitted today to Governor Myers Y. Cooper by his inquiry board, while at the same time a report submitted by the state fire marshal expressed belief the origin of the fire was incendiary.

Negligence consisted in the alleged failure of prison officials to designate someone to take command of the situation arising from the fire inside the prison walls, the inquiry board's report said. Negligence caused the delay in opening cell doors behind which the doomed convicts were locked, while there also was serious delay in sending in the fire alarm, the report said, despite the fact the prison had no fire apparatus.

Giving three possible causes for the fire as defective wiring, incendiarism and spontaneous combustion, the report said strong circumstantial evidence indicated the fire was started by the temporary wiring in the I and K cell blocks.
